Stauffer's Mandy brings $10,300

BY TRISH WILLIAMS

LANCASTER — Earl and Barbara Stauffer's hopes for a spring promise of better economic times were on the line Thursday as they watched the dispersal of their Sunny-Craft herd of 40 outstanding Holsteins.

The Sunny-Craft dispersal was held in conjunction with the Spring Promise Sale and the 325th Garden Spot Sale at the Guernsey Sales Barn.

Among the nation's leading cow families, the Mattie's were featured in the Sunny-Craft dispersal. Top-selling cow of all three sales was Sunny-Craft Net Mandy (2E-91) 5-2 365 28,994M 3.9 1122F. Mandy completes three generations of excellent cows. She sold with a Bell son, two top sisters, and two yet-to-be-born ET sisters or brothers.

Mandy brought $10,300 from her buyers, Carl Brown of Douglassville, and Tim and Teresa Kissling, Hidden View Farm, Robesonia. Auctioneer Horace Backus announced prior to Mandy's sale that she had a displaced abomasum this past lactation, and was still able to make this high record. Stauffer asked the auctioneers to announce the conditions of each of the animals. He expressed concern that buyers were well informed about the cattle and that each was going into good herds.

Many good breeders were on hand Thursday for the sale of 104 head from the three sales. The Sunny-Craft dispersal brought a sale total of $69,900, with a sale average of $1747 for the 40 head sold.

A sale total of $62,200 was generated by the Spring Promise Sale, with 15 head selling for a sale average of $4147. The top-selling cow, Claretta Astronaut Emy, sold for $10,200.

Sylvia Cooper joins staff

LANCASTER — This week, Lancaster Farming welcomes Sylvia Cooper as a new staff writer. Ms. Cooper will be primarily responsible for reporting livestock news events.

Ms. Cooper, from a dairy farm in Slippery Rock, knows the ins and outs of dairying today. As a youngster she participated in many 4H events which ultimately led to her keen interest in registered Holsteins. She has shown cattle in many local, district and state shows and was chosen as a Distinguished Junior Holstein Member finalist in 1974.

A 1982 graduate of Penn State, where she majored in dairy production, Ms. Cooper was an active participant in the Dairy Science Club. In 1982, Ms. Cooper was the Holstein Breed Manager of the Penn State Dairy Exposition and was later selected as Most Helpful Individual.

Sylvia Cooper

"About 100 head were shown on Expo day," Ms. Cooper said, "and a good number of them were exhibited in the amateur division. It took a lot of courage for the students who had never seen a live cow to come out to the barns and learn to prepare an animal for a show. Believe me, it took plenty of work to help clip all those cows before the show."

Ms. Cooper has also helped clip cattle for the Pennsylvania on Parade State Calf Sale held annually at Harrisburg and the Ag

Grange plans D.C. milk trip

HARRISBURG — The Pennsylvania State Grange will observe Ag Day on Monday in the Nation's Capital by lobbying area congressmen to gain support for repeal of the milk tax and support for the National Milk Producers Federation plan.

This marks the second state ag group to travel to Washington in as many weeks to carry their milk message to Congress. Last week, PFA was there.

"The milk tax is not going to solve the dairy surplus problem," Charles Wismer, State Grange Master and a dairy farmer, said.

"In fact, figures have shown that milk production has actually climbed in anticipation of the tax."

The Grange favors a dairy plan that provides incentives for producers to reduce production and penalties for those who increase production.

The National Milk Producers proposal includes:

—A mandatory 15-cent deduction

Ag Day and 4-H Week 'spring' forth together

Look for special Ag Week events

BY DEBBIE KOONTZ

LANCASTER — Agriculture Day 1983, a nationwide program to promote greater awareness of the contributions and needs of the American farmer and his occupation, will be celebrated this Monday — appropriately, the first day of spring.

This year, Ag Day celebrates its tenth anniversary, but only its third year of official recognition by the entire nation.

Under a joint resolution approved by Congress last September and signed on Oct. 14 by President Reagan, a proclamation declared Ag Day a national occurance for the third consecutive year.

Activities in Washington D.C. on Monday will include appearances by Secretary of Agriculture John R. Block, the observance's honorary chairman, at the National Press Club and on ABC television's daily "Good Morning America" program. Sec. Block also has taped a series of radio messages to be broadcast throughout the week.

President Reagan will participate in Ag Day by addressing the U.S. Department of Agriculture employees at their office in the capital.

In the air and on the ground, Ag Day will be recognized as three Goodyear nightsign blimps will carry the Ag Day message in the skies of California, Texas and Florida.

These blimps will feature an animated neon display of the symbol of Ag Day: schematic farm buildings superimposed on an electrocardiogram and enclosed in an outline map of the continental U.S. — the same symbol featured with this story.

4-H - 92,000 strong

LANCASTER — With almost 92,000 youths enrolled in its diverse projects, the Pennsylvania 4-H program will be celebrating its first honorary week, March 20 - 26, as proclaimed by Governor Dick Thornburgh, recently.

No other youth-oriented volunteer program in the Commonwealth offers as much to boys and girls, both urban and rural, as the 4-H program does; and 4-H is able to boast of its impressive volunteer statistics: more than 12,000 adults and 3,000 teens participated in the program in 1982.

Emphasizing head, heart, hands and health, the program supports the teaching method of "learn by doing," and urges its members to "make the best better." This year their week-long theme will be "A place to belong."

MOYER'S OFFERS RELIABILITY

In 1982 Moyer's Hatched over 10 million chicks - the most in their 36 years history. We think that's very significant. During the last several years molting practices have jumped from less than 10% to around 50%. National hatch of pullets chicks is off 15%. Commercial broiler profitability challenges have depressed that market as well.

In spite of this economic climate Moyer's growing customers have given them a sincere vote of confidence. Moyer's has a line-up of the best DeKalb brown & white egg layers as well as commercial broiler strains. This combined with the Moyer's name standing for reliability and customer satisfaction has made them the largest hatchery offering both layers and broilers in Pennsylvania. We are honored to have you our customers give us this distinction. Thank you!

Up Ag

BY DICK ANGLESTEIN

It's altogether fitting that the beginning of Spring is observed as Ag Day and launches a week of agriculturally related activities on the local, state and national levels. The article that begins on Page One and another on Page D11 lists some of the many activities planned in various areas.

Spring has long been recognized as a time of renewal, particularly in agriculture. After several months of dormancy, the land is reawakened as field activities resume again.

This year. more than ever, Spring is being welcomed as a time of renewal. A new beginning is particularly appropriate this year because the recent past has not only been a winter of customary dormancy, but also a winter of economic difficulties and problems in agriculture.

But just like the signs of Spring that are beginning to appear around us, there are signs that agriculture may be starting up that long road out of its winter of economic problems. That road back is expected to be rather long and there undoubtedly will be some hidden curves ahead.

In this new beginning earmarked for Monday, Ag Day, everyone in agriculture should make a resolution of personal renewal. Let each of us renew our personal conviction to boost agriculture every chance we get. Let's talk up agriculture every chance we get.

As a symbol of this personal renewal. Lancaster Farming's Sue Thomas designed the accompanying logo. It simply states: UP AG.

Boosting agriculture every chance we get won't make this road back any shorter. But it might smooth it out a bit.

When you're boosting something -- and particularly something as important as agriculture, you got to be optimistic. When you promote something, there's just no room for pessimism. And that's what is needed right now -- a return in full scale to the good old optimistic traditions of agriculture and everyone in it.

From time to time, you'll see our UP AG symbol in Lancaster Farming. We'll use it with stories that exemplify optimistic agriculture.

UP with AG.

ON SERVING TABLES

March 20, 1983

Background Scripture:
Acts 2:43 through 6:7.
Devotional Reading:
Isaiah 44:6-8.

Sometimes it is assumed that the lifestyle and organization of the earliest church (as recorded in Acts 2-6) is a model which we need to recapture in the life of the church today. Closer examination, however, indicates that their early life together was based upon two elements: one was the spiritual devotion which they shared and the other was the plans and means whereby they attempted to live out that devotion. The former was a gift from God; the latter the product of their human creativity. Therefore, it is only their devotion to God that we need to emulate, not the structure of their life together.

ALL THINGS IN COMMON

For example, Luke tell us that in the days following the first Pentecost "all who believed were together and had all things in common." Some have seized upon these words from Luke to suggest a primitive Christian communism: "And they sold their possessions and goods and distributed them to all as any had need" (Acts 2:44, 45). And: "...no one said that any of the things which he possessed was his own, but they had everything in common" (Acts 3:32). But this was not intended as a model for society, and not even the church as a whole. This was a style of Christian sharing together that was a temporary response to the gospel of Christ. There is no suggestion in Luke that it was ever intended that forever after Christians were to be "together and have all things in common." In fact, what Luke is lifting up for us in these passages is not the form of their life together, but the motivating power behind it.

Actually, the form of Christians' life together was soon to change and would continue to change throughout the history of the church. Only the motivating power behind those forms was intended to last forever, not the forms themselves.

IT'S NOT RIGHT!

God himself demonstrated that Christians must never take their won organizational and ecclesiastical inventions too seriously. In Acts 6 we have a record of the first church dispute: an argument on whether the food supplies were being evenly distributed between the two major groups. It is obvious that the apostles were annoyed by this dispute."It is not right that we should give up preaching the word of God to serve tables!" So they devised a plan to pick seven men to attend to the food distribution while the apostles "devote ourselves to prayer and to the ministry of the word."

Unfortunately — at least for their organizational plan — God did not co-operate. At least two of these table waiters, Stephen and Philip, are known to us primarily for the wonderful things they accomplished in preaching and teaching the gospel. The apostles' plan was for them to stick to waiting on tables, but the plan of God apparently took them beyond that. And that's why the Church is constantly being re-formed by God.

To Control Wild Garlic

We may like onions in our hamburgers and in other foods, but very few of us like onion-flavored milk. This can easily happen on dairy farms where wild garlic plants are allowed to grow. Many pastures are infested with wild garlic. One of the best times to start control measures on this weed is early in the spring when the young plants are 4 to 8 inches high. An application of 2,4-D will knock them down. Follow the label for directions. When this is applied around the middle to latter part of March, little damage is done to any legumes in the area. If garlic plants are allowed to mature each year, the pasture area will become so contaminated that dairy cows can not utilize the grass.

To Prevent Water Pollution

The quality of our water supplies is very important; in most cases it should receive more attention. Many people are bothered with high bacteria count and/or with high nitrates. Both of these are undesirable for both domestic and livestock consumption. When feedlots and barns are cleaned out this spring, every effort should be made to incorporate this manure into the topsoil just as quickly as possible. With liquid manure, the soil injection type of spreader does an excellent job. With other types of surface spreaders, the manure should be disced or plowed into the topsoil soon after application; this is especially true on slopes above water supplies. The application of fertilizers warrants the same attention; mix it with the topsoil very soon after application. Also surface water should be directed away from wells or any other water supply.

To Check Ventilation Systems

We are into the season of the year that ventilation is very important. The fans in our poultry houses and dairy barns have been working hard through the winter months. They have accumulated dust on the louvers and screens and developed loose belts, so they are less efficient – in other words they are not moving as much air as they are rated.

This is a good time to go through you building and clean the fan blades, the louvers and screens. Tighten the fan belts, and be sure to check the inlet screens. Many times, in our poultry houses in particular, we're not getting air circulation because the air cannot get into the building. Clean these inlet screens so they are not restricting air.

Also, be sure to check the thermostats to make certain they are working properly.

Poor ventilation can cause health problems in poultry houses and "off" flavored milk in dairy barns. This is a good time to take care of some of these inside jobs.

To Care For Horses

Many horses and ponies are neglected this time of the year. When they're kept in a stable for long periods of time...such as during the winter...they can get out of condition. And they may develop some bad habits. But you can avoid this by following good management practices.

Your horses are natural athletes and need a daily work-out to keep their muscles, feet and legs in good condition. Twenty or twenty five nature packs your haylage with nutrition.

By the time your haylage gets to the bunk, much of the nutritive value may be lost That's why innovative farmers use CROP-SILE It's a low-cost combination of stabilizers, antioxidants and flavors that locks in the fresh-cut benefits of high-moisture crops Besides the added feed value and greater palatability, CROP-SILE also works to curb excessive fermentation, oxidation, waste, shrink and heat build-up CROP-SILE can make a big difference in your returns

The results are in terms of added feed appeal, greater feed value at feeding time and higher feed efficiency

Make sure you save the nutritious crop you worked so hard to grow Get CROP-SILE It will help keep nature's nutrients in your haylage

For more information about CROP-SILE, contact your young's Feed Management Representative or write to young's, R D #1, Box 71, Roaring Spring, PA 16673

Omaha Cattle

Thursday, March 17
Report supplied by USDA

Compared to previous week's close, Slaughter Steers ended the period .50 higher; Heifers .50-1.00 higher. Cows and Bulls steady,

Early week losses were more than recouped by midsession when dressed beef prices registered wide gains and salable numbers ran very light. Demand narrowed on the close as many buyers turned cautious in anticipation of downward adjustments in beef prices. Mild weather and drying feedlots have prompted some improvements in dressing percentages, although general rains this week could alter the situation. Steers comprised 45 pct. of the week's receipts; Heifers 35 pct; Cows 10 pct; Feeders 8 pct.

Brown Swiss, Guernsey and Holstein

Oley dairyman is a 'triple breed threat'

By Robin Phillips
Staff Correspondent

OLEY — On his own since last April, Jerry Krone, R1 Oley, smiles when looking at Lake Lane Heathers Flo, a three-year-old Brown Swiss, purchased as a bred heifer at the 1980 Pa. State Brown Swiss Sale in Harrisburg.

Flo is one of two Brown Swiss from Pennsylvania to be nominated for All-American, and Krone has just been notified that she was named Reserve All-American Brown Swiss 3-year-old.

As a two-year-old, "Flo" placed 3rd at the Eastern National and had second best udder. At the York Interstate Fair, she was named Grand Champion after placing first in the 2-year-old class and selected as "Best Udder" of the show.

Leading up to her nomination as an All- American 3-year-old, "Flo" placed first and "Best Udder" at the 1982 Maryland State Fair and second and "Best Udder" at the 1982 Eastern National. Bred by Lloyd H. Lohr, Stoystown, "Flo's" records to date include: 2-05 305 11,890 4.1% 489 and 3-06 213 10,578 3.7% 393. She is projected to finish her 3-year-old record just over 13,000 lbs. milk with a 3.9% butterfat test.

Planning to continue to show this outstanding Swiss, Krone adds that she has also given him a heifer, who-if she matures like her dam-will accompany her on the tanbark trail.

Krone added that just to be able to find the time to show a few of his animals is a big accomplishment in itself. He remembers rushing to and from his farm and the shows, and is very thankful to his friends in Brown Swiss and Guernsey circles who added "Flo" to their show strings when he returned home.

Krone currently rents a stanchion barn and the surrounding pastures and lives near the farm in another rented farmhouse. "Flo's" herdmates include 13 Guernseys, 14 Brown Swiss, and 10 Holsteins.

Although Krone had been assembling his Brown Swiss herd since 1980 on the Holstein farm of his father, and had initially wanted to form an all-Swiss herd, Krone could not refrain from bidding on 13 Guernseys when the Leader Farm herd in York County was dispersed.

Krone had been employed as Assistant Herdsman at Leader Farms for 3½ years before taking a position as herdsman on a registered Holstein farm in Maryland. When the position of manager at Leader Farms became available, Krone returned and served as manager until the dispersal.

"I knew the cows; I knew what their potential was and the opportunity was there." Krone explains.

His Guernseys include seven "Very Good", two "Desirable", and four not yet classified. These also include three animals with over 100,000 pounds of milk to their credit. Krone states that the Guernseys have the highest butterfat in the herd and when compared month by month, his Brown Swiss and Guernseys pay their way right along side the Holsteins with their extra milk.

Referring to the extra protein and butterfat of the colored breeds and the possibility of protein payments in addition to the extra dividends of the high butterfat, Krone replies, "It's just a matter of time," "That's why I went to the colored breeds."

To explain his most recent purchases, Krone explains that he needed milk. The 10 Holsteins were the last of the trio of breeds to enter this herd and were purchased from another farmer in the county. Krone admits that his Brown Swiss and Guernseys are more docile and easier to handle, but states that he plans to continue to develope the three breeds, using the top bulls available. Although Holstein semen is much more expensive when compared to the cost of semen for the other breeds, Krone uses artificial insemination exclusively.

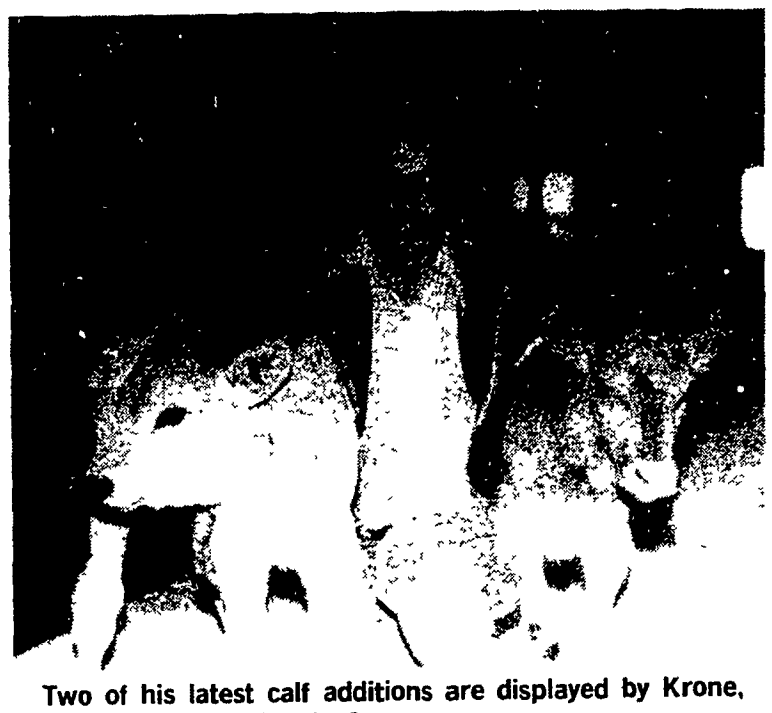
"Registered is the way to go because of the merchandise potential," Krone said. All of the animals in his herd are registered with the exception of one Holstein.

One can easily see that these affectionate bovines love their dairyman as much as he appreciates them as they follow him around the pasture close on his heels. Although there were no major setbacks, so common to new dairymen, in his first year of milking, Krone admits to being very grateful for all the bull calves his cows gave him since he has been living on the money from their sale at auction.

Krone plans to continue to show as much as he is able while dairying by himself, but states that his foremost goal is to get his cows paid off. He is also looking forward to consigning some of his better young stock to the state breed sales in the future.

Time will tell as the economic times take their toll on this young dairyman, as it will for many others across the state. But, as Krone walks into the pastures again, 38 heads come up and look his way. He's got loyal fans out there, who come when called, ready to work hard for this dairyman who is working hard for them.

Jerry Krone stands with his three breed favorites — "Jeannie" the Holstein, "Cecile" the Guernsey and "Flo" the Brown Swiss.



Two of his latest calf additions are displayed by Krone, including a Swiss bull and a Guernsey.

Hutches are utilized by Krone. These twins are out of a 12-year-old Guernsey.

Tested bull sale Friday

UNIVERSITY PARK — Beef producers have an excellent opportunity to make real genetic progress in their beef breeding program by purchasing a Performance Tested Bull at Pa. 10th Performance Tested Bull Sale.

The sale will be held on Friday at the Pa. Dept. of Agriculture's Meat Animal Evaluation Center, which is located near the Penn State Campus. The sale begins at noon.

Bob Kimble, Director at the Center, points out that there will be 23 Angus bulls, 6 Charolais bulls, 17 Polled Hereford bulls and 14 Simmental bulls offered for sale, and this represents the top 75% of all bulls tested.

There is no surer way to guaranteed improvement, than to use Performance Tested sires.

Catalogs are available upon request from: Pa. Dept. of Agriculture, Meat Animal Evaluation Center, 651 Fox Hollow Road, State College, PA 16801.

Totally Enclosed Gear Box Shuttle-Stroke Barn Cleaner

Gutter Bar Available

Unique design of shuttle-stroke cleaner provides extra versatility of arrangement in barns with single or odd-number gutters, especially when used in combination with the chain type cleaner.

Pitman bar attached to chain of mechanical drive unit transforms rotary motion into back-and-forth motion. Steel bar in corner of gutter moves back and forth in eight-foot strokes.

On the forward stroke, malleable iron paddles fold open across the gutter to move manure toward the spreader.

CUSTOM MADE LIQUIMATIC ELEVATOR AVAILABLE

The Liquimatic elevator runs independent of the gutter mechanism, nine times faster, to whisk liquids and solids into the spreader.

Heavy-gauge channel-sections steel flights are bolted every two feet to the #67 extra heavy agricultural chain. Galvanized elevator trough is 18¼" wide, 8" deep, with continuous sanitary bottom to eliminate manure drop-off.

Chain is driven about 95' per minute by 1 h.p. or 1½ h.p. motor operating on 220 volts. Motor mount is adjustable. Pulley wheel has oilite bearing.

Drive mechanism of Liquid elevator is completely covered. Drive shaft also features oilite bearings.

Rathmell memorial fund grows

UNIVERSITY PARK — The James K. Rathmell Jr. Memorial Fund has been established in memory of the Penn State Extension Horticultural Specialist who died last year.

For 27 years, F mell worked closely with commercial floriculture an nursery industries, impl enting many outstanding educ onal programs on local, state, a national levels. His Extension newsletters – "Greenhouse Notes" and "Nurserymen Newsletter" – were welcomed by growers and educators who valued the up-to-date information in down-to-earth practical terms.

He organized and conducted numerous educational tours to horticultural enterprises in the United States, Canada, and Europe. His contacts with European and American counterparts in the educational field provided a wide diversification of speakers at regionally held seminars.

When small foliage plant stores appeared in abundance throughout shopping areas, Jim saw the need for educational information. For several years his "Greenery Gab" newsletter saved many inexperienced plant retailers from self-destruction.

This eagerness to help people was well known by those who knew him. He was hard working, unselfish, and dedicated.

In his memory, a Board of Directors consisting of representatives from the Pennsylvania Flower Growers and Pennsylvania Nursery Association has established a Memorial Fund.

The Fund, which has already been started, will use interest from investments to provide scholarship money to a serious horticultural student for work and study abroad.

The Board of Directors of the Fund will decide on the recipients of the scholarship. Applications will be available in the future to any college student in a horticultural curriculum.

Contributions can be sent to the James K. Rathmell Jr. Memorial Fund, Box 384, Bloomsburg, Pennsylvania 17815.

Delaware sheep producers organize

BY TRISH WILLIAMS

HOCKESSIN, De — Sheep producers interested in learning more about their industry and promoting it have joined together in the first state to form Delaware Sheep and Wool Producers Association. The formation comes as the Mid-Atlantic Sheep Breeders Assoc. disbands. Delaware had held one vote in the Mid-Atlantic Assoc., by forming its own association they hope to retain a voting say in issues affecting the state's sheep and wool producers.

Officers were elected and bylaws established, at the first meeting, held February 23, at the State Agriculture Building in Dover. The officers are: President Bill Green, Vice President Mark Taylor, and Secretary-Treasurer Martha Klair.

The main objective of the association as outlined in the bylaws, according to Ms. Klair, is to help better inform sheep producers on production and marketing practices and to allow producers to get together to discuss the common problems they face. They hope to improve marketing in the state by organizing sales and wool pools. Ms. Klair said the association is sincerely interested in helping 4-H and FFA members with sheep projects.

At its second meeting, held Monday, the association discussed the possibility of presenting a trophy at the Delaware State Fair junior show, and how to attract meat packers to the fair to buy prize sheep from 4-H and FFA members. Members saw a video recording taken at last year's state fair of two sheep classes.

Ms. Klair estimates there are presently 20 members, and encourages anyone in Delaware who raises sheep, or who are interested in sheep and wool, as well as meat buyers and packers, to join the association. More information may be obtained by contacting President Bill Green, at 738-3072. The next meeting is scheduled for Tuesday, April 5, 7:30 p.m. at the State Agriculture Building, DuPont Hwy, south of Dover.

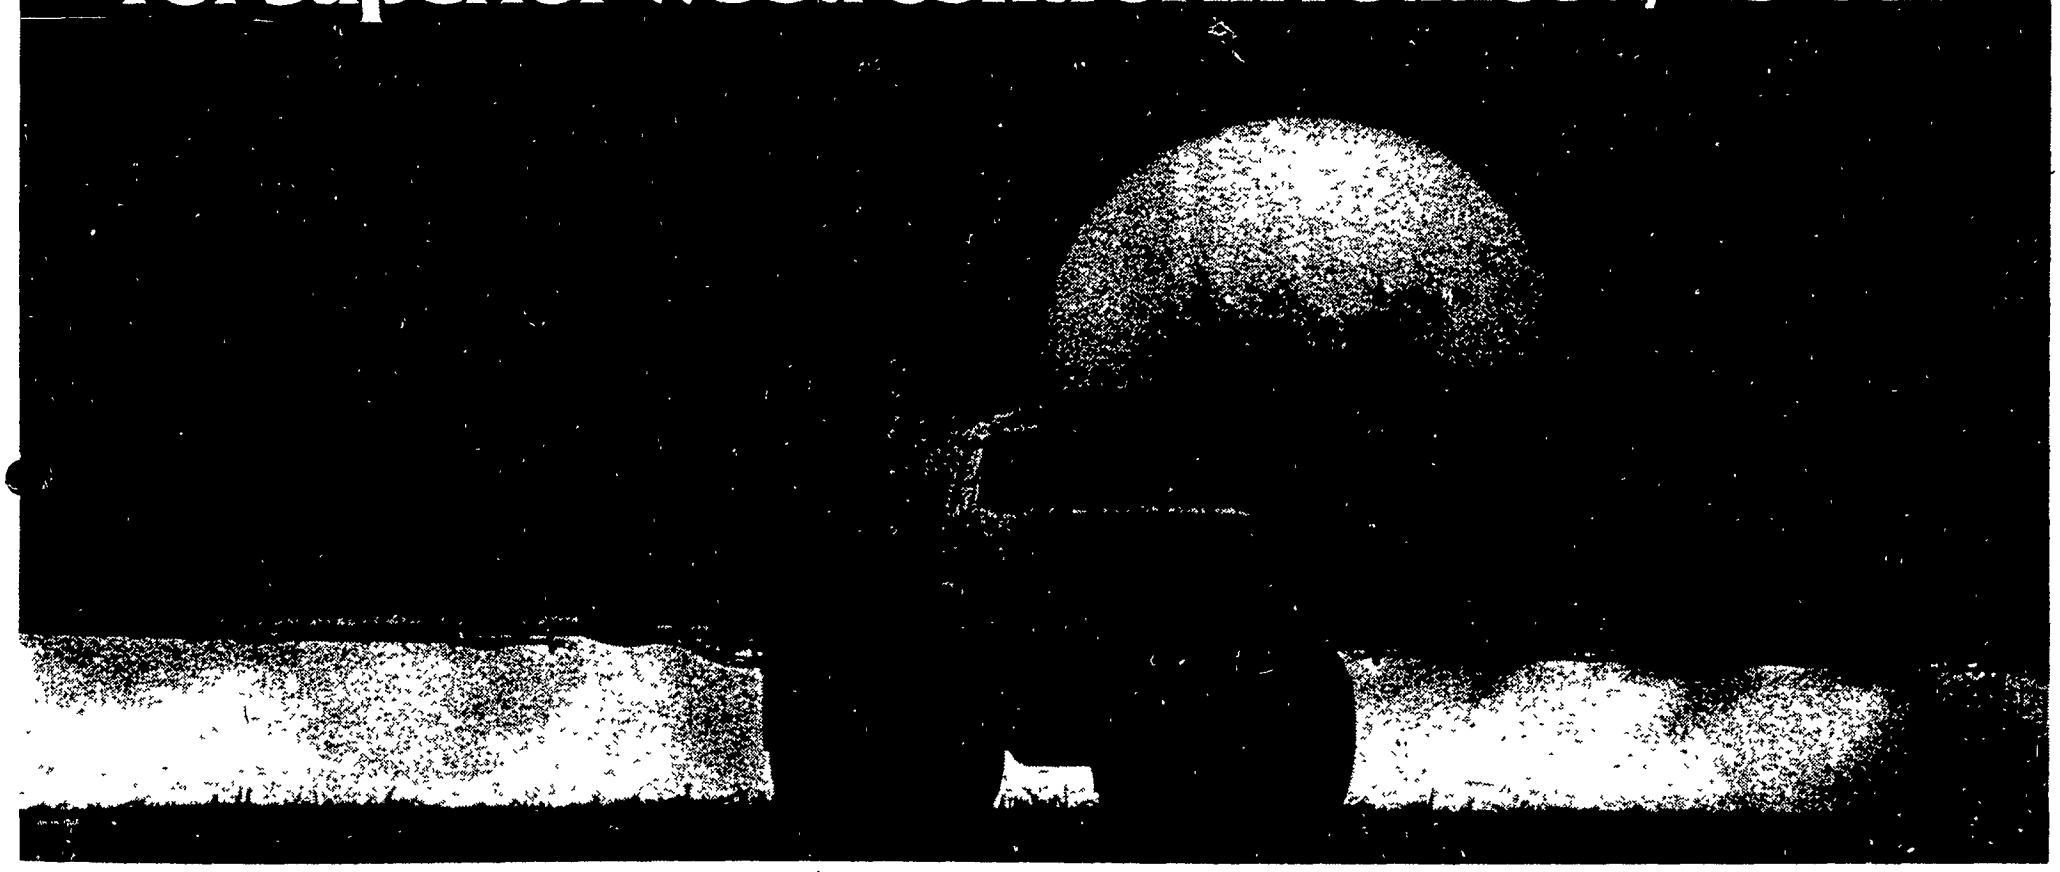
Begin with Bladex...

For superior weed control in reduced/no-till.



Bladex® herbicide for corn has proven its excellent broad spectrum performance in reduced/no-till acres. Used alone or tank mixed with atrazine or other herbicides, Bladex stops both grasses and broadleaves.

Bladex controls foxtails and fall panicum after they've germinated and emerged. It provides effective burndown activity on emerged weeds, especially when applied with liquid fertilizer or contact herbicides. Residual control lasts up to 12 weeks.

This year, begin with Bladex for broad spectrum weed control performance in reduced/no-till acreage. Follow label directions.

USDA researcher predicts 100% conservation tillage

WASHINGTON, D.C. — A U.S. Department of Agriculture research administrator predicts the virtually all U.S. cropland will be farmed under some form of conservation tillage by the end of this century.

That prediction comes from Terry B. Kinney, administrator of USDA's Agricultural Research Service, who says in the March issue of Agricultural Research: "Conservation or minimum tillage decidedly is coming of age as scientists, advisors, and farmers smooth out the rough edges on a farm practice that can do more to preserve this Nation's soil and water heritage than any other single practice.

"We should set a goal of applying no-till or ridge till – some form of conservation tillage – on every suitable acre of U.S. cropland by the end of the century. I predict this Nation's agricultural community will achieve that goal.

"A few years ago," Kinney says, "most farmers wouldn't hear of tillage methods that left residue on the top of the soil. They opted for clean plowing, turning all crop residue undere with moldboard and disk plows, a practice that produces maximum rates of erosion.

"Now the Department's Soil Conservation Service (SCS) says that about 100 million acres, nearly a fourth of U.S. cropland, is minimum tilled or not tilled in cropping systems."

Kinney says the upsurge in farmer interest in stimulated largely by reduced fuel and labor costs, but also by research progress, education, and farmer experience. "Farmers are deomonstrating for themselves and others that minimum or no-till practices do improve soil and water conservation while maintaining, even increasing, crop yields where implemented properly."

He refers to forms of conservation tillage that minimize or eliminate tillage and leave crop residues on the soil surface where they will normally help reduce soil and water losses. Grain or oilseed crops then are planted with the least possible disturbance of the residue.

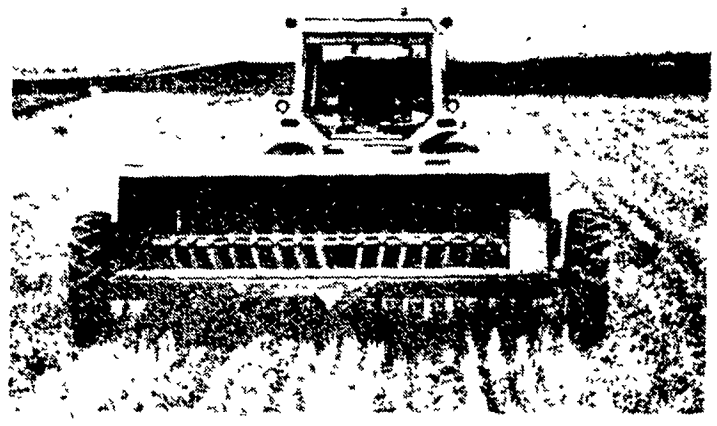
LILLISTON 9680
NO-TILL GRAIN DRILL



For Heavy Stubble and Hard Soils

The new Lilliston 9680 No-Till Grain Drill will operate in maximum severe conditions, where uniform penetration of heavy stubble and hard soils is required. Unlike some of the so-called "no-till" drills available today, which are actually conventional drills with front coulters added, the Lilliston is designed, from the ground up, for one purpose: No-till seeding.

Some Special Features

- Maximum empty weight of 7,160 lbs. transfers 390 lbs. of down pressure to each of the 18 openers on 7 inch spacings.
- Heavy duty 14 inch cutting coulters and double disc openers, spring-loaded scrapers and center rib gauge wheels.
- Three hydraulic cylinders regulate pressure on openers for precision depth control.
- Patented double-chambered feed cups which maintain even seed flow to the feed wheels.
- Cluster gear boxes for easy selection of 27 application speeds of seed and fertilizer.

Outdoor fire season is here

LANCASTER — Each spring, rural areas are plagued by numerous woods, brush and field fires.

For example, in Lancaster County alone, fire departments received nearly 500 such calls a year. Of that number, just about half are caused by open or illegal burning.

Fire officials urge anyone who burns debris to first check with their local fire department, forest fire warden or government official. Many municipalities have ordinances forbidding open burning or regulate it by allowing burning only during specified hours. Illegal burning in a municipality with an ordinance may result in a fine.

If debris must be burned, do it safely. Use an incinerator or metal barrel in good condition. The opening should be covered with a heavy screen mesh using not less than 14-gauge wire. Draft holes can be punched near the bottom of the barrel to aid the combustion process. The barrel should be placed away from overhead branches and wires in the middle of an area which has been cleared at least five feet in all directions.

If burning a pile of brush in a field, plow an adequate fire line around it.

Burning should not be done on dry, windy days. Sparks and embers can be carried a considerable distance causing a fire. The safest time to burn is late in the afternoon.

Never leave the fire unattended. Tools such as rakes and shovels should be close at hand. Buckets of water or a garden hoes should also be in the immediate area.

Any aerosol cans mixed in with the debris to be burned should be removed. Flying metal from an exploding can injure a bystander. Burning trash ejected by such an explosion may cause another fire.

If walking through the woods this time of year, use extreme caution with smoking materials and matches. Clear a spot down to bare earth for used matches and butts. Then use the heel of your foot to grind it into the ground.

Remember, if burning debris causes a fire, there can be liability for costs of firefighting and damage to others.

Northampton sets Holstein tour

NAZABETH — The annual Northampton County Holstein Club bus tour will be held on Thursday, March 31.

The tour will begin at 7:30 a.m. from the parking lot of the Laneco store in Nazareth and will visit four dairy farms in Perry County.

The cost is $14.00 for the trip and a meal. The meal will consist of supper at the Shartlesville Hotel and is "Pennsylvania Dutch Style."

Reservations may be made by calling Bob Letson, Special Activities Chairman at (215) 252-0074; Bruce Fox at (215) 588-6340 or the Extension Office at (215) 759-6120-H.S.

ABC elects officers, honors dairy specialist

BY SYLVIA COOPER

LANCASTER — George Haenlein, Extension dairy specialist from the University of Delaware, was honored at the Atlantic Breeders' annual meeting, March 16, at the Host Town, here, for his contribution in the field of A.I. and the dairy industry.

Haenlein was presented an attache case by ABC president David Slusser.

Elected as officers were David Slusser, Centerville, president; James G. Kreider, Quarryville, vice president; James Paxton, Grove City, treasurer; and Norman Sollenberger, Fayetteville, secretary.

New members were elected to the board of directors for a three-year term as follows: Daniel Hudson, Viola, Del., District 2; James G. Kreider, District 5; Norman Sollenberger, District 8; Clair Koontz, R1 New Enterprise, District 9; Lee Kummer, R4 Evans City, District 14; John Paxton, District 15; and David Slusser, District 16.

Other members of the board are: Paul Weaver, Royersford, District 1; Harold Bollinger, Newmanstown, District 3; Clyde Martin, East Earl, District 4; Paul King, Delta, District 6; Kenneth Zeigler, Carlisle, District 7; S. Donald Glessner, Berlin, District 10; Clyde Robison, Coal Center, District 11; H. Donald Allison, Clymer, District 12; and Leroy Shrock, Dayton, District 13.

Haenlein, a native of Manheim, Germany, came to the U.S. in 1951 as a graduate student on an exchange scholarship. He has a M.S. degree and a Doctorate of Science degree in animal science from the University of Stuttgart-Hohemheim in Germany, and a Ph.D. in dairy science and biochemistry from the University of Wisconsin.

Haenlein, now with the University of Delaware, is an internationally known authority on the subject of animal nutrition. A major portion of his education was devoted to the study of the nutritive value of various forages.

He has done research in milk protein, milk and blood types in dairy cattle and their relation to milk production.

H. Louis Moore, agricultural economist from Penn State, gave his views on Reagonomics and the ag economy. According to Moore,

Lehigh Valley to seek 600 new members

BY TRISH WILLIAMS

LANCASTER — Lehigh Valley Farmers held its annual business meeting Tuesday at the Host Farm, where the cooperative reported to 500 producer-members an 18 percent increase in volume of milk sold over last year. The cooperative sold over 730 million pounds of milk in 1982, with a value set at $101 million and generated a net margin of $2.5 million.

The $2.5 million margin will be distributed to the farmers in certificates of equity and in cash dividends totaling $350,000 according to President Alpheus L. Ruth. Part of this dividend had been advanced to the producers last fall. Of the payments the farmers received during the year, $508,000 was in premiums and quality control bonuses.

The big news of the day was the announcement of an aggressive media campaign to attract 600 new members to the existing 1,139.

"Atlantic Processing, the dairy federation that guarantees to market all our milk, needs a lot more of it," Ruth said. "We ship them two thirds of the billion plus pounds they handle annually and we'd like to increase that percentage. That way we'll build more equity for ourselves in API."

Ruth pointed out that Lehigh Valley Farmers equity in API had neared the $3 million mark. Other cooperative members of the API federation include Mt. Joy, Inter-State and Dairylea.

The president indicated the goal of 600 members in 1983 means that Lehigh will have to grow at five times last year's rate, when 109 new members signed up (adjusting for attrition caused primarily from the sale of many dairy farms).

As part of the membership drive, the co-op will use newspaper and radio advertising. Samples of these were built into the presentation along with the theme of the meeting: "Quality...makes the difference."

While the business session was going on, there was a separate homemaking presentation for women by Jane Seidel, Fay Strickler, Judith Stoudt & Phoebe Bitler, of the Berks County Extension Service.

At the luncheon following the business meeting, awards were presented to dairy farmers who had achieved honor roll status for maintaining high quality. Clair S. and Jackson E. Duvall, Du Valley Farm, received an honor plaque for having maintained a Standard Plate Count of 8,000, or less, for the entire year of 1982.

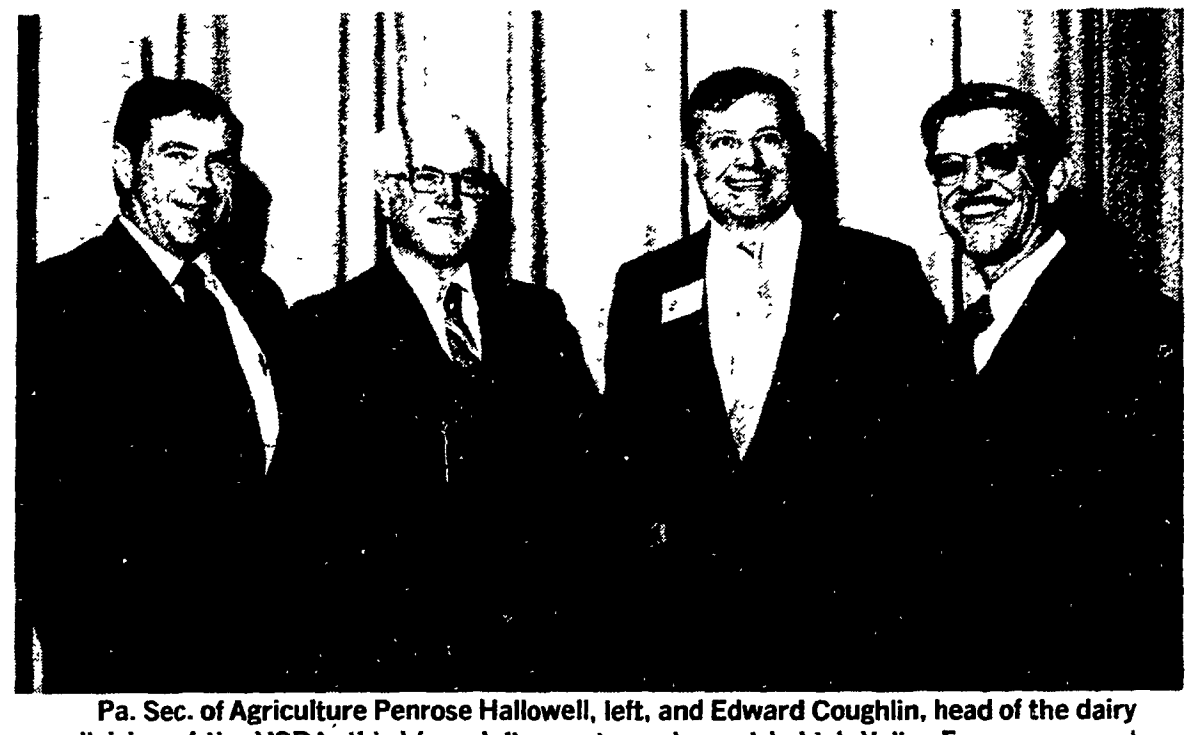
Atlantic Processing Inc. presented producer Allen Andrews with a honor plaque for having maintained a Somatic Cell count of 300,000, or less, throughout 1982.

Members who achieved the Honor Roll each month for the year 1982 were also recognized. They were: Allen Andrews, Du Valley Farm, Clyde C. Frey, Robert D. Harnish, Bruce J. Leiby, and Milton Hershey School (2 farms).

Aaron Landis, field service representative, who is retiring after 48 years of service with Lehigh and predecessor organizations, received special recognition.

Lancaster County Agent, Glenn A. Shirk was Master of Ceremonies for the luncheon.

Guest speakers were Secretary of Agriculture Penrose Hallowell and Edward Coughlin, head of the dairy division of the U.S. department of agriculture.



Pa. Sec. of Agriculture Penrose Hallowell, left, and Edward Coughlin, head of the dairy division of the USDA, third from left, guest speakers at Lehigh Valley Farmers annual meeting are pictured with Lehigh Valley Farmers President Alpheus L. Ruth, second from left, and Executive Vice President and General Manager William M. Stout.

Secretary Hallowell shared with Lehigh Valley Farmers, his impressions of his recent trip to the Middle East to promote Pennsylvania's agricultural products. Hallowell reported a successful trip, but emphasized the need for continued promotion at the local level and abroad, citing stiff competition and promotion at the local level by other countries, such as France.

Hallowell told farmers that the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture has done a lot to help promote milk and to assure its quality through the various marketing channels, and pledged continued support from the department.

Hallowell told farmers they had reason to be optimistic about the coming year because of lower fuel costs had a lower rate of inflation, but warned farmers that their optimism should be tempered with realism.

Coughlin addressed the dairy surplus problem and congressional consideration of legislation being proposed as an alternative to the present 50 cents assessment. He said Congress will spend only one day on the issue and will probably only consider three of the bills introduced. Most likely to be considered are the bills proposed by the National Milk Producers and Dairymen Inc.

The 50 cents assessment was a mathamatical or accounting exercise to bring the books in line, said Coughlin. The dairy budget this year was $600 million and over 1.2 billion has already been spent, so this 50 cent assessment concept is not dead yet in the Senate, warned Coughlin. According to Coughlin, the Budget Office predicts the dairy budget will not be in balance until 1987. Coughlin anticipated Secretary of Agriculture John Block to make a decision the next day on whether the assessment will be reinstated.

Continued domestic distribution of five pound loaves of cheese is helping to diminish the government stocks, but there is some fear among farmers that the donations may be displacing sales to persons who would normally buy cheese. A test project is now under way to distribute four pound allotments of nonfat dry milk to the needy.

USDA research

"Erosion has removed about half of the topsoil from a fourth of U.S. farmland," he says, "In some areas erosion rates with cotton, corn, and soybeans are between 13 and 25 tons an acre annually depending on the type of soil."

Kinney points out that both scientists and farmers are finding that conservation tillage, particularly no-till, is by no means a panacea. He says scientists of his agency and others are encountering a myriad of new or intensified challenges surfacing as no-till is studied and applied – weeds, plant diseases, nematodes, insects and rodents, and difficulties with poorly drained soils, seed and fertilizer placement, seed germination, and soil compaction.

"Perhaps the most unique challenge," Kinney says, "is that no-till management modifies the soil's physical, organic, microbiological and chemical environments, thus mandating changes in basic farming practices and equipment."

"These challenges are being faced – and solutions are being found – by multidisciplinary terms of ARS scientists and engineers often in cooperation with their counterparts in land grant universities and in industry. It is a well coordinated effort at several ARS research locations reflecting the many variables of agricultural production – climate, weather, soils, topography, economics, management, crops, livestock, pests and types of farming."

PDCA reviews judging school, farm show

By Robin Phillips
Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG — The future of the PDCA Judging School and an updating of the dairy portion of the State Farm Show was reviewed by the Pennsylvania Purebred Dairy Cattle Association on Friday, March 11.

In its annual meeting at the Hanover Trails Restaurant, the PDCA reviewed the two dairy events, with views expressed by members, including representatives of the State Holstein Club, Jersey Club, Guernsey Association and the Brown Swiss organization.

Paul King, Holstein breeder from York County, chaired the meeting, with Lee Yost, of the Guernsey Association, serving as secretary-treasurer. Also present were Don Ace, Extension dairy specialist from Penn State; and Charles Itle, of the Farm Show Commission.

Foremost on the agenda was the planning of the 1983 PDCA sponsored judging school.

"I was extremely pleased with the job done last year," Don Ace said.

The school was held in Washington County in 1982 and Ace commented on the fine job done by several families in that area who contributed much time and effort in putting together the 12 to 15 classes of dairy animals needed for the instructional judging.

Although "last year was a very disappointing year of participation," Ace commented, the school will be "in good shape with normal participation."

It was decided that the fee of $25.00 will not be raised and that more breeders should be encouraged to participate.

It was explained that still a need for the PDCA Judging School since none of the various breed associations (except the Holstein Association) conducts its own school.

"If the school is not held, the breed representatives, other than Holstein, will not be able to sharpen their eye and young breeders will not be able to develope their credence," Ace commented.

Dean Daubert, Brown Swiss breeder from Schuylkill County, commented that more young breeders should be invited as the list of invitations to participants was reviewed. Each breed organization was assigned a revised quota for participants which they could submit to the committee for invitations. Any individual wishing to participate in the school must contact his state breed association. The new quotas for the breeds are Ayrshires, 6; Brown Swiss, 10; Milking Shorthorn, 6; Guernsey, 15; Jerseys, 12; Holsteins, 35.

It was stated that the purpose of the PDCA Judging School was to develope a criteria towards designating an official judges. The PDCA committee receives approximately 25 requests for official judges a year from Fair Boards, 4-H Leaders and Extension personnel. A motion was passed that in order to make the official list of judges, the individual "must be in the top third of the participants for three successive years." There was no one recommended by the PDCA for the official list from the 1982 session of the school.

Also, in order to monitor the judges already on the official list and keep them up to the desired quality of judging, the motion was passed that "all current judges must attend the PDCA Judging School every three years, with one option year in case of emergencies, in order to remain in the official list." It was also decided to restrict "walk-ins" at the judging of the school in order to keep the crowd to a minimum so that all paid participants are able to judge. All attending will need to be invited, pre-registeres, and pre-paid. A motion was also passed to prohibit talking or conferring on classes by the participants while the instructional judging was taking place. Judging cards will be torn up and the participant disqualified.

The judging school is scheduled to take place on July 14 and 15 this year and the host counties are Berks and Schuylkill counties. The official judge for the school this year will be John Morris, Braddock Heights, Md., "one of the deans of judging", who is respected by every breed organization. Jim Shaw, Holstein breeder from Berks County, will select the classes for the school from area breeders and Clyde Myers, Berks County Extension Agent, will organize the event.

The fact that machinery is displayed in the dairy barns at the Farm Show was also brought up for discussion. Charles Itle, Farm Show Commission, replied that when the new Fire corridors were installed in the exhibit areas, the income producing area (that of the advertisers display booths) was reduced and the Commission replaced these areas by taking some space out of each of the livestock barns. The areas of heaviest traffic were designated as display areas for the advertisers instead of being used for additional livestock. It was recognized that it was unhandy for animals to be quartered in these areas anyway due to the heavy traffic of spectators. The question of reduced quotas for dairy animals was raised.

Itle went on to explain that the Farm Show commission offers all the space possible and all spaces are filled. If there is a breed that does not fill its quota, the spaces are then offered to the breed with the highest number of entries. Itle stated that at the last Farm Show, the Holsteins and Brown Swiss breeds had the largest amount of entries and there was approximately 50 head of dairy cattle rejected. Junior animals (4-H and Vo-Ag) are given first priority with a quota of 184 head.

Don Ace, Penn State Dairy Specialist, left; Lee Yost, center, secretary of PDCA, and Paul King, Holstein breeder from York County, team up to conduct annual meeting.

The current quotas of Ayrshire, 51; Brown Swiss, 41; Guernsey, 87; Holstein, 129; Jersey, 51; and Milking Shorthorn, 46 were revised according to the attendance averages being shown in the last three years. A motion was passed to take 30 spaces from the Milking Shorthorns and 10 spaces from the Guernseys, and add 10 spaces to each of the other breeds. All representatives at the meeting were encouraged to bring alternate plans for revising the quotas and premiums to the next annual meeting. It was unanimously recommended to Itle by all the members present that the only fair solution to the space shortage would be a new dairy barn for the Farm Show. The question was asked as to whether it can be called a representative show of the breed if entries are limited. Itle explained that the plans for 1983 include the new heating system and an improved parking area but that foremost in any additional plans would be the much-needed additional floor space and/or dairy barn.

The PDCA committee also made a recommendation to abolish the rule which "prohibits the obstruction of across the barn vision." It was recognized that advertising plays a major role in the showing of a breeders herd and an attractive display will be an added attraction and of equal advantage to the Farm Show, as well as to the exhibitor.

Tom Kelly, Blair County Holstein breeder, was chosen as the person to represent PDCA and the state breed associations on the Pa. Junior Dairy Show Executive Committee.

Judges for the 1984 Farm Show were discussed and breed organizations were asked to send in their choices by April 1.

The 1984 annual meeting of the PDCA will be chaired by the President of the Pennsylvania Jersey Cattle Club, Robert Robinson, Washington County.

Conference stresses conservation tillage need

BY DEBBIE KOONTZ

LANCASTER — "The Department of Agriculture's best estimates show that three million acres per year are lost from production in the United States," Jim Lake of the National Conservation Tillage Information Center in Ft. Wayne, Indiana, said, Tuesday, to a crowd of 115 farmers and agri-businessmen.

Lake was speaking at the second annual Lancaster County Conservation Tillage Conference, held at the Farm and Home Center, here.

"Through the '70s, many of us used land as a commodity instead of a resource, working it to its maximum yield. I think conservation gives us the chance to turn land back into a resource," Lake elaborated.

Lake pointed to mental attitude as the chief culprit standing between a farmer and conservation tillage. "The biggest problem is deciding 'it won't work,' " he remarked.

Although the morning session was geared to those farmers who remain skeptical about conservation tillage featuring several speakers discussing the need for erosion control, fertilizing practices on no-till corn, and why conservation tillage has been successful, the remainder of the day was intended to help those farmers who already have made the change and are now interested in proper management.

That afternoon, Arnold Lueck, Lancaster County Extension agent, explained the four stages of insects and how and when best to begin controlling them.

Following Lueck, Dave Cote of Chevron Chemical, presented a slide presentation of the various problems he has encountered in soil erosion on his travels from Pennsylvania to Maine.

Dick Neff, a Manor Township farmer, explained why he was 'sold on conservation tillage,' to those gathered for the morning session. "I started using it (conservation tillage) about 14 years ago primarily to save money on planting corn. We very soon found out conservation was a key point in planting corn. Our water run-off was unbelievably clean," he said. He reported that his yield averages about 150 bushels for every acre he grows.

This year the conference

The Farm and Home Center was flanked by conservation planters and drills Tuesday as nine equipment dealers joined in the conference. Participating were Landis Brothers, Stoltzfus Farm Service, M.M. Weaver, C.B. Hoover, Hamilton Equipment, Messick Equipment, L.H. Brubaker, Heisey Equipment, and Gideon Stoltzfus.

Lancaster Co. Holstein Club tour

LANCASTER — The Lancaster County Holstein Club will conduct its annual tour this Thursday. All interested persons are welcomed to join the tour, you do not have to be a club member to attend.

The farms chosen for this year's tour are all private operations, and each has a unique attraction. Tour stops will include the following farms.

Lester Poust, Mun-Cre Farms, is the proud breeder of Mun-Cre Misty, a 92 point cow with 36,604 M, and 1532 F. Lester's BAA is over 107 with 12 excellent cows.

Ritter Ridge, a partnership of the Ritter Brothers, who farm a total of 700 acres to feed their stock. They milk in a newly built barn of unusual design which is 272 feet long with 98 tie stalls.

Frank Jurbala, Fra-Jan Holsteins, has a herd of oustanding individuals with a herd average of over 21,000 pounds and a BAA of 106.1 to attest to that fact. Jurbala buys all of his feed which is strictly high moisture corn and hay.

Denny Wolff, Pen-Col Farms, is known by many for the Pen-Col ET invitational. Wolff is doing extensive ET work and as a result of this, at times, has over 100 calves on milk. Wolff farms 500 acres and retails 90 percent of his milk. A new heifer facility will be toured which includes an ET room.

The last farm on the tour is owned by Dick Yule. Dick boasts a BAA of 107.1 and a herd average of over 19,000. He is the proud breeder of the popular Ace bull.

The final feature of the day will be a family style ham and turkey dinner provided by a local United Methodist Church.

The cost of the tour is $19 per person and includes transportation and the evening meal. Bring your own noon meal to be eaten between stops on the bus. The tour will leave the Farm and Home Center at 8:15 a.m. and return home at approximately 8 to 8:30 p.m. Time is running out for registration, to reserve a place on the tour contact Nevin Dourte immediately at 655-6449.

Ram lamb test nominations open

UNIVERSITY PARK — Nominations are now being accepted for the 1983 Ram Lamb Test to be conducted at the Pa. Dept. of Agriculture's Meat Animal Evaluation Center, located near the Penn State Campus.

For baling tighter, heavier bales, there's no baler better than a Vicon. No baler is faster or more efficient. It can compress more hay into less space than any other baler.

That's the promise you get from Vicon.

Bales are produced in sizes to suit the grower, densities to suit the crop. An extra heavy duty pickup starts the bale through an open-throated chamber entrance. Hay, straw and even silage are baled fast and efficiently.

Bales have an even density from core to surface. Tightly rolled for respectable payloads and easy stacking and handling. They're neat, smooth-sided and weather-resistant.

And when you're baling with the Vicon, there's no need to reverse when it comes time to eject. Special ramps make sure the finished bale is ejected clear of the tailgate.

There are two sizes: The Vicon RP 1500 produces five-foot bales. The RP 1200 produces four-foot bales. An electric tie system and automatic chain oiler are standard equipment on both sizes.

The Vicon Round Baler. It's all the baler you'll ever need. All rolled up in one machine.

Shumaker visits farm

HALIFAX — John Shumaker, candidate for the 15th senatorial district special election to be held on Tuesday, visited Kenneth Bechtel's farm near Halifax Wednesday to discuss his views on agriculture and the food industry with local farmers.

Shumaker sees strengthening the Agricultural Areas Act, low interest farm loans, mortgage assistance and equitable tax reform as opportunities to further the preservation of Pennsylvania's farm families and farmlands.

Shumaker announced his strong support for improving the marketing and promotion of Pennsylvania farm products, thereby furthering the economic development of the agricultural community. He supports product development research, improved food exports and developing joint government and industry programs.

A well-maintained system of rural roads and bridges was also recognized by Shumaker as being essential to the agricultural economy.

Shumaker said he will seek the advice of the farm community on important agricultural issues and the establishment of new farm programs. He plans to meet with the farm organizations regularly, keeping abreast of their concerns and any problems they may have.

"As our most important industry, agriculture must be heard!" Said Shumaker, "Agriculture needs people who understand their problems. I am committed to insuring the future of agriculture in Pennsylvania."

One-step fertilization
and weed control
in half-a-day.

Weed and feed your cornfields in one trip.
Get two jobs done fast, right and on time. Just ask your fertilizer dealer to apply Sutan®+ herbicide in combination with atrazine and/or Bladex* with your choice of fertilizer, dry or liquid. He'll spread them. You just incorporate.

You have four hours to incorporate.
Of course, your dealer can apply your fertilizer impregnated with Sutan+ faster than you can disc it in. But you don't have to worry about Sutan+ losing any of its effectiveness. Because you're allowed up to a full four hours between application and incorporation.

The best incorporated corn herbicide.
Sutan+ with atrazine and/or Bladex gives you outstanding control of annual grasses and broadleaf weeds. Sutan+ is the only corn herbicide designed to be incorporated. So you get a weed barrier that works rain or shine.

Check with your fertilizer supplier now about time and labor-saving weed and feed, with no worry about loss of effectiveness. Follow label directions. Stauffer Chemical Company, Agricultural Chemical Division, Westport, CT 06881.

Dispersal sale

Emy has the potential to become a fourth generation excellent and a fourth generation over 1000 F. Her buyer Howard Hammond III, Concord Ridge Farm of Corry, was represented by Jay Gooch of Coudersport. Emy was consigned by William Lasher and family, Catskill, N.Y. Emy freshened in January, and her heifer calf, sired by Persuader, sold immediately after her for $3700.

The Garden Spot Sale had a sale total of $87,250, with a sale average of $1780 for the 49 head sold. Top-selling animal was a heifer, Skyline Valiant Marilyn, at $4200. Her dam, Maple-Lawn Elevation was rated as VG,88-5yr. She was born March 9, 1981 and was bred Sept. 82 to Sexation. Marilyn was consigned by Nelson Meyers of Greencastle. Her buyer, Harold Whittier, Whittier Farms, of Sutton, Mass, is well-known as a Holstein breeder. Whittier is the breeder of Whittier Farms Apollo Rocket, sold to ABC.

The sale total for all three sales combined was $219,350, with a sale average of $2109 for the 104 head sold.

The Sunny-Craft sale was a complete dispersal of Stauffer's herd. Barbara said it seemed it was the right time for them to sell, thinking that they were at a break-even point. They had to decide to get bigger or sell now. After the sale, the Stauffers plan to review their economic situation and decide where to go from there. Barbara expressed an interest in returning to dairy farming some time in the future. In the meantime, they plan to plant crops this spring on the farm they lease from Clarence Stauffer, Earl's father. They also raise 26,000 broilers, for contract five times per year. Stauffer who was elected as president of the Pennsylvania Young Farmers Association in 1981, has been very active in YF activities throughout the state.

Pennfield honors top dairy operations

SMOKETOWN — The induction of 15 top dairymen into the President's Club highlighted the 12th annual Pennfield Dairy Awards program held Wednesday at the Good 'N Plenty Restaurant.

"The President's Club is a new award classification this year," explains Don Mahlandt, Manager, Dairy Feeds, Pennfield, "and recognizes those dairy operations which have shown outstanding achievements during the past year."

Qualifications for the President's Club include a herd average of 20,000 lbs. of milk or 700 lbs of butterfat.

In all, 15 dairy operations were honored with the President's Club Award. Presentations were made by E. O. Horn Jr., Pennfield President.

The President's Club Award recipients include:

–Ray-MC Farm, Ray McMillen, Loysville, 22,275 lbs. of milk and 818 lbs. of fat.

–Stolcliff Farms, John S. Stoltzfus, Atglen, 20,160 lbs. of milk and 794 fat.

–G. Hershey Hostetter, Gap, 20,897 lbs. milk and 774 fat.

–Paul J. King, Cochranville, 21,130 lbs. of milk and 766 fat.

–Pep-L-Lea, Robert and Jane Pepple, Oxford, 19,313 lbs. milk and 760 fat.

–Friskyacres, George P. Lamborn, Nottingham, 20,788 lbs. milk and 736 fat.

–Maple Lawn Farms, Inc., C. E. Iager, Fulton, Md., 20,001 lbs. milk and 733 fat.

–Restful Acres, Frank Graybill, Hershey, 20,679. lbs. milk and 733 fat.

–Springarden Farm, Norman L. Hershey, Gordonville, 20,426 lbs. milk and 731 fat.

–Daland Farms, Harold Davis, Huntingdon, 19,072 lbs. milk and 715 fat.

–FLR Farm, Frank E. Rice, Blain, 18,977 lbs. milk and 703 fat.

–Kingstead Farms, Leslie King and Sons, Damascus, Md., 18,459 lbs. milk and 702 fat.

–Myerose Farm, Kenneth D. Myer, Elizabethtown, 17,846 milk and 701 fat.

–Sunday's Vallilea Farms, Jack K. Sunday, Carlisle, 20,140 lbs. milkk and 701 fat.

–Robert Gochenaur Jr., Lancaster, 20,289 lbs. milk and 663 fat. fat.

Among the largest increases in production shown among the winners were 2,290 lbs. milk and 61 fat for McMillen; 3,688 lbs. milk and 96 lbs. fat for Graybill; 2,762 lbs. milk and 78 lbs. fat for Hershey; and 2,266 lbs. milk and 94 lbs. fat for Myer.

Other awards included:

Operators of 52 Holstein herds received awards for attaining 17,000 lbs. of milk or 625 lbs. of fat.

Operators of 15 Colored Breed herds were similarly honored. Qualifications included 13,500 lbs. milk for Brown Swiss, 11,500 lbs. milk for Guernsey, 11,000 lbs. milk for Jersey or 600 lbs. fat for each.

Operators of herds with increases of at least 1,000 lbs. of milk or 50 lbs. of fat were honored. There were 10.

A total of 157 awards were made in the Holstein breed for individual cow records of at least 900 lbs. of fat in 305 days maximum.

In the colored breeds, a total of 25 cows were honored for records of 750 lbs. of fat in 305 days.

more than 50,000 youths with some of these same members making up the enrollment of individual and family resource projects: 43,730 members.

Though the program was started and still remains as the youth phase of the Cooperative Extension Service, 15 percent of its members derive from central city areas. Other enrollment percentages include: rural non-farm, 50 percent; farm, 16 percent; towns, 13 percent; and suburbs, 6 percent.

Sixty-eight percent of the youths involved in 4-H are between the ages of 8 and 12.

According to Gov. Thornburgh, "4-H provides our youth with the knowledge and skills that will assist them in future careers, and gives them the opportunity to expand their horizons beyond local communities through involvement in state, national and international programs that promote understanding and goodwill.

"Through activities in our communities, Pennsylvania 4-H is also helping advance important efforts in community development, energy conservation, nutrition, farm practices and the wise use of our natural resources," he added.

Here in Lancaster County, enrollment totals 4,556, second only to Luzerne County with 4,968 members.

According to Donna Lucidi, Lancaster County 4-H Extension agent, the Red Rose County has one of the largest beef and swine programs in the state. More than 450 volunteer adult leaders command the 136 clubs in Lancaster County with the help of 30 teen leaders.

Four-H's week-long celebration will endeavor to prove what Lancaster Countians already know — "4-H is a place to belong."

Top bid totals $2300 at calf sale

BY JOYCE BUPP

YORK — An Arlinda Chief yearling heifer topped the Adams-York Calfarama sale held Tuesday evening at the York Fairgrounds with buyers Robert and Melva Smith winning out with the top bid of $2,300.

Gallantry Chief Scarlet, consigned by James and Holly McCaffree, Delta, is from a GP-83 Evelation dam with records over 20,000 milk and 800 fat. Second dam is a Very Good Kingstead Ivanhoe daughter.

The Smiths, of Marrob Farm, Tobaccoville, N. C. also took home the second high seller, consigned by Weim-Sharr Farm of New Oxford.

Weim-Sharr Sexation Sally, an October calf by Sexation, brought $2,025. Her Very Good dam is Elevation with a seven-year record of 22,650 milk and 861 fat. Second dam is a VG-86 Kingpin and the third dam is Excellent.

Timothy Hoke and John Barnes of Saltville, Virginia, were successful bidders on the third high selling heifer, consigned by Beshore Farms, New Cumberland.

A June-born calf by Sexation, Beshore & Sexation Ivory brought $1,825 and is from a Glendall dam, with an Ivanhoe Star granddam. Both nearest dams are scored VG-87.

A total of 50 calves and heifers went through the ring of the Calfarama consignment sale, averaging $804.60. It was the fifth sale of the Calfarama series, sponsored jointly by the Holstein clubs of Adams and York counties.

Special presentations of cheese gifts went to the top seller and buyer, as well as to sale managers Doty and Helen Remsburg of Jefferson, Md., and a fifth-year anniversary celebration party climaxed the annual sale.

Calfarama co-chairman Stanley Weimer presented a thank-you gift box of cheeses to sale managers Helen and Doty Remsburg, in appreciation for the sales firm's five years of assisting with the Adams-York consignment auction.

Potato stocks up 40 percent

HARRISBURG — Total stocks of potatoes stored in Pennsylvania on March 1 were 2,100,000 hundredweight (cwt.), 40 percent more than a year ago, according to the Pennsylvania Crop Reporting Service. March 1 potato stocks represented 36 percent of production compared with 29 percent a year ago.

March 1 potato stocks are estimated at 117 million cwt. for the 15 major fall producing states. This is up five percent from last March 1 and 20 percent above two years ago. The March 1 stocks accounted for 40 percent of production in these 15 states compared with 39 percent a year ago.

Potatoes processed to March 1 in eight major processing states totaled 71.1 million cwt., four percent less than in the same period a year earlier. Processing during February totaled 11.7 million cwt. compared with 11.8 million cwt. for February 1982.

Pork Producer seminar

LANCASTER — The Progressive Pork Producers Seminar, sponsored by the Pennsylvania Pork Producers Council in cooperation with Penn State Extension Service, will be held Thursday at the Lancaster Farm and Home Center.

Developing an Economical Herd Health Program will be the theme of this year's seminar. The session will include Tom Stein, D.V.M. of the University of Minnesota, discussing "Strategies for Developing Herd Health Programs" and "Evaluating Herd Health Programs." John P. Hurtgen, D.V.M., Ph.D., of New Freedom, will present information about "Reproductive Problems - Approach to Swine Herd Problems" to participants. Robert Graybill, D.V.M., Lancaster, will share his observations on "Common Problems on Pennsylvania Hog Farms" with those attending. The subject of "Diarrheal Diseases in Hogs" will be covered by Bruce Beachnau, D.V.M. from the Upjohn Company, Kalamazoo, Michigan.

This program is designed for swine producers and allied industry personnel Pre-registration is requested. The cost of this program will be $20 per farm and $30 per allied industry. This price includes one lunch, but additional lunches are available for $5 each if more than one person per firm is attending. Anyone who desires more information on this program or pre-registration forms should contact their local County Agent or Matt Parson, Penn State Extension Swine Specialist at 814-863-3671.

Soils experts to visit U. of Del.

NEWARK, Del. — University of Delaware students of soil chemistry and fertility have an unusual opportunity to work with leading experts in the field this semester. College of agricultural Sciences faculty members Donald Sparks and J. Thomas Sims have invited six internationally prominent soils experts to lecture to their classes, discuss research problems, and present formal seminars to the university community and public at large. The visits are scheduled throughout the spring semester.

Malcolm Sumner, professor of soil fertility at the University of Georgia, and Pa Ho Hsu, professor of soil chemistry at Rutgers University, will each spend a day at Delaware under a grant from the university's Center for Teaching Effectiveness. Sumner, a native of south Africa, has researched the problems of acid soil infertility and has been an agricultural consultant to Israel, New Zealand, and Tunisia. Hsu, a native of Taiwan, has worked to improve crop production in tropical areas where soil content is high in aluminum and iron.

The other four guest lecturers, whose visits are sponsored by the university's Title XII office, are A.W. Taylor, chief of the Soil Nitrogen and Environmental Chemistry Laboratory at the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Beltsville Agricultural Research Center; E.J. Kamprath, distinguished professor of soil fertility and chemistry at North Carolina State University; R.E. Simonson, of the U.S. Department of Agriculture's soil survey staff; and P.M. Huang, professor of soil chemistry at the University of Saskatchewan.

All of the visiting experts will discuss the nature and extent of agricultural problems worldwide, and will direct students toward areas of research that will facilitate solutions.

Stored corn goes bad in bins all across Iowa

By JERRY PERKINS
Register Agribusiness Writer

Corn, which is being stored on Iowa farms in record quantities, is sprouting and molding in bins across the state, Iowa State Extension officials say.

In his 25 years with the extension service, Larry Van Fossen says he has never had as many calls in January about grain going bad as he has had this month.

"The contacts I'm getting this January (about bad grain) I usually don't have until April," Van Fossen said. "In 25 years I've never had the complaints from the field or reports from county extension offices that I've had this year."

Sorrel Brown, crop production specialist for the Des Moines area extension office, said she's had reports that corn has sprouted in some central Iowa bins. Grain at that stage is lost, she said.

Three-quarters of the 1.9 billion bushels of corn on hand in Iowa is stored on farms, according to the latest figures from the U.S. Department of Agriculture. Corn stored under the government's reserve and loan programs account for 556 million bushels of that.

Since the government plans to give most of that corn to farmers who idle corn ground next year under the payment-in-kind program, the condition of corn in the bin is more crucial than ever. To be acceptable to the government for crop swap, corn must be in good condition.

Van Fossen and Brown said this year's problems with stored grain are occurring because wet weather in the spring delayed planting and many farmers were forced to harvest corn with a higher moisture content than usual.

In western Iowa, some farmers reported harvesting corn with moisture contents of 32 to 36 percent, compared with the usual 22 to 24 percent. Adding to the problem were record propane prices last fall, which might have influenced some farmers to skimp on drying their corn or to use low-temperature, natural-air drying.

Brown and Van Fossen say low-temperature drying works, but only if the corn is drier than 22 percent. "Low-temperature drying is an excellent system — if it's managed properly," Van Fossen said. "But it's a lousy system if the corn is wetter than about 22 percent."

Added Brown: "There's no way low-temperature drying can bring corn down to (the 15 or 13 percent needed for one- and three-year storage, respectively) when it's harvested at 32 to 36 percent. We're talking about leaving the fan on for six to eight weeks. Most farmers think three to four weeks sounds like a long time."

The only way to know if grain is keeping well is to climb into the bin and check it, Brown and Van Fossen say. They recommend checking grain every two weeks in the winter and weekly in warm weather.

By feeling the surface of the grain, Brown says, farmers can check for warmth or crusting — conditions which indicate "hot spots" are developing.

The temperature of the grain should be taken and recorded. Every time there is a four- or five-degree temperature rise, the grain should be checked again in three or four days. If the temperature has climbed that much again, the fan should be run, Brown said.

Whenever the fan is turned on, the air coming out of the bin should be checked for musty or moldy odors, Brown and Van Fossen say. If the air smells moldy or musty, the grain should be aerated more. If the grain smells sour, it is too late. The grain is spoiled, and should be moved out, according to Brown.

Moving the grain might be a big job, Van Fossen said, "But farmers have to realize it's better to move the corn, or even sell it at this lousy price, than to let it spoil and lose more."

Said Brown: "If they have a 3,000-bushel bin full of corn, that adds up to over $6,000 worth of corn. I tell them to imagine that they've got that bin full of 10- and 20-dollar bills totaling $6,000. Then I ask them how often they would check the bin if they had that money in there. Everybody says they'd be out there every day."

Grain drying quality

Shivvers automatic continous flow grain drying systems eliminate the over-drying often caused by slow stirring devices. The Shivvers' secret is the tapered sweep auger rotates around the drying bin, removing even layers of dried grain, assuring the removal of uniformly dried grain. For a better way to dry grain, see your Shivvers dealer.

The Shivvers Challenge Will Make You A Believer

SHIVVERS

Spoiled Grain is Not Necessary

Many farmers are using a Shivvers Dryer ahead of a natural air or low temperature dryer. This reduces the drying time to days instead of weeks. It dries the grain to a safe level before it goes out of condition. Reports published by Michigan State University show that a Shivvers in-bin counter-flow system provides a lower cost per bushel to dry than either the natural air or the low temperature system used alone. The drying equipment built by Shivvers fits in your existing bin and maximizes the use of the equipment you now own.

Del. approves 11 soybean research projects

DOVER, Del. — The Delaware Soybean Board will be providing funds for 11 market development and research projects this year.

The Soybean Board's Chairman, John Hastings, announced that this year the Board continued to place its emphasis upon market development and applied research projects that benefit Delaware producers. Hastings explained that in these times of low soybean prices and high production costs, we need to continue research that lowers our production costs while we are developing marketing opportunities. A total of $59,500 was granted for the projects in this the third year of the Delaware soybean farmers self-help program.

This year's market development and research projects were selected from 18 proposals submitted to the Board. Mr. Hastings said that the Board continued to expand its market development efforts by providing $25,000 towards the American Soybean Association's international programs. As a new research project, the Board has initiated a task force, of Research and Extension personnel, to determine the factors contributing to soybean yields on Delaware farms. Additional research projects range from soybean variety tests to controlling Giant Ragweed problems. Recipients of grants are the American Soybean Association, the Delaware Cooperative Extension Serevice and the Delaware Agricultural Experiment Station.

A listing of the projects funded includes:

Bur-Cucumber Control in Soybeans, Continuation of a Full-time Agronomy Assistant position, Control of Fusarium Blight of Soybean by Use of Resistant Varieties and Seed Treatments, Effect of 2, 4-DB, Nitrogen Fertilization and Irrigation on Starch Reserves in Stem Tissue of Essex and AP-350 Soybeans, Evaluation of Soybean Varieties for No-Till Double Cropping, Factors Contributing to Soybean Yields on Delaware Farms.

Giant Ragwood Control in Soybeans, Identifying Yield-limiting Factors for Soybeans, Market Development, Soybean Variety Performance Tests, Spray Pressure, Volume and Tip Study.

GROUND PLANE WITH HYDRAULIC DRIVE ROTARY AUTOMIZERS

HERE TO STAY IS THE GROUND PLANE AND CDA!

Hundreds of farmers on hundreds of thousands of acres, proved that when most post emergence chemicals (herbicides, insecticides or fungicides) are applied through the Ground Plane, rates may be cut 50% or more. Research workers throughout the U.S.A. agree that Controlled Droplet Application (CDA) provides as good or better control at low volume (1 to 3 gpa) as conventional high volume (20 to 40 gpa) applications.

SPRAY ALL DAY WITH THE GROUND PLANE AND CDA!
Sprayrite pioneered tractor mounted CDA applicators. Sprayrite now offers a CDA System as reliable as your tractor. Hydraulic direct drive Rotary Atomizers promise you all the advantages of CDA with no downtime due to atomizer malfunctions.

Sylvia Cooper

Arena Benefit Sale held jointly by the Pennsylvania Holstein Association and Penn State to promote funds for the new Ag Arena.

She was also a member of the Penn State Dairy Judging Team in 1981 and placed sixth overall at the Eastern States Exposition.

In addition to her knowledge of the dairy industry, Ms. Cooper has a BS degree from Slippery Rock State College in Environmental Science - Land Planning. After completing her course work there, Ms. Cooper was employed by the Environmental Education staff of the Slippery Rock Area School District. The four-member staff set up a complete environmental education program for students from kindergarten to twelfth grade.

Ms. Cooper was chairman of curriculum development and was instrumental in developing a book of lesson plans for teaching environmental education. The book was later distributed to all of the school districts in Butler County. The staff was also responsible for building five Environmental Learning Centers complete with self guiding nature trails, bridges and outdoor amphitheaters.

Ms. Cooper was also employed as an intern by the Butler County Conservation District and was involved in mapping prime agricultural land in Butler County.

Through all her years in the classroom, she has maintained an active interest in the home farm.

"I have bred and still own three animals in the herd," she said, including Winding Trail Happy Dancer a 2E-92 daughter of Harborcrest Happy Crusader with a 365 day record of 27,254 pounds of milk and 921 of fat. Ms. Cooper also has a two-year-old Pete daughter of Dancer and a granddaughter out of Conductor.

"I am very proud of the improvement I've seen in our home herd in the past ten years. Our rolling herd average is now 19,794 pounds of milk and 738 pounds of fat and our BAA is 107.5," she said.

"I am very glad to be here in Lancaster," she said, "and I am particularly looking forward to meeting farmers from this area."

Giant involvement

About 4 million people are involved in U.S. farming. That's more than the combined total of American steel, oil, electronic and airlines industries.

Jim Lake of the National Conservation Tillage Information Center in Ft. Wayne, Indiana joined the second annual Tillage Conference, Tuesday. The Tillage Center offers farmers a telephone reference service, a monthly newsletter and reference material. To contact them, call (219) 422-3373.

Conservation conference

featured a panel of three farmers and one Penn State agronomist, each experienced in conservation tillage. They are John Wiker, Jere Swarr, Kenny Bleacher and H. Grant Troop. Swarr has been involved in planting no-till for only three years, but said he is satisfied with the results. He uses one-third no-till on his 225 acres of corn.

Bleacher reported completing his second year in the Lancaster County 5-acre competition with an average yield of 188.6 bushels per acre.

Wiker, who plants 1000 acres of corn each year in three townships in Lancaster County, said he has 17 years experience with no-till. "I was a little slow in getting into no-till because everyone said you'll have to use more herbicides. But I've never found that to be the case," he reflected.

Troop, a Penn State agronomist, warned the audience that "You can have a serious erosion problem with just sheet erosion," — a loss of soil as thin as a sheet. "Too many farmers think that if they don't have deep gullies, then they don't have problems."

Troop finished his discussion by offering the audience his own definition of conservation: "Getting the most out of the ground within its own limits of producing."

The Tuesday program was sponsored by the Lancaster County Conservation District and the county Extension service.

Ag Week events

Farmers' Association Legislative Conference at the Penn Harris Motor Inn in Camp Hill. That afternoon, Gov. Thornburgh will officially sign an Ag Day proclamation for the Commonwealth.

Across the border, Delaware also will be honoring Ag Day as Governor duPont signs a statement declaring March 18 - 24 as Delaware Agricultural Week.

Locally, a National Agriculture Week television special will be shown, entitled "Who will farm the land?" In Harrisburg, York, Lancaster, and Lebanon, the show will air at noon tomorrow. Residents of the Johnstown and Altoona areas can see the show at 7:30 p.m., Monday.

This television special analyzes the current agricultural situation and examines the difficulties facing young people who want to farm. Find more information on the show in a special story on Page D11.

Counties throughout the Commonwealth have adopted the observance of an Ag Day Baby. This celebration, usually coordinated and presented by Penn's Agri Women, present a fruit basket to the family of the first baby born in their county on Ag Day.

According to the Agriculture Day Foundation, the day will feature hundreds of events, from special events at shopping malls to parades and parties.

More than 23 million people are directly involved in agriculture in the United States from production to grocery stores, from slaughter houses to marketing. But it's the farmers who begin this chain and allow the U.S. to boast that agriculture is the nation's number one industry — assets have surpassed the trillion dollar mark.

Because farmers are so efficient, they are able to feed 226 million Americans and still have enough to feed 144 million people abroad.

No other official day in U.S. history will have as many people celebrating as Ag Day will, because, no doubt, every man, woman and child will take a bite of food sometime on Monday.

Baltimore Holstein Assn. cites top youths

BY JOYCE BUPP
Staff Correspondent

UPPERCO, Md. — Baltimore County's Holstein Association honored youth members during the annual meeting and dinner March 10 at Friendly Farms.

Charles "Bucky" Ehrhard was honored as junior division champion in the fitting and showmanship competition, over reserve place winner Stacey Vansant.

In the senior youth division, Dawn Cole took champion honors, sharing the spotlight with her sister Donna's reserve place win.

Ten certificates for outstanding DHIA individual cow records were split between two of the county's Holstein herds.

Five animals in the F. Lindsay Wilson herd accumulated records ranging between 118,000 and 158,000 pounds of milk. the Wilson herd was high Holstein herd for 1982 on the county's DHIA listing, with 77 cows averaging 18,039 milk, 671 fat.

Hickory Hill Farm took the other five production certificates, with five accumulated records between 127,000 and 182,000 pounds of milk.

A special award went to Raymond Armacost, for his efforts in helping to establish a 4-H advisory council at the state level.

James Hill, state vice-president, spoke briefly, extending an invitation to Holstein breeders to attend the state convention in Garrett County during the last week of March.

Emcee for the evening dinner was Milton G. White III, who finished out his term as president for the county group. Moving into the Holstein leadership position is Wayne Armacost, with Steve Wilson as vice-president. Mabel Wilson will remain as secretary-treasurer, and Clara Swift continues as reporter. Other county Holstein directors are Bobby Prigel, Jr., James Armacost, Donald Ensor, Gary Miller, John Twining and Kenneth E. Rhoten.

ABC elects officers

dairy farmers have responded to several profitable years in the dairy business by over producing. His said he feels that survivors of the '80's will have to get better, not bigger. Farmers will be more interested in cash flow than asset growth.

ABC Operation Manager Harry Roth said that their Linear Mate Program, one of the most accurate type evaluation procedures, has been used on about 20,000 cows. According to Roth, information from this procedure can easily be converted to the herd for future improvement.

Roth said that there is worldwide interest in the genetics of U.S. sires. He said he expects embryo splitting and freezing to increase demand for genetics in world markets.

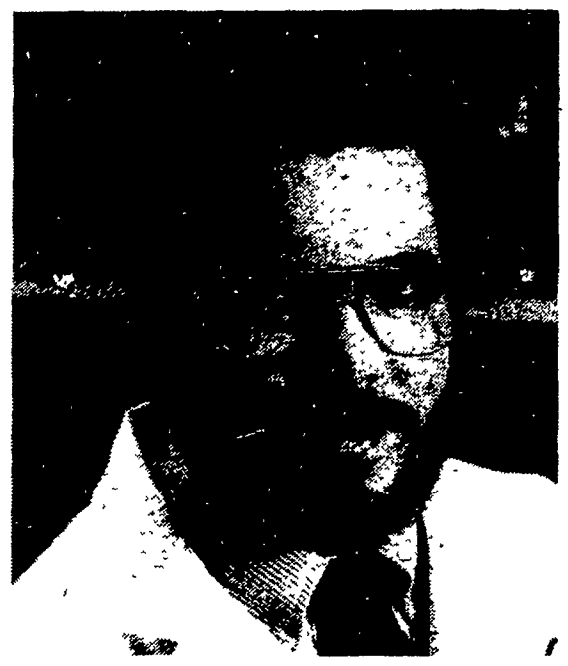
Measuring the Quality and Quantity of Fermentation Bacteria in Silage Inoculants

by Dr. John E. Hill,
Research Microbiologist,
Microbial Genetics Division,
Pioneer Hi-Bred International, Inc.



Two criteria often used in comparing different silage inoculants are (1) the quality or performance capacity of the fermentation bacteria in the product and (2) the quantity or actual numbers of these bacteria. Both these criteria are valid measures; however, each must be carefully used and interpreted.

Labels on most silage inoculant products list the species of bacteria contained in the product. One of the most common of these is Lactobacillus plantarum. However, the species L. plantarum includes a very large number of strains with differing capabilities for producing good silage. And the label may not indicate which of these strains are included in any given product.

An Analogy To Seeds

All strains of soybeans belong to the species Glycine max; all strains of wheat belong to the species Triticum aestivum. But, as soybean and wheat growers know, all strains of G. max and T. aestivum are not the same. Different strains provide different yields, different degrees of resistance and a variety of other desirable or undesirable characteristics.

The same holds true for different strains of L. plantarum. Minute, naturally occurring changes in genetic makeup can result in a strain that is more effective than others in fermenting a wide variety of forages... that is more efficient in production of lactic acid... or that produces by-products which help bind up excess water.

Identifying, isolating and reproducing such strains for inclusion in a silage inoculant requires examining hundreds of strains and conducting thousands of tests. And once a superior strain is identified and isolated, there is no assurance that it will retain the desired properties. A production strain must be tested and retested to ensure that the characteristics for which it was originally selected are maintained... minimizing genetic 'drift.' So inclusion of the same strain in different products does not guarantee comparable product activity. The entire process of producing a silage inoculant requires a skilled and professional research and production team and a large investment in quality control procedures.

Are Numbers Significant?

Silage inoculants are also compared on the basis of the number of viable organisms per gram. In making such comparisons, it is necessary to know whether this figure refers to the bacterial count at the time the product was produced or at the time it is sold and used.

The number of viable bacteria in any inoculant product will be reduced as storage time is extended. Whether or not this reduction is gradual or rapid will depend largely on how the product was originally produced and how it is handled and stored prior to use.

The technology and methods used in drying, formulating and packaging the product can have a significant impact on how long the bacteria in it will remain viable. Viability can also be adversely affected if the product is exposed to excessive temperature or moisture during the course of distribution, handling and storage.

Pioneer® brand 1177 silage inoculant tests well against both quality and quantity criteria. 1177 is the product of an ongoing, intensive research effort. This effort is aimed at isolating and reproducing those strains of L. plantarum which have been identified as being most effective for silage making for a wide range of crops and conditions. Strict quality controls and ongoing testing programs minimize the chance of genetic 'drift' or change in the strains which go into 1177.

1177 is produced using a unique drying method which assures that fermentation bacteria will be alive and ready to reproduce when added to silage. 1177 is distributed, handled and stored through the same channels and with the same care as Pioneer® brand seeds. This minimizes any chance of damage to the product. And supplies of 1177 are held in the field for no more than one year to assure good bacterial activity.

Ayrshire herd proves dreams do come true

By Sally Bair
Staff Correspondent

Ann Young believes in dreaming dreams and then working hard to make them come true. In fact, she says candidly, "Dream what you want. There are not enough dreams today."

Her dream began as a youngster and is realized today in the herd of outstanding Ayrshire cattle she has built by sheer hard work. "From the time I was ten years old I wanted to be a farmer," she recalls. "My father had Ayrshires and I kept all his records. I was the only one in the family that liked cows."

From a meager beginning following graduation from high school "scared to death," Ann now owns, with her husband J. Nelson, Timberlawn Farm in Chester County, well known for its Ayrshire breeding stock.

She points out, "I started raising heifers when I was about 12, and I paid for every one. I never took any money from my family." She got the money for that important first heifer by raising chickens and saving the egg money.

She laughs as she recalls that she was not allowed to have a calf as a 4-H project despite the fact that she took clothing and cooking projects. "My mother wanted me to be anything but a farmer," she says.

Characteristically that did not deter Ann. After graduation she worked for her father for "thirds" one year, then struck out on her own, renting a barn and pasture near Chadds Ford, and borrowing money to purchase 10 heifers. From there she has increased her herd size to 94 milkers and about 120 heifers.

When she married Nelson "in 1946 or 47" it as a good partnership because with his fondness for crops and hers for cows, all the work on the farm got done. Of course, there is plenty of sharing, and Ann says with pride that she bales all the hay. Their five children, four girls and a boy, all helped on the farm as they grew up. Son Charles is now farming with the Youngs and it is his wife Debbie who helps Ann with the milking chores. All the girls took an interest, Ann says, and one is now on an Ayrshire farm in Iowa.

She says wistfully, "A farm needs everybody. It takes everybody to make it work."

Ann today is a very independent person, and was liberated before her time. After attending Catholic School in ninth grade, her family moved and was near Unionville schools which had ag classes. Of course, Ann wanted very much to be in those classes, but in 1940 that was unheard of. "The ag teacher went to the school board 14 times before they let me in. I loved every minute of it and had two wonderful teachers, Bob Struble, and John Corman."

How did the boys react to a girl in their classes? "They respected me and I respected them," Ann replies. "I got along with the boys."

Her enthusiasn for Ayrshires stems from her father's herd, and she says he established it in response to the small dairy to which he shipped which wanted "baby milk." With its very small fat globules, Ayrshire milk is very easily digested.

One primary reason Ann likes Ayrshires is simply their robust health. She says, "Ayrshires are very hardy, and they are very good at using roughage. Calves are very easy to raise. They don't have big calfs like Holsteins, and we don't lose them at birth."

The one disadvantage which people associate with Ayrshires, Ann says, is nervousness, but adds, "I think nervousness is past. We have no trouble with that."

A member of the National Ayrshire Breeders Association since 1942, Ann has been active in its activities. She is currently a director and is up for re-election at their April national meeting, and she served a tern in 1971-72. She is also a director for the Pennsylvania Ayrshire Association and is active with the Southeastern Pennsylvania group.

She says, "I enjoy the Ayrshire Fraternity. We always have lots of guests dropping in and I enjoy that part. We have a common bond."

Ann explains that the first Ayrshire cattle came to this country when shipowners carried them along to provide fresh milk for the arduous Atlantic crossing. The origin of the breed is County Ayr in Scotland, where, she says, "Every farm has them."

Ann Young is proud of the registered Ayrshire cattle at Timberlawn Farm which she owns with husband J. Nelson. "All I ever lived for a was a good herd of Ayrshires," Ann states, recalling that she wanted to be a farmer from the time she was 10 years old. She purchased her first heifer at age 12.

The highest concentration of Ayrshire cattle is in northern England and she says 88 percent of the cattle in Finland are Ayrshires. They can also be found in countries like Russia and Czechoslovakia.

The European Ayrshires resemble the American strain except that in Scotland, "They have a shorter leg. Ours are taller, but I think that's partly environment. Those cattle live on pasture and hay and receive no grain," Ann states.

Optimistic about the breed's future, Ann says, "The numbers are up. A lot of young folks are interested in Ayrshires. They choose Ayrshires over Holsteins because the Holstein association is so big. They like to get in where they feel a part of it."

And, of course if protein testing becomes a reality, as Ann feels it will, Ayrshires will have a definite advantage. "They give us good protein, and you can sell protein; you can't sell fat."

In Pennsylvania, Ayrshire breeders with cattle to sell are overstocked, but in some parts of the country it is difficult to find large numbers of Ayrshires for sale. Ann says she tries to consign animals to every sale.

A firm believer in DHIA and DHIR, Ann notes, "If you want to know what you're doing, you use those records."

Her breeding program is largely AI, with her husband doing the breeding. She says, "I buy semen wherever I can, from Canada and everywhere. What I like about AI is that you plan things. It gives you a choice. Before AI you looked and hoped, but that's all. You used one bull it was a game of chance. That has ruined more dairymen than anything else."

The Lippitt Roger bull which she purchased in 1968 had a big influence on the Timberlawn herd. Ann says, "He came from Rhode Island with purely Scottish breeding. He was the first bull who really helped with type, production and disposition. He gave us size and was a big influence. I used his sons."

Ann has a lot of pride in families she has bred and appreciates it when an outsider recognizes the strong influence on her herd.

One cow of whom they are particularly proud is Timberlawn Hi White Rose II, from the Rose family. She has a record of 18,234 milk, 3.8 test and 702 fat.

Relaxation for Ann means looking through records or reading material pertaining to Ayrshire cattle. Currently a director for the National Ayrshire Breeders Association, Ann is up for re-election at the Association's annual meeting in April. "I enjoy the Ayrshire fraternity. We have a common bond," she says.

About the future of her herd, Ann says. "I hope I can always be improving. I'm always looking for better sires. If I can hold onto what we have, I'll be happy. Things nicked just right, and I hope to hold it. If you don't breed just right, you can lose it."

Ann is candid about the rough days she lived through establishing her herd and farm, and suggests that one problem with young people entering farming today is the heavy debt load they are encouraged to take on. "You didn't but anything if you couldn't pay for it when I was going into business," she says. She feels credit institutions and the extension services must share the blame for encouraging heavy debt.

The first farm she purchased was her grandfather's farm near West Chester, but they were forced to move there when "houses moved in" and all the land they rented became unavailable. From there they moved to London Grove, about five miles from their present farm which is just off Route 1 in Chester County. "It took us about a year to move here," Ann says with a laugh.

The Young's farm is an historic one, having been purchased in 1868 as the Eastern Experimental Farm, a fore runner of Penn State. The farm had nurseries, greenhouses, ice ponds and ice houses, pig pens, chickens and a variety of other farm-relative enterprises. A grove of trees remains which has "every kind of tree you can name," Ann says, including many which were grafted and have two kinds on one trunk. There's a ginkgo tree on the farm that's over 100 years old.

Ann is also in possession of the original William Penn Deed for thousands of acres of land in the area, including their present farm. It dates from 1694. The newest part of the farm home was built in 1840.

So far, the farm remains isolated, despite its nearness to Route 1, but Ann notes, "The houses are starting to close in on us. They are within sight of the barn." When the bypass went through it reduced their acreage from 220 to 160, and they rent additional land for a total of about 400 acres, raising most of their own crops.

It's not hard to believe Ann when she says she has little time for additional activities. She used to be active in local fairs, and served on their dairy committees, but has given up showing because, "We don't have enough help and it is very time consuming." Her son shows some animals at Unionville Fair and her grandchildren show.

She is an avid stamp collector - a hobby started in her youth - and she does a lot of corresponding with friends across the United States and abroad. But when she has a few spare minutes she says, "I like to scour records. That's fun. It's more fun than a movie. It is never dull."

Two years ago Ann discovered a fire in her barn which could have been disastrous. By carrying out burning bales and cutting out burning beams, the barn was saved, something for which Ann will always be grateful.

"All I ever lived for was to have a good herd of Ayrshires. My husband always called me a dreamer, saying I was on a dream and he couldn't get me off. But my dad was a dreamer so I guess it comes naturally."

For Ann, the dreaming paid off, and now she is living that dream, caring for her outstanding herd of Ayrshires.

These cattle make a pretty picture on the pasture at Timberlawn Farm. Ann and her husband have developed this well-known herd of registered Ayrshires.

Warwick YF session Monday

LITITZ — The Warwick Young Farmers will be holding a Tractor and Farm Machinery maintenance program on Monday. The program will be held at the Warwick High School Ag Shop at 7 p.m.

A tractor maintenance demonstration will be given by John Bucher, of Shotzberger's John Deere in Elm. Bucher will cover the servicing of fuel filters, air cleaners, cooling and hydraulic systems. Also present will be Duane Soper of New Holland Machine. Soper who is being sponsored by Roy Brubaker Equipment of Lititz, will be covering the servicing of balers, mowers, and haybines.

All area farmers are welcome to attend.

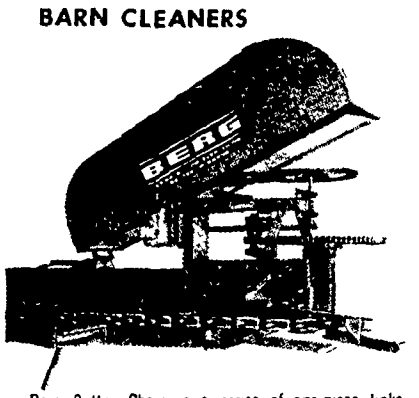
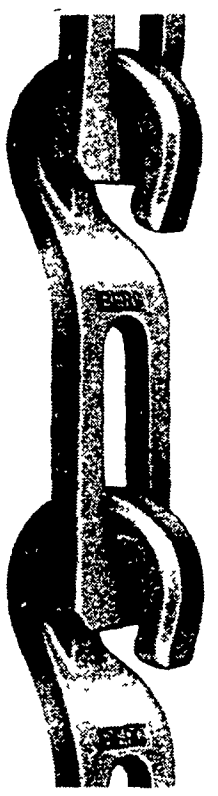
749 FEWER PARTS

A 100-FOOT LENGTH OF BERG GUTTER CHAIN HAS 749 FEWER PARTS THAN MOST OTHER BARN CLEANERS





Berg Gutter Chain is a series of one piece links hooked end to end, which makes it easy to remove links and eliminates the need for all those pins, rivets and bolts The heavy concentration of metal in the hooks and at the pull points gives the Berg Chain Link more pull strength than ordinary links The links are 7½-inches long, 2¼ inches wide and ½ inch thick and weigh over two pounds Each link is forged from special alloy forging steel in a single piece No worry about corrosion

Ida Risser

The Pa. Farm Museum of Landis Valley is located just a few miles from our dairy farm. Many years ago, before the state acquired the Museum, Grandfather Shreiner took me to visit George and Henry Landis. They started the collection of objects which were related to farm like before 1900. Their home was crowded with artifacts and with cats - they were everywhere.

The Farm Museum has now grown to include many restored historic buildings and new exhibit facilities. Among these are farm buildings, a country store, a firehouse, pottery and print shops, plus a restored 1890 schoolhouse. Craft Days are held during the fall and they help to bring history alive for the visitor.

They also hold a series of craft classes during the year. These include many almost forgotten arts. Some classes are tinsmithing, splint basketry, fraktur, rye straw basketry, counted thread sampler design, patchwork quilting and rug braiding.

It is this last mentioned class that I enrolled in this month. There are 17 women and 1 man who spend a few hours each week under a very able teacher. Our first project was a chair pad. It is a pleasure to learn the proper way to make one - not a stitch shows anyone, and it is completely reversible. This has caused me to look more carefully at the chair pads and rugs that I've purchased at sales over the years.

My problem is finding used wool of the same weight and with pleasing colors to use together. It certainly takes time to rip apart dresses, slacks, skirts and coats. However, I'm quite pleased with the results so far. Whether or not I'll continue this work next winter remains to be seen.

Spring's favorites and yours

When it's two days before March 21, and the sun is shining and the air is warm, it's hard to think of anything but spring's swift approach.

Household chores and barn work must be tolerated and finished before emerging into the warm outdoors. Cooking, especially, becomes a dreaded task instead of the joy that it should be.

We have included recipes here that are favorites around springtime because of their ingredients, ease of preparation or delicious, cool taste. Let these recipes put the feeling of spring into your cooking and your kitchen.

You may be tired of making all those cheeseburgers, but don't stop making them. Instead, put them in a casserole! This easy recipe is great for spring fever.

QUICK CHEESEBURGER CASSEROLE

8 slices day-old bread, toasted
1 lb. ground beef
1/2 c. chopped onion
1/4 c. chopped celery
1/3 c. catsup
4 t. Dijon-style mustard
1 t. salt
4 slices Cheddar cheese, cut into triangles
1 c. milk
1 egg, beaten
1/4 t. dry mustard
1/8 t. pepper

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Butter both sides of toast; set aside. Cook beef, onion and celery in skillet over medium heat until beef is browned and crumbly; drain off excess fat. Stir in catsup, mustard and salt. Layer 4 slices toast, half of the ground beef mixture and 4 triangles of cheese in a buttered 8-inch square baking dish. Repeat layers, omitting top layer of cheese. Combine milk, egg, dry mustard and pepper. Pour over casserole. Bake until hot and bubbly, about 35 minutes. Remove from oven and place remaining cheese on top. Let stand 5 minutes to allow cheese to melt.

QUESTION — Does anyone remember the self-filled cupcakes? They were chocolate cupcakes with a cream cheese filling including chocolate chips. Can anyone help me?

L.M. Burkholder
Ephrata, Pa.

ANSWER — For L.M. Burkholder's request, above, here is a recipe we included in our February 26 issue. Although it is not a cream cheese-filled cupcake, a cream cheese mixture is poured over the cupcake batter, and chocolate bits are added.

Cream Cheese Chocolate Cake

Cream Cheese Mixture:

1 egg
8 oz. cream cheese
⅓ c. sugar
dash of salt

Mix and put aside until you make cake mixture. Beat Well.

Cake Mixture:

3 c. flour
2 c. sugar
½ c. cocoa
¾ c. lard
2 T. vinegar
1 c. cold water
2 t. baking soda
½ t. salt
2 t. vanilla
1 c. hot coffee

Mix together in a large bowl. Fill cupcake papers half full with cake mixture. Top with 1 t. cheese mixture and a few chocolate chips. Bake at 350 for 15 to 20 minutes.

CAREFREE COBBLER

1 lb. cut-up rhubarb
1 c. sugar
1/4 c. water
1 c. all-purpose flour
2 T. sugar
1 1/2 t. baking powder
1/4 t. salt
2 T. butter
1/2 c. milk
2 c. sliced strawberries

(Turn to Page B-8)

Dissolve gelatin in boiling water; add cold water. Chill until almost set. Add yogurt and orange peel; whip with electric or rotary beater until blended. Pour into oiled 4 1/2 c. ring mold. Chill until firm. Unmold on serving platter. Serve with combined fruit and coconut. Garnish with mint, if desired.

Mrs. Jonas Smith, Cockeysville

CREAMY APPLE SLAW

1 T. white vinegar
2 t. fresh lemon juice
1 t. sugar
1/4 t. prepared mustard
dash of salt
3/4 c. dairy sour cream
3 c. shredded cabbage
2 c. cubed apples, dipped in lemon juice
1/4 c. grated carrot
3 T. finely chopped celery

Blend vinegar, lemon juice, sugar, mustard and salt. Fold in sour cream. Cover and chill. When ready to serve, toss cabbage, apples, carrot and celery together; add dressing and toss.

American Dairy Association

HEAVENLY FRUIT AMBROSIA

1 pkg. orange flavor gelatin
2 c. boiling water
1 1/4 c. cold water
1 c. vanilla yogurt
1 1/2 t. grated orange peel
1 can mandarin oranges, drained
1 c. grapefruit sections, drained
1 banana, sliced
2 T. coconut
fresh mint

This molded salad is as beautiful as it is delicious and ideal for company. Grated carrots tint the gelatin a beautiful shade of orange above a snowy cream cheese base.

Spring's favorites

2 T. water
1 T. cornstarch
1 t. fresh lemon juice
sweetened whipped cream

Combine rhubarb, 1 c. sugar and 1/4 c. water in an electric frypan or large skillet with cover. Cook, covered, until tender, about 25 minutes.

Meanwhile, combine flour, 2 T. sugar, baking powder and salt in a large mixing bowl. Cut in 2 T. butter until mixture resembles coarse crumbs.

Add milk all at once; stir with a fork until dough clings together; set aside. Stir strawberries and 3 T. butter into cooked rhubarb. Combine 2 T. water, cornstarch and lemon juice until smooth; stir into rhubarb-strawberry mixture.

Bring mixture to simmering, stirring constantly. Drop biscuits by rounded tablespoonsful onto simmering fruit mixture; cover and cook until dough is thoroughly baked, about 15 minutes. Serve warm, topped with sweetened whipped cream.

CABBAGE PINEAPPLE SLAW

Combine:
3 c. shredded crisp cabbage
8 oz. can pineapple pieces, drained
1 c. diced apple
1/2 c. chopped celery
1/4 c. light raisins

Toss with 1/2 c. mayonnaise until well coated.

Serve in lettuce-lined bowl.

Garnish with apple wedge.

Mrs. Charles Biehl, Mertztown

RHUBARB BARS

Crust:
2 c. flour
3/4 c. powdered sugar

Filling:
4 eggs
2 c. sugar
1/2 c. flour
1/2 t. salt
4 c. diced rhubarb

Crust: Combine flour and sugar. Cut in butter till crumbs. Press into jelly roll pan. Bake at 350 degrees for 15 minutes. While baking, prepare filling.

Filling: blend eggs, sugar, flour and salt till smooth. Fold in rhubarb. Spread over hot crust. Bake for 40 to 50 minutes at 350 degrees till lightly browned. Cool. Cut.

Beth Mearkle, Royersford

WALNUT-CARROT SALAD

6-oz. pkg. lemon flavor gelatin
3 1/2 c. hot water
3 T. lemon juice
1/4 t. salt
2 c. grated carrots
1/2 c. sliced pimiento-stuffed green olives
1 1/3 c. chopped toasted walnuts
2 three-oz. pkg. cream cheese, softened

Dissolve gelatin in hot water; stir in lemon juice and salt. Chill until mixture thickens slightly. Fold in carrots, olives and walnuts; halfway fill a 6½-cup mold and set mold in a bowl of ice water. Beat cream cheese well and gradually blend in remaining gelatin mixture. Spoon over the clear layer to fill mold. Chill for several hours or overnight before unmolding.

State beef cook-off set for June

HARRISBURG — Gather up your exciting beef cookery creations for the Pennsylvania Beef Cook-Off — they could win you big money and a trip to national cook-off competition.

To enter, send three typed copies of your best beef recipe (using only chuck, round, rump, fresh brisket, plate or ground beef) to: Mary Wilson, Chairman, Pa. Beef Cook-off, 862 Webster Drive, State College, PA 16801. Include your name, address, phone number and a brief statement about the origin of your recipe.

Be sure to enter your recipe soon. The deadline for entry is May 1.

Ten contestants will be chosen to compete at the Pennsylvania Beef Cook-Off on June 20 at the Trinity Area High Schol, Shiremanstown, Cumberland County. First prize is $125; second prize is $75; third and fourth prizes, $50. The first place winner will represent Pennsylvania at the National Beef Cook-Off, Sept. 19-21, in Bismarck, North Dakota. Prizes at the national level include a first prize of $5,000; a $2,500 second prize; a $1,000 third prize and five honorable mentions at $300 each.

All recipes must contain a minumum of two pounds and not more than five pounds of beef. Meat used must be exclusively beef. Cooking time cannot exceed four hours. The recipe must be specific, with no use of brand names and must state the number of servings and approximate preparation time. All entries become the property of the Pennsylvania Beef Council.

Contestants must be 18 years or older, with non-professional food status. Any person who has owned one or more head of beef or dairy cattle (or whose immediate family - husband, wife or children - has owned cattle) in the 12 months preceding Oct. 1, 1983 is ineligible.

Recipes will be judged according to taste, ease of preparation and practicality, originality, and appearance.

The Pennsylvania Beef Cook-Off is sponsored by the Pennsylvania Beef Council in cooperation with the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture.

Contaminated clothes need special care

UNIVERSITY PARK — The Spring spraying season's just ahead. Clothes contaminated by pesticides or other poisons, according to Pamela Cutright, Extension clothing and textiles specialist at Penn State can become contaminated with the residue from drift or spills.

After using pesticides, remove all clothes worn and immediately place them in a plastic container. Don't throw them over the back of a chair or dump them into the family laundry pile. Put them in a bag with a tie closing, or in a bucket with a lid, until you are ready to launder them. Take a shower, shampoo, and scrub well.

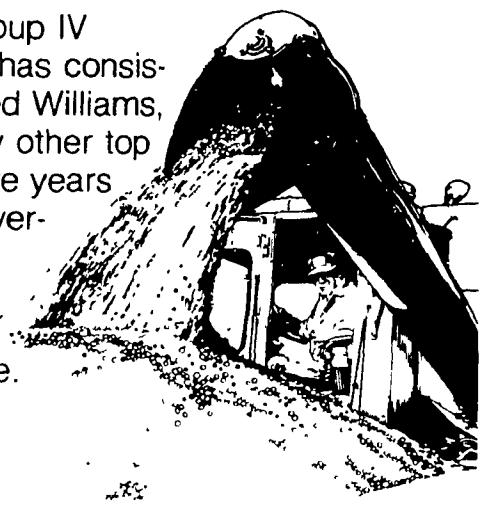
As soon as you are ready to wash the toxic clothes, wash them separately. It is important that they do not come in contact with other clothes because pesticide residue may be redeposited on other garments. Always check the pesticide label and garment label for specific laundering and handling instructions.

Then, to launder contaminated clothing, use a normal or full load water level, depending on the number of clothing items. Wash with a heavy-duty phosphate-based detergent and use the amount recommended on the label. Set your machine on a long washing time, the same you would use for heavily soiled garments. Do not overload the washing machine. The point is to wash the contaminants out, not just move them about.

After removing the garments from your washing machine, clean the machine by running it a second time empty, but with detergent. For added protection, wipe out the tub, using isopropyl alcohol. Dry the once contaminated, now clean, garments as usual.

NEW AGRIPRO AP-350

A Big yield Bonus over Williams and Mitchell.



This new Group IV maturity soybean has consistently outperformed Williams, Mitchell and many other top varieties during five years of private and university trials.* It has also won consistently high ratings for fast emergence.

Plus new AP-350 demonstrates resistance to Race 1 Phytophthora root rot, and field tolerance to other tested races—a Big Bonus when this problem is present.

John Deere 8- to 16-hp lawn tractors make fast work of big mowing jobs

When you need to do mowing and other round-the-home chores quickly, ride one of the magnificent seven from John Deere.

Choose the 16-hp 116 or 116H (hydrostatic). Both have a twin-cylinder aluminum-block engine with cast-iron cylinder liners for strength. A 38-inch and 46-inch version are available for each model. The 38-inch version mows an acre of lawn in about one hour. The 46-inch version, an acre in about 45 minutes.*

The 111 and 111H (hydrostatic) are powered by an 11-hp engine. Both have a 38-inch mower that will cut an acre in just over an hour.*

The 8-hp 108 features a synchro-balanced engine for smooth operation. It has a 30-inch mower that lets you mow about three-fourths of an acre in one hour.*

Handle your lawn mowing chores quickly this year. See us soon for a John Deere 8- to 16-hp lawn tractor.

* Estimated mowing time for tractor working continuously in wide-open area without rear bagger. Mowing time may vary, depending on operating conditions and terrain.

On being a farm wife -And other hazards

Joyce Bupp

Every youngster's life oughta' have a creek running through it.

It wouldn't have to be a large stream, just a small brook that chatters its way through a pasture or a meadow.

A creek (that's pronounced "crick" in some parts) is a sort of living outdoor classroom, a microcosm of the world of live and let live, eat or be eaten, of conservation, of devastation, of adaption to the inevitablity of constant change.

Some of the most memorable days of my childhood were spent poking around the creek that gurgled and chattered through the partly-wooded, partly-grassy hollow below the woods behind our parents' home. The property through which the creek meandered was not ours, but belonged to several neighbors, and today I remember them with eternal gratitude for their tolerance of us kids and our endless adventures that centered around the brook.

Though enticing at all seasons, a meadow creek is rarely more alive, more beautiful, more sensuous than in early springtime.

It is on the moist banks of a stream that the grass first shades to deep, vibrant green, framing the blue-sky reflections mirrored in quiet pools. Nearby, brave early dandelion blooms snuggle close against their leafy rosettes, dotting the wakening meadow with droplets of sunshine.

A creek sounds an endless chatter, murmuring as it rushes over small rocks, swelling to a small roar in a foot-high waterfall that cascades from one meadow level to the next.

Schools of tiny stream fishes dart, en masse, from deeper, sunlit pools to hide in the protective shade cast by an overhanging rock, then ease back out in the light current while as intruder watches, standing perfectly still.

Here and there, briar patches embrace the creek's edge, their spindly, thorny arms arching gracefully, over the bank and close to the clear waters. Within the tangled mass, sparrows argue and fuss, build homes, rear their young, play out their life cycles against this meadow stagedrop.

A rabbit disappears into the same tangle, hiding in a burrow with her babies, safe from the intruding foxes that sometimes sniff and search creekside for the unwary.

Through periodic heavy rains, drought, snowmelt and freeze, the banks give way to one side, while a sand bar builds opposite, the shape and curves of a creek ever changing, yet always the same in purpose.

You can play in a creek, throw rocks in it, build dams across it, jump back and forth across it and squish home with wet sneakers from falling in it.

You can fish in a creek, search for crayfish under its rocks and momentarily be scared out of your wits by the snoozing watersnake disturbed by your poking about.

You can meditate beside a creek, rest on a cook rock and dabble your fingers in the cool freshness, find peace and calm, be soothed by the rippling play of sunlight and shadow as the waters pass by on their endless cycle to the sea, to the cloud, to the rainfall, and back to the stream once more.

Every kid should learn the lessons taught by a creek.

I've never outgrown my love for them. I pray I never will.

Berks Co. offers youth safety course

LEESPORT — Farm employers and parents of young farm employees should insist that youths working on farms this summer have proper training and certification.

The child labor provisions of the Fair Labor Standards Act, mandate that youth under 16 years of age cannot be employed in certain hazardous agricultural operations unless they have had special training and received certification. While the provisions do not apply working on farms of their parents or guardians, the training is still essential for all young farm workers.

The Berks County Extension Service will offer an agricultural equipment safety and certification course to teach 13 to 16-year-old youth about normal working hazards involved with tractors and other farm machinery. Certificates of completion will be issued upon successful completion of the course.

The course will begin on Wednesday, March 23 at the Berks County Agricultural Center and run for five consecutive Wednesdays. Classes will run from 7 p.m. tp 9 p.m. (Last class on April 27 will run from 6 to 9:30 p.m.)

To enroll in the course, contact Karen Taylor at the Extension Office ((215)-378-1327) by March 16

Get jump on Gypsy Moths

EBENSBURG — Many areas of Pennsylvania are well acquainted with the Gypsy moths. Some areas will be sprayed later in the spring when the eggs have hatched; others will not. But now is the time to get a jump on them.

From now until late April the buff colored, inch-and-a-half long fuzzy egg clusters of gypsy moths are in view on bare trees. Each cluster contains several hundred eggs. They are on the undersides of tree branches, along trunks, or in protected areas.

Check the trees gypsy moths like best — apple, speckled alder, basswood, gray and river birch, hawthorne, oak, poplar and willow. They also like black, yellow, and paper birch, cherry, chestnut, elm, black gum, hickory, hornbeam, larch, maple, and sassafras.

After finding the egg masses, paint them with creosote and leave them on the tree. Or scrape them off with a knife or a flat wood stick. If you scrape the eggs, collect and drop them into a can of kerosene or burn them until they're dead. Merely scraping the eggs off will do no good since the eggs can still hatch on the ground.

Destroying some of the gypsy moth egg clusters will be of some help in cutting down of the invasion of the destructive moths later this year.

Schuylkill to hold small fruit session

SCHUYLKILL HAVEN — Individuals interested in Small Fruit Production are invited to a program sponsored by the Schuylkill County Cooperative Extension Service. Guest speaker will be Roland Daniels, Penn State Associate Professor of Horticulture, discussing the culture practices of bramble production. A question and answer period will be provided. Also the marketing of small fruit will be discussed by the Extension Agent. This meeting will qualify for pesticide recertification.

The meeting will be held Wednesday, March 30, at 7 p.m. in the Conference Center at the Penn State Schuylkill Campus, Schuylkill Haven, Pa. For additional information, contact George P. Perry, Jr., County Agent, Horticulture, Schuylkill County Cooperative Extension Service, P.O. Box 250, Schuylkill Haven, Pa. 17972.

Franklin 4-H Rabbit Club names officers

The Franklin County 4-H Rabbit Club recently recognized these two members, Frank Snider, St. Thomas and Daniel Rotz, Fayetteville, for outstanding achievement in the club. Frank was named Most Improved Member and Daniel, Best Junior Project member. Absent from the picture is Tim Seibert, Shippensburg, Best Senior Project member.

Elected recently to serve for the Franklin County 4-H Rabbit Club, were, from left, Tommy Hess, treasurer; Rhonda Garling, vice president; Gwen Welty, president; and Beth Luster, secretary.

CHAMBERSBURG — The Franklin County 4-H Rabbit Club met recently to name officers for the new year. Elected were:

President, Gwen Welty; vice president, Rhonda Garling; secretary, Beth Luster; and treasurer, Tommy Hess.

Upcoming events include a trip to a mink farm, and a commercial rabbitry, and a spring judging clinic.

The next meeting of the Rabbit Club is scheduled for May 2 at 7 p.m.

New Holland 4-H seeks members

NEW HOLLAND — The New Holland 4-H Club is urging youths between the ages of 8 and 19 years of age to join their club. An organizational meeting will be held March 22 at Sperry New Holland on Franklin Street, New Holland, at 7 p.m.

For more information on the club, contact Mrs. Woodrow Good at 354-8706, or Bill and Dee Fisher at 354-7540.

Berks Executive Committee

The Berks County Executive Committee met at the Ag Center on Monday, March 7.

The following events were scheduled: May 11 will be a volunteer tea; June 12 will feature a picnic; and April 7 will include a bingo party for patients at Berks Heim.

Del. plans sprayer workshop

NEWARK, Del. — Chemical control of weeds, insects and diseases is critical to today's farm operation. This makes the low-pressure field sprayer one of the most used pieces of equipment on the farm — and perhaps one of the most abused.

Each pesticide has its own method of application. For instance, herbicides (weed killers) can be applied preplant contact or incorporated; pre-emergence; postemergence over the top or directed; and selectively. Each method may require a different sprayer setup and calibration, says University of Delaware extension power and machinery specialist Tom Williams.

Calibration is the key to successful results with pesticides, Williams says. Apply too little chemical and you get no control. Apply too much and you may damage the crop as well as increase your production costs.

A survey of field sprayer operators made by agricultural engineers at the University of Nebraska showed that only one of four was applying chemicals within plus or minus 5 percent of the intended rate. Improper or lack of calibration accounted for 78 percent of the errors. Errors ranged from 59 percent under to 83 percent over the intended rate. Checks on granular insecticide applicators gave similar results.

Pesticide costs on no-till corn could exceed $38 per acre. But applying these chemicals at 50 percent above the intended rate would add $18 per acre, a cost few farmers can afford today.

The Delaware Cooperative Extension Service is planning a calibration workshop to demonstrate proper spraying maintenance and calibration techniques. The meeting will be held on Tuesday, beginning at 1 p.m., at the University of Delaware substation in Georgetown. Calibration techniques for PTO and ground-driven sprayers, granular applicators, corn planters, row dry and liquid fertilizer, grain drills, and manure spreaders will be covered. The meeting will count two hours toward recertification for pesticide applicators.

Berks Sheep Club meets

HAMBURG — The Berks County 4-H Sheep and Lamb Club met, March 7, at the Ag Center in Leesport.

Before the business meeting, Mrs. Ian McKay, Boyertown, discussed the importance of wool and her work with wool shows.

The next meeting will be held April 18 at the Ag Center and will feature a segment on nutrition.

Inter-State District 10 to meet

SOUTHAMPTON, Pa — The District 10 Chestertown-Massey and Kennedyville locals of Inter-State Milk Producers' Cooperative will hold their annual dinner meeting Tuesday, March 22, 1983, at the Christ United Methodist Church, Chestertown, Md., starting at 7 p.m. according to Director Warren A. Knutsen.

James E. Honan, secretary of Inter-State Milk Producers' Cooperative, will be the guest speaker.

Carl C. Leonard, Kennedyville, Md., will receive a plaque in recognition of 50 years of membership with the cooperative.

NO CONTEST.

Ladies Have You Heard?

By Doris Thomas

Lancaster Extension Home Economist

Steps To Take If You Are Overextended

Sound financial planning is not something that comes with the territory. We learn it and sometimes we learn it the hard way. Credit cards, automatic tellers, instant installment plans, and even negative bank balance accounts that automatically draw from your savings, can create havoc with even the best laid financial plans. A plan is only an intention, only a piece of paper — it takes your action to work.

If you are overextended and are ready to re-establish a realistic financial plan, I suggest the following steps you can take to get yourself started on the right track.

— Determine the amount of your debt.

— Stop using credit cards.

— Devise a payment plan based on a well though out budget.

— When you're tempted, tell yourself you can't afford it and walk away.

— Cut expenses by being realistic about the differences between your wants and needs.

— Economize by controlling what you use and what you have others do for you.

— Increase the production of your own household. Plant a garden, do your own repairs, and exchange your services with others.

— Protect your credit rating. Your expenses may be high now, but do you really have the credit you may need in a true emergency? If you cannot pay back your creditors according to the terms you both agreed upon, contact your creditor and discuss your options. You may be able to refinance the debt, get an extension on your terms, reduce your debt by having the object repossessed. You may even declare bankruptcy which won't solve your problems but may make them more manageable for the time being.

If your are overextended, don't tell yourself you'll solve the problem when you have some money. The time to act is now.

Grandparents Are Special

Grandchildren know that grandparents are very special people. With springtime holidays approaching, now is a good time for grandparents to expand that relationship.

Grandparents have so much to share. Once retired and free of the pressures of a regular job, grandparents have time to make children feel important – time to hear the problems, concerns, and wonderful discoveries that children need to tell.

Grandparents also have a wide range of knowledge and experience to share with a youngster. What was it like to buy a piece of candy for only a penny? What sort of things did you learn or do as child? Sometimes these experiences that seem very ordinary to you, make terrific stories for children.

Grandparents have other treasures, too. They have hobbies such as carpentry or cooking that can be taught and passed along to a child. Baking cookies with grandma can be the highlight of a child's day.

Some grandparents have attics full of old memories and interesting surprises. These are often fun to explore together.

Almost anything you can think of can make an interesting day or experience for a child — as long as you care enough to share it with him.

And children have a lot to share in return. Children see things with new eyes and can bring a fresh outlook to even the most ordinary event. Children can also teach some things to adults. For example, how many grandparents know what a Smurf is, or who Ernie and Bert are?

This spring, take time to a special grandparent. If you don't have grandchildren, find a child that needs you. He or she may be the child of a friend, a neighbor, or someone you know from church. Share yourself with the child. Draw pictures together, build puzzles, and take walks and write a note on days you don't get together. You'll soon find that what you share of yourself will be returned in some way.

Paint a patchwork pillow

Practically no sewing is needed for the latest patchwork technique. The "patches" are hand-painted on fabric and quilted to look like patchwork.

All you need for the craft are acrylic fabric paints, plain cotton muslin and some ordinary sewing and household supplies. The technique is ideal for a pillow, placemat or nearly anything you'd ordinarily piece together.

Sometimes traditional patterns are easier to paint than sew. The one shown is called "windblown square." Its suggestion of rolling motion probably reminded the early settlers of tumbleweeds and was named "windblown" for that reason.

Traditional patterns are beautiful any way you make them. Hand-painted patches, however, provide them with a unique modern look.

Here are directions for a painted patchwork pillow:

MATERIAL: Unbleached cotton muslin, contrasting fabric for pillow back, polyester batting, sewing supplies, acrylic fabric paints and brush, ruler, pencil, masking tape, graph paper, dressmaker's carbon paper.

OPTIONAL SUPPLIES: Plastic foam board, corkboard or macrame knotting board, T-pins.

CUTTING: Pre-shrink pillow fabrics and press flat. 2. Cut two 16x16-inch squares of muslin for pillow front and lining. 3. Cut one 16x16-inch square of contrasting fabric for pillow back. 4. Cut one 16x16-inch square from batting.

PATTERN: 1. Tape together graph papers to produce a 16x16-inch square. 2. On graph paper, either copy pattern shown, copy another pattern from a patchwork quilt book or draw your own design. As a suggestion, draw a 12x12-inch design with a 2-inch border. 3. Using dressmaker's carbon paper, trace design onto unbleached muslin.

PAINTING: 1. Cover work surface with old newspaper. 2. Pin fabric to plastic foam board, corkboard or knotting board. 3. Paint shapes, one at a time, according to directions below. Be sure to leave some shapes unpainted, letting the plain muslin show.

PAINTING HINTS: 1. Dilute paints as necessary to keep them thin enough to flow easily, thick enough to cover fabric. 2. Paint shapes one at a time. Wait until paint dries before painting adjacent shapes. 3. If desired, lay masking tape around each shape and paint within the taped border. When paint dries, remove tape and place around another shape. 4. Paint in pattern symmetrically. Paint opposite corners, for example, the same colors.

QUILTING: 1. With right sides outside, sandwich batting between painted pillow front and lining. 2. Baste a large X-shape through all thicknesses. Baste around edges. 3. Machine-stitch around all shapes, starting at center and stitching toward the outside. 4. Machine-stitch around outside edges. 5. Remove remaining basting stitches.

PILLOW: 1. With right sides facing, stitch pillow front to pillow back. Leave a small opening for turning. 2. Clip corners, turn pillow to right side. 3. Stuff pillow. 4. Sew opening closed with tiny hem stitches.

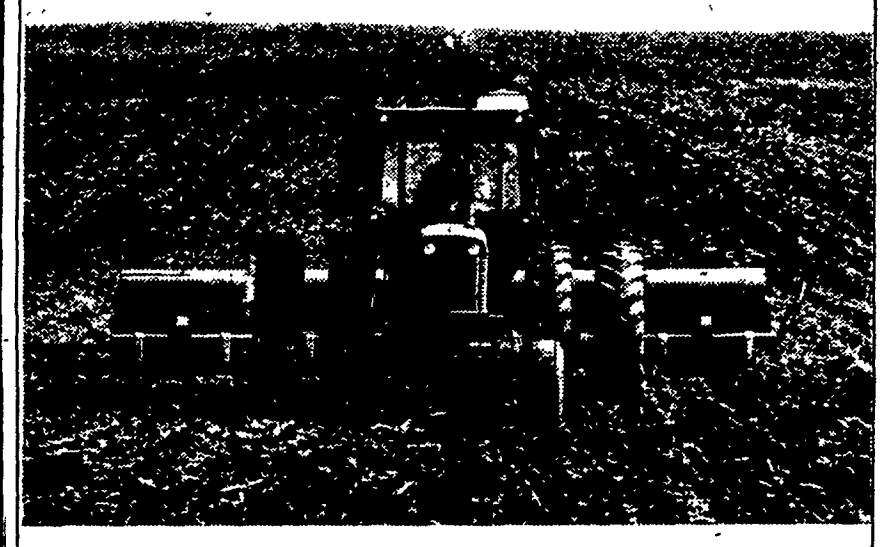
AGWAY answers your needs

If the engine quits, two-way radio could pay for itself today.



Lose just one day during the planting season, and it could make all the difference between a good crop and a poor one

That's why you should be equipped with a Johnson FM two-way radio

With two-way radio, if your engine quits, you can simply call for help. Chances are, a mechanic can get to you and get you going again while there's still some daylight left.

But without two-way radio, you'd just have to start walking

There are a lot of other ways Johnson FM radio can save you time and money Why not let us show you how you can lease or own a complete two-way system for as little as 75¢ a day

Penn Manor FFA holds banquet

BY DEBBIE KOONTZ

MILLERSVILLE — Merv Keagy finished his senior year with Penn Manor FFA last Thursday night in much the same manner that many greenhands probably dream of finishing theirs — standing behind the podium receiving awards instead of seated in the crowded audience.

Merv's several trips to the podium that night resulted in the following awards bearing his name: Senior Scholarship; Outstanding Senior Management; Student Recognition; a Foundation award in crop production; and a gold honor in Record Book competition at the state level. Merv also was named the teen of the week and the student of the month.

Dorothy Meyer, also a senior student, won the Most Improved Senior award, the Outstanding Contributor award, a student recognition award, and a silver honor for Record Book competition at the state level.

More than 490 FFA members, teachers and parents attended the evening banquet which awarded 26 Greenhand awards, 13 Red Rose awards, and 33 Chapter awards.

Danelle Hess, a Penn Manor freshman, won the coveted Star Greenhand award, as Brian Hess, sophomore, and Tammy Barley, earned the Star Chapter and the Star Red Rose award, respectively.

An Outstanding Patronage award went to Willow Valley Farms for their support of the Penn Manor FFA program. W.E. Kreider Meats also was honored.

The chapter's chain animals were awarded to Krystal Kreider, chain market lamb; Trasee Aument and Emily Bachman, chain steer; John Burkholder, Ken Shertzer, and Troy Musser, chain dairy calf; Scott Charles, Jere Hoover and Rodney Nissly, chain gilt; and Scott Martin and Jere Hoover, chain capons.

Other senior awards were given to: Jeff Gerlach, outstanding livestock; Merv Keagy, outstanding farming program; Jeff Gerlach, outstanding work experience; Tanya Green, outstanding crop production; Steve Main, DeKalb award; Dave Shoff, mechanics award; and Mike Appel, Charles award sponsored by Charles Poultry.

High salesmen awards were given to Jon Price, senior member, and Tracy Best, freshman.

The hunting contest winners were Brian Herr, senior member, and Randy Wissler, freshman.

Honorary chapter farmer awards were given to Mrs. Don Reish, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Barley, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Burkholder, Mrs. Lois Rissler, and Roy Slaymaker.

Steve Main, retiring Penn Manor FFA chapter president, poses here with the awards he won last Thursday night for a Foundation Award in livestock production and for the coveted DeKalb Award.

Brian Hess, sophomore and Danelle Hess, freshman, won the Star Chapter and the Star Greenhand awards.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Main received the Honorary Red Rose degree. Honorary Keystone Degree recipients were Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Shertzer, Mrs. Doris Meisenheltzer, and Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Charles.

Foundation awards were won by Jeff Kreidere, ag sales and service; Brian Hess, beef production; Mike Acord, fish and wildlife management; Steve Main, livestock production; Dave Shoff, ag mechanics; Stacy Ressler, farm and home improvement; Deb Martin, sheep production; Dan White, ornamental horticulture; Steve Nissley, poultry production; Missy Greider, public speaking; Steve Shuman, fruit and vegetable production; Jay Funk, dairy production; and Tanya Green, placement in ag occupation.

Record book honors include: Steve Main, silver; John Wiker, silver; Karen Kemer, bronze; Brian Ressler, bronze; and Brian Hess, bronze.

Elco FFA honors 1982-83's best at annual banquet

MYERSTOWN — Friends, supporters and parents gathered Tuesday night at the Eastern Lebanon County Middle School to help honor those outstanding members of the Elco FFA Chapter who recorded noteworthy achievements and activities during the past year.

At the head of the impressive list of award winners were the chapter's "stars."

Norma Kurtz received Chapter Star Agribusinessperson honors.

And Chapter Star Farmer for 1983 is Bruce Heilinger.

Featured speaker at the banquet was Bruce R. Kettler, National FFA Eastern Region Vice President. He called on the Elco FFA Chapter members to follow a simple but important equation for their lives ahead: "Youth plus Opportunity equals America."

Greetings from the State FFA Association were brought by Deborah Lee Miller, State Reporter.

Also addressing the group was Glenn Wenger, immediate past state vice president and now president of the State FFA Alumni Association. He outlined to the group the resurgence of the FFA Alumni as a force in the state to support the Future Farmers of American program. Wenger also heads the Elco FFA Alumni, which has recently been reinstituted. Among its project is a Junior FFA program in the school district.

Among the awards presented by Gerald Strickler, chapter advisor and vo-ag instructor, were:

Red Ribbon winners include David Prince, Dale Weaver, Joe Gingrich, David Balmer, Philip Balsbaugh, Bryan Eberly, Norma Kurtz, Charlie Kline.

State Project Book Contest:

Special Recognition Plaques for outstanding proficiency were awarded to Diane Hackman, Charlie Kline, Philip Balsbaugh, Darlene Kurtz, Joe Gingrich, David Prince, Scott Condran, Joe Gingrich, Karl Smith, Bryan Eberly, Charlie Kline, Norma Kurtz.

Students who will have their names inscribed on the permanent trophies in the classroom include Norma Kurtz, Diane Hackman, Karl Smith, Norma Kurtz, Bryan Eberly, Bryan Eberly.

National FFA Foundation Proficiency Award Medals went to: Diane Hackman, Dairy Production; Lisa Gettle, Dairy

THE COMPLETE LISSCO FLUSH SYSTEM:

The Lissco waste management system controls problems and increases your profits by flushing animal wastes from the confinement housing to a lagoon or treatment tank. The wastes are then aerobically treated by the Lissco Aqua-Vac aerator. This aeration is very similar in principle to the process city waste treatment plants used to treat sewage. Instead of the waste solids decaying, they are actually broken down and digested by non-dangerous aerobic bacteria. Gases, odors, and disease-producing anaerobic bacteria are controlled.

This minimizes your need for expensive antibiotics to fight diseases and decreases the need for constant ventilation, since the air is cleaner and fresher. Less ventilation means lower heating costs in the winter. And the Lissco flush system automatically removes wastes so there are no solids buildup and no need for costly honeywagons and the man hours involved in manually removing waste. Your livestock have a healthier living environment, you have a cleaner working environment and your operation is more economical.

Kutztown FFA

and Richard Hershberger, Kutztown.

Honored for their help and service to this FFA Chapter and receiving Chapter Letters of Appreciation were: Mrs. Beryl Carl, Kutztown Area School District Food Service Director, who provided the supplies for the sandwich sales; Mary Geist, Secretary in the Kutztown Area School District; Sandra Kantor, Allentown, Substitute Vocational Agricultural Teacher; Michael Koehler, Allentown, who drove the van to Kansas City for the National FFA Convention; the Kutztown Area School Board for their endorsements to the FFA projects throughout the year; Carol Mertz, Teacher; Mr. and Mrs. Larry Mertz, R4 Fleetwood; and Mr. and Mrs. Zollers, R2 Mertztown, each the parents of a second son who received the Keystone Degree; and Larry Youse, Kutztown.

The Young Farmer Chapter members were also present to honor their best. State Young Farmer President, Leroy Geesaman stated before the awards.

"We want to push farmers .... hold up the image of farmers," as he reminded all farmers to make a good impression on their city cousins who do not realize that farmers are also businessmen.

Receiving the award for the "Outstanding Farmer under 30" was Robert Tercha, R2 Mertztown. Tercha farms 400 acres in partnership with his father. A majority of corn is grown and cash cropped along with some alfalfa. The "Outstanding Farmer over 30" was Lester Burkholder, R4 Fleetwood, who with his wife, one son and two daughters farm 220 acres of corn and alfalfa and milk 90 Holsteins with 85 replacements.

The Community Service Award was presented by Dave Bitler, YFA Reporter, to Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Dreibelbis, Shoemakersville. Dreibelbis is very active in community affairs, serves on three committees for the Pennsylvania Farmers Association, is a member of the National and state Guernsey Breeders Associations and farms 200 acres and owns 80 head of Registered Guernseys.

In closing the program, Bruce Latshaw, State FFA Chaplain, challenged all winners: "I dare you to be your own self, at your very best, all of the time."

Robert Tercha, right, R2 Mertztown, receives Outstanding Young Farmer under 30 award from Dave Bitler at Kutztown FFA/Young Farmer banquet.

Lehigh FFA to observe Ag Week

SCHNECKSVILLE — The Lehigh County vocational-agriculture/FFA members will launch their salute to National Agriculture Week tonight with the annual parent-members banquet. Students who are pursuing careers in agriculture and persons who have supported the agriculture programs the past year will be honored.

The students have distributed placemats for use in the school restaurant and at the banquet on Food Facts. This is to make people aware of food consumption by a family of four in one year and to test their knowledge of agriculture with a quiz on the placemat.

Other activities by the vo-ag students include a visit to the state capital on National Ag Day, Monday to visit with their local legislators to promote agriculture. The members will also visit the Department of Agriculture and the state museum.

Displays and exhibits will be set up for the public and will include information on the value of agriculture in our local, state, and national economy. Emphasis will be placed on the number one ranking of agriculture in the U.S. in reference to employer, exporter, industry, A world food wheel will compare the efficiency of U.S. agriculture to other countries.

Throughout the week agribusiness persons will address the ag classes and present demonstrations in their areas of expertise. Also, the students will present local agriculture facts and figures via displays in regards to farming in the county.

Lehigh Baby Beef Club plans projects

SLATINGTON — Members of the Lehigh County Baby Beef Club gathered recently to present reports on their individual project animal for the new year.

Paul Krause, host of the meeting, presented a demonstration on fitting. Also former club president Willi Wilson told the members how to show their steer.

Members will participate in a project tour at their next meeting, April 10, at Farm Credit in Fogelsville, and the farm of Henry Gruber.

We have developed our own heat exchanger where you can get 120 degree water from your milk tank's cooling system before it gets to your water heater. This means that there is water that is over 110 degrees going into your water heater instead of 55 degree water.

Whether you have electric, gas, or oil for your heating source you will see a noticeable savings on your hot water costs.

Prices start at $680.00.

Also complete service and repairs on all makes and models of milk tank cooling systems.

Research says pork's image improving

DES MOINES, Iowa — A recently completed study by the National Pork Producers Council shows that consumer attitudes about pork are continuing to improve. The study shows a direct correlation between recall of pork advertising and improvement in consumer attitudes about pork. This research project is the third in a series of annual studies designed to benchmark progress in creating a positive image for pork.

During 1982, the primary emphasis of pork promotion was in the theme, "America, you're leaning on pork." All pork communications stressed that the product is leaner than ever, high in protein and vitamin content and not high in calories or cholesterol. Significantly, this latest study shows that the percentage of Americans eating little or no pork has dropped from 40 percent to 36 percent. This gives pork 9 million new users. In addition, seven percent more people no longer feel pork is fatty or high in calories.

Other significant results are large gains made by pork relative to its image in areas of cholesterol content, calories, and leanness. for example, since 1980, pork has improved its image with regard to cholesterol by 12 points in comparison to other meats by 20 points with respect to calorie content, and by 21 points on the matter of leanness. These gains in image are important since NPPC's advertising is largely directed at dispelling the myths that create image problems for pork.

According to Russ Sanders, NPPC director of consumer product marketing, the Council is encouraged by these gains because it believes promotion can change pork's image, strengthen demand and keep producer profits at acceptable levels.

"These latest research findings show us that our advertising is improving pork's image and dispelling those myths that have kept pork demand from being as high as it could be," Sanders said.

Sanders pointed out that with research showing advertising is paying off, NPPC launched its biggest effort ever in 1983 with nearly $4 million allocated for promotion. Sanders cautioned however that while progress is being made, the study also showed that pork remains at a substantial disadvantage to other meats relative to image problems.

"Much more work must be done to correctly position the product in the consumer's mind. We're winning a few battles, but the war is far from over — we must consistently aim our efforts at exploding myths before the consumer becomes generally comfortable with pork," he said.

Poultry course on April 6

NEWARK, Del. — The 1983 Delmarva Hatchery and Breeder Flock Management short course will be held Wednesday, April 6, at the Wicomico Youth and Civic Center, Salisbury, Md., from 8 a.m. until 3 p.m.

The program will cover a variety of topics in the hatchery and breeder flock areas. Ed Odor, University of Delaware, will talk about killed reovirus vaccines for broiler breeders. Fred Moultrie, of Kennebec Breeders will discuss genetic selection and tradeoffs in breeder development.

Larry Cogburn will explain the relationship between chicks' dietary level and temperature preference. Perrie Waters of Holly Farms will moderate a panel discussion on sanitation and fumigation practices in hatcheries. Frank Wills, of Sterwin Labs, will provide an update on regulations regarding fumigants in hatcheries.

R.W. Kiers, Mississippi State University, will explain the operation of a trouble-shooting incubation clinic.

Mary Ann Ottinger, University of Maryland, will discuss recent breeder nutrition and management research. Andy Ludwig of Townsends, Inc. will talk about new techniques in hatchery waste disposal.

Frank Craig, of Perdue Farms, will explain emergency procedures for hatcheries and breeder flocks during VVND outbreaks. Robert B. McHose, of Kennebec International, will discuss management of the breeder male. And the University of Maryland's Ed Mallinson will describe recent problems and new concepts in mycoplasma testing.

The short course is sponsored by the Delaware Cooperative Extension Service, Eastern Shore Hatchery Association, and Delmarva Poultry Industry, Inc.

Interested persons must preregister before March 31. A $15 fee covers the cost of luncheon and a copy of the proceedings.

Try it yourself

LANCATER — The grocery bill seems to climb every time you shop, the car needs the winter tires taken off, and the house is in need of a good paint job. Household expenses seem to be growing, but you just can't seem to find the money to do everything.

Today with rising prices and shrinking incomes, many families are turning to household production to ease the costs of maintaining their homes. Household production is simply using your time, talents and skills instead of money to "do it yourself."

Many jobs around the house can be done by the family instead of hiring them out. Painting the inside or outside of the house, repairing small appliances, doing small plumbing or electrical repairs, shampooing carpets and rugs, repairing screens and insulating by caulking, weatherstripping or insulating in the attic are all jobs that can be done by family members themselves to save money.

Learning to work on your car can also save money. By washing and cleaning the car, pumping the gas, changing the oil, lubricating the car, changing or rotating tires and winterizing the car by yourself, you can save the high cost of garages that do the same thing for you.

Instead of hiring someone to do it for you, do your own yard work. Cut the grass, weed, trim trees and shrubs; shovel snow and haul trash yourself and save money.

Farm families can also garden and raise their own food to save on grocery bills. By producing your own food and then preserving, especially by canning, the bills at the grocery store can be cut all year round.

Include children in home production by either letting them help with the projects such as snow removal, or by doing small chores around the house that will free adults to do other cost-saving projects.

The Tools of Farming
The Combine
Number 2 of a Series

The first combined harvester-thresher began combing the fields of the American Midwest in 1816. By 1830, the massive Holt combine was introduced. Powered by 33 mules and five men, the Holt combine helped clear the fields of the Pacific Northwest.

500 loaves of bread can be produced from the grain harvested in 63 seconds by today's giant self-propelled combines.

Md. plans research open house

SYKESVILLE, Md. — The University of Maryland will hold an open house and field day at its Sykesville Beef-Sheep Research Farm next Saturday.

The day-long event is divided into two sessions, a morning open house with beef and sheep research scientists from the University, and an afternoon series of wagon tours of the research facility.

Registration for the day's events is $5 which includes luncheon and a copy of the proceedings. Registration is from 8:30 a.m. to 9 a.m.

The morning session gets underway at 9 a.m. in the nearby American Legion Post #233 and includes: Sheep Production in Maryland, Ted Katsigianis, beef-sheep Extension specialist for the University of Maryland; The Future of Beef Research in the Northeast U.S., Theron Rumsey, beef research scientist, USDA; Calf Scours: Prevention and Treatment, Cy S. Card, head of Penn State's Veterinary Science Dept.

The afternoon series of wagon tours begins at 1:30 p.m. at the research farm and includes presentations on:

Fly Control — Dr. Lee Hellman, entomology Extension specialist for the University of Maryland;

Crossbreeding Beef Update — Bill Curry, beef Extension specialist for the University.

Bull-Beef Production — Doug Greger, animal sciences graduate student for the University.

Beef Herd Health — Monica Haaland, veterinary scientist for the University.

Estrus Synchronization — Walt Williams, animal scientist for the University.

Use pencil as farm tool

NEWARK, Del. — "Pencil farming" is the key to maintaining a profitable farm business in tough economic times. That's the consensus of the speakers at the recent Delmarva Dairy and Livestock Seminar in Dover.

"Pencil farming" means keeping complete, accurate records, and using them to pinpoint weaknesses in the farm business. It means figuring in advance whether or not a proposed change would be profitable.

Should you buy a combine, or continue to contract for custom harvesting? Should you sell your grain, or feed it to livestock? Would it be smart to add a hog operation to your farm business? Would it pay to install an irrigation system? Should you keep your calves or sell them?

University of Maryland extension farm management specialist Billy Lessley and his University of Delaware counterpart Don Tilmon have worksheets farmers can use to help answer questions such as these. Some are hand worksheets, and others are computer programs. The computer will do all the necessary arithmetic, but it's up to the farmer to supply the information. The extension farm management specialists are happy to help.

At the seminar, banker Stanley Forbes also stressed the need for good, complete records. Now that land prices are no longer escalating every year, lenders are more cautious about extending credit, he said. Before they will approve a farm loan they want a complete accounting of the farmer's profits and losses, cash flow, and assurance that the farmer will be able to repay the loan with interest. These matters should be just as important to farmers as to lenders, and underscore the need for good planning, record keeping, and analysis.

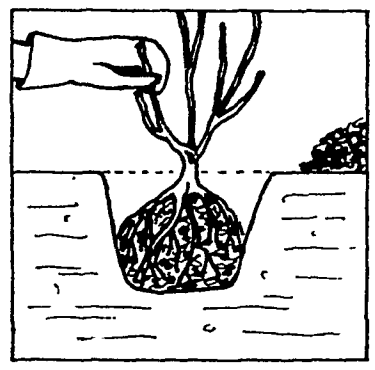
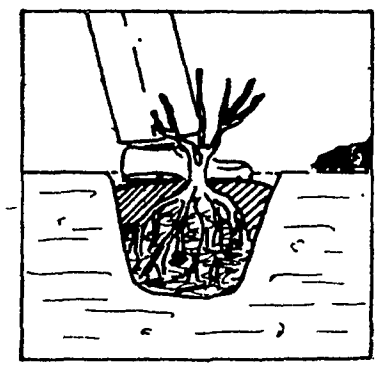
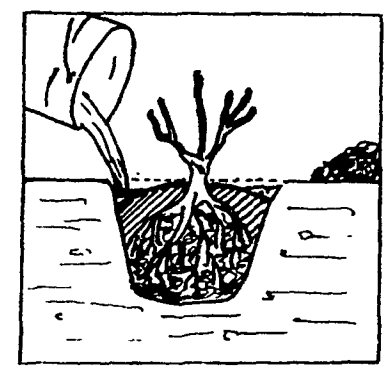
Well prepared, deeply spaded bed in well-drained area. Dig each hole 15" to 18" wide and as deep. Add a quart of peat moss or compost and mix well with the soil. Form blunt cone of the mixture in planting hole.



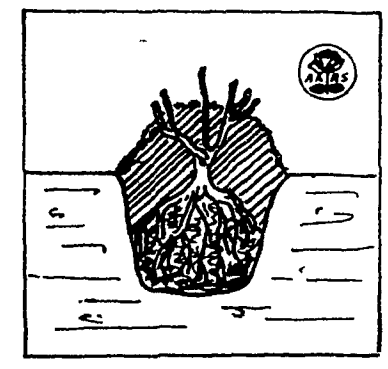
Prune all rose canes to 12" and remove any broken or injured roots. Position rose on soil cone so that bud union (swelling at base of stem) is just above the ground level after the ground settles in mild climates and about 1" below the surface in climates where winter temperature falls below freezing. Spread roots out in a natural manner down slope of mound.



Work in soil around roots to eliminate any air pockets. Firm soil about roots and add more soil until hole is three-fourths full, then firm with foot or tamper, using care not to injure roots.



Fill remainder of hole with water and allow it all to soak in, then refill. After water drains, see that bud union remains at proper level and fill remainder of hole with soil and tamp. Head canes back to about eight inches, making cuts one-fourth inch above an outside bud.



Mound soil around and over plant to height of eight to ten inches. This protects the rose canes from drying out. When buds break, gradually remove mound of soil - probably within a week or ten days. Loosen name tag so that it does not constrict cane. When vigorous growth starts, apply plant food according to manufacturer's specifications.

Rose planting...in five simple steps

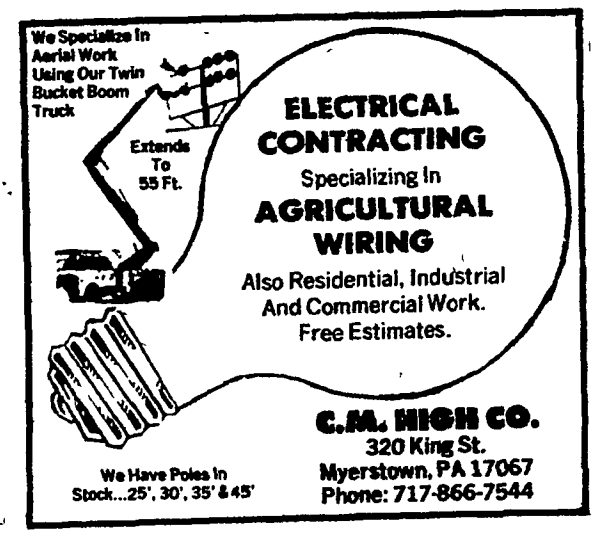
LANCASTER — The proper planting of roses requires neither great gardening skill nor experience. Simply use a little common sense in your choice of location, follow the five steps as outlined, and you will have given your roses as good a start in life as could be desired. The procedures outlined were developed by All-American Rose Selections, the national rose-testing organization.

They suggest that, in addition to the proper planting techniques as described in this article, the following are essentials to successful rose growing: healthy plants of good varieties, well prepared beds having good drainage, a minimum of at least a half day of sunshine in the area in which the roses are planted, and plant as early as possible.



They're both doing the same thing...

Whether you spin your wheels for lack of traction, operate tractor(s) powered with inefficient engines, or pour fuel on the ground . . . . . you're wasting fuel SAME is the tractor for times like these. SAME has 4WD, a full gear range, long low design and even weight distribution for less wheel slippage, less tire wear, less soil compaction and maximum traction. And SAME full drive is designed and engineered as an integral part of the tractor — not an add on.

SAME is powered by a fuel efficient direct injection air cooled diesel engine for substantial savings on fuel, minimum maintenance costs and longer service life. (SAME has a limited 2-yr./3000 hrs. warranty — first in the industry.)

Hallowell urges exhibits at food expo

HARRISBURG — State Agriculture Secretary Penrose Hallowell is urging Pennsylvania food companies to exhibit at the first U.S. NASDA Food and Agriculture Exposition in Atlanta, May 17-19.

Hallowell said an estimated $100 million in food sales overseas will result from the exposition which is being sponsored by the 50 state Departments of Agriculture.

"Any Pennsylvania firm now exporting food and agricultural products to foreign markets or wishing to enter the export field can profit from the show," he said. "The Exposition will be the largest all-export food show in U.S. history, with thousands of buyers from around the globe in attendance.

"We are doing everything we can to make it easy for our food firms to sell their products to foreign markets," said Hallowell, who is president of the Eastern U.S. Agriculture and Food Export Council. "Exhibitors who regularly participate in regional trade shows can improve their ability to reach buyers. And the many firms which have never exported can take advantage of this opportunity to enter a most profitable field."

Hallowell cited the interest shown in Pennsylvania products by buyers at two food shows he recently attended in the Middle East. "Both in Bahrain and Saudi Arabia, buyers wanted information and leads on food products that Pennsylvania produces," he said. "In just three days in Bahrain, we were able to make hundreds of direct contacts and trade leads with prospective foreign buyers for Pennsylvania foods."

The Exposition features full lines of fresh, frozen, canned, dried and dehydrated food products normally offered to the domestic food industry. Exhibitors are expected from every state.

The Agriculture Secretary also noted that the show will serve as host to the first International Forum on Food and Agriculture, with subjects ranging from trade barriers, legislation affecting exports and protectionism to supermarket activities, merchandising and promotion. The program will feature panels conducted by international experts including Eric Joiner of AJC International, Theodore Lubusza of the University of Minnesota, and Eugene W. Griner of the Small Business Development Center. Joiner will head a discussion on "Challenges Faced by U.S. Sellers of Processed Foods"; Labusza will discuss "Future Trends in Food Processing Technology"; and Griner will lead talks on "Processed Food Distribution in the U.S."

Hallowell said more information on the NASDA Food and Agriculture Exposition is available through the Department by calling (717) 783-8460 or 787-6041, or by writing to NASDA Food Show, Pa. Dept. of Agriculture, 2301 N. Cameron Street, Harrisburg, Pa. 17110.

Seeding, Weeding and mulch more

For the avid gardener

Iris for March

Dull, damp days of March - the time of year when every gardener is looking for some sign of spring. But if you had thought ahead last fall, you would not have to settle for a minute reminder because your bulbous iris would be heralding the season in all its glory. These early harbingers may not have the three-foot stature of their later-blooming relatives, but they bravely battle through snow and ice to be the first of their kind to greet the sun.

Two species of early bulbous iris are usually grown. The most common is Iris reticulata, a hardy bulb with dark purple blooms on six-inch stems. It gets its species name "reticulata" from the netted cover surrounding each inch-long bulb. Although the flowers have yellow markings, their dark color makes them difficult to spot. Other cultivars such as 'Cantab,' a light blue form, and 'Harmony,' a medium to dark blue, are showier against dark soil or mulch.

The leaves are very thin and wirey, and although they may become quite long after the floweres die back, the foliage is narrow enough to be unobtrusive and should not be cut back. Iris reticulata is hardy and will come up year after year in a well-drained, south-facing location.

Iris danfordiae has petite, yellow blossoms that seem to radiate the sun's warmth. It is even earlier than Iris reticulata, often blooming in mid-March. The bulbs flower nicely the first year and then divide into tiny bulbets. These are often too small to bloom again for several years. Replanting each fall is the best way to ensure flowers every spring.

Bulbs for both species are readily available in garden centers and catalogs. Find a sunny, well-drained location close to the house or a walkway where the blooms can be enjoyed in spite of the weather. The bulbs do best planted at a depth of four inches. Fall planting is preferred. Mulching is recommended in very cold climates or exposed areas. It's not necessary to dig the bulbs up from year to year.

For a very small investment of time and money, you could have your own spring harbingers of sunshine and blue sky. Wouldn't it be worth the effort?

Tiny iris proves that spring is just around the corner.

Fairbairn wears crown

UNIVERSITY PARK — Sheila Fairbairn, 20, of West Chester, was named the 1983 Pennsylvania Cattlemen's Queen during the Pennsylvania Cattlemen's Association Banquet in State College, recently.

Fairbairn is a sophomore at Penn State, studying animal science. She has participated in many livestock and civic activities, beginning her beef career in 1977 in the Chester County Beef Club, where she served as president. She has participated on the Chester County 4-H Livestock Judging Team, Meats Judging Team, and was a member of the pig club, the Pins and Pans club and the Delaware County 4-H Horse Club.

Fairbairn's volunteer experience with Bryn Mawr Rehabilitation Center, handicapped Horseback Riding, Clinics and Sunday School Training, made her an ideal choice for the honor.

Seven young women participated in the contest. Diane Susan Krause, a sophomore animal production major at Penn State was named first runner-up. Krause, from Slatington, the 1982 National Angus Queen, has served on state and national committees in the beef area.

Corinne Snook, 20, of Jersey Shore, was named second runner-up. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward P. Snook, and has been a 4-H member, receiving honors for seven years.

Four other young women competing for the title who will represent their counties at 1983 beef promotions include Judy Long of Carlisle, Cumberland County; Susan Atherholt of Media, Delaware County; Ann Louise Kincaid of Rockwood, Somerset County; and Patti Bohnert of Morris, Tioga County.

The Pennsylvania Cattlemen's Queen Contest is sponsored by the Pennsylvania Cattlemen's Association, the Pennsylvania Beef Council and the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture.

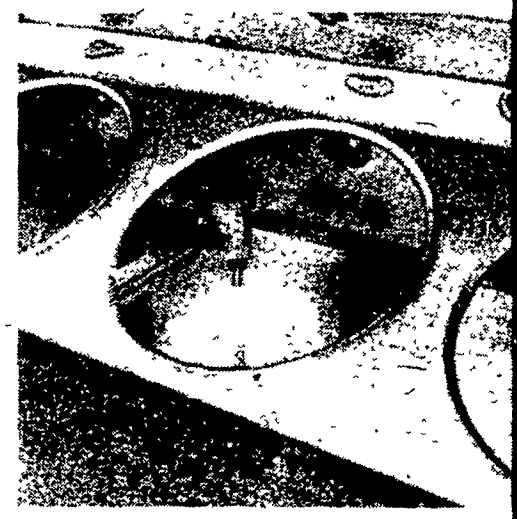
SlurEcon Hog Feeder

10-15% Better Feed Conversion With Liquid Feed!

Stainless Steel Hog Feeder Could Be The Last Hog Feeder You'll Ever Buy!



FASTER GAINS ON LESS FEED

- Rugged 14-gauge type .304 stainless steel throughout entire feeder makes the SlurEcon Liquid Feeder as tough as they come.
- Hogs lick the platter clean when water and feed are combined in trough. This contributes to a 10% to 15% improvement in feed efficiency. Hogs go to market 10 days to two weeks faster on wet feed compared to dry feed.
- You get reduced feed wastage. Hogs get their water and feed at the same place. No need to carry feed on snout or mouth to waterer, where it is sloughed off into holding pit. Hogs feed faster, too, making it possible to supply more pigs with fewer feed holes. Pen square footage per pig can also be reduced.
- Get little pigs off to fast start Young pigs will drink before they eat. When you combine feed and water at the same source you give those little pigs fast, healthy starts.

Also Available:
- SlurEcon Farrowing Crate Feeders
- SlurEcon Pre-Nursery & Nursery Feeders

Berks-Lehigh Farm Credit to meet

FOGELSVILLE — The Berks-Lehigh Valley Production Credit Association and the Berks-Lehigh Valley Federal Land Bank Association will hold a joint annual stockholders' meeting on Friday at the Holiday Inn at the intersection of routes 22 and 309 in Allentown.

At the meeting, one Production Credit Association Director and two Federal Land Bank Association Directors will be elected to represent the membership.

Nominees for directors of the Berks-Lehigh Valley Federal Land Bank Association are Gerald I. Hunsicker, Mertztown, Lehigh County; Arlan R. Seidel, Mertztown, Lehigh County; Charles L. Diehl, Bangor, Northampton County; and R. Bernard Merwarth, Easton, Northampton County.

Ellis R. Kunkel, Kempton, Berks County, and David J. Seiple, Bath, Northampton County, are the nominees for director of the Berks-Lehigh Valley Production Credit Association.

Stockholders will be given copies of the 1982 Association financial reports and will hear a report from the General Manger, Bernard C. Flory.

The Berks-Lehigh Valley Farm Credit Associations serves Pike, Monroe, Carbon, Schuylkill, Berks, Lehigh and Northampton Counties.

The Farm Credit System is a cooperative — farmer-owned, farmer-controlled, and farmer-operated and is generally recognized as the largest financial cooperative organization in the world.

SQUARER BALES

John Deere's baler line builds squarer, stackable bales

To build solid, square-cornered bales consistently, you need consistent control of the hay. And John Deere's 327, 337 and 347 Balers give that control from the moment hay touches the pickup.

A wide pickup with extra teeth lets these balers take in all the hay in today's wider windrows. There's even a compressor to keep the hay under control.

A floating tapered auger and adjustable feeder forks take over to keep material flowing evenly. The gear-driven knotter puts the finishing touch on these solid, stackable bales from John Deere.

FOR LOW-TILL OR NO-TILL

Save fuel, time, moisture and soil with a Max-Emerge® conservation planter

Here's a rugged planter you can rely on in most soil conditions, including stubble and many sod fields.

Heavy-duty springs help transfer weight from the 7-inch frame to each planting unit to keep unit-mounted coulters in the ground. Frame-mounted coulters and cast-iron firming wheels are available, too, for extra-tough conditions.

Whether you no-till, low-till or conventionally till your ground, these 4-row (30 to 40-inch rows), and 6- and 8-row narrow models can help you save fuel, time, moisture and soil. See us soon for details.

EASY ADJUSTMENTS

New John Deere 1219 Mo/Co features simple adjustments for easy servicing

Different hay crops have varying conditioning requirements. That's why John Deere's new 1219 Mo/Co gives you the option of changing roll spacing and pressure in just a few minutes.

When crop conditions call for it, simply change the roll spacing to as wide or as narrow as you want. When more or less pressure is needed, just turn the adjusting bolt.

Easy-to-adjust windrow forming shields let you build the type of windrow you want. See the 9-foot 1219 Mo/Co that adapts to your haying conditions.

Panel rates best-tasting strawberries for freezing

UNIVERSITY PARK — Want the best homegrown strawberries you can have for freezing? Then consider planting varieties rated superior for freezing, as scored by a taste panel at Penn State.

The taste panel gave Earliglow and Darrow varieties the best overall ratings among frozen strawberries tested for quality. Panelists rated seven common strawberry varieties for texture, sweetness, flavor, and color.

Earliglow and Darrow also ripen the earliest of the varieties tested for freezing, reported Roland R. Daniels, Penn State fruit scientist heading up the study of quality in frozen strawberries. The other five varieties tested — in order of ripening — were Redchief, Surecrop, Delite, Jerseybelle and Vesper.

Vesper was rated nearly as high as Darrow and Earliglow for quality of texture after freezing. Redchief and Jerseybelle were rated lowest of all varieties for texture.

Darrow was rated highest for sweetness, followed by Vesper and Earliglow. Delite and Jerseybelle were judged to be the least sweet tasting.

Earliglow received the best rating for flavor. Jerseybelle had the lowest flavor rating.

All varieties expect Surecrop were similar in ratings for color. Surecrop had the lowest color rating. Jerseybelle and Surecrop received the lowest overall ratings.

To grow some of the better varieties for freezing, Daniels advised buying only certified plants, essentially disease-free, from nurseries or garden centers.

He said strawberries can be planted as soon as the soil is workable.

After preparing the soil, follow planting instructions carefully, he added. If plants are set too deep, the crowns will rot. If planted too shallowly, exposed roots will dry out and the plants will die. When flower buds appear the first year, remove them to encourage runner formation. For information on fertilizer requirements, mulching, and disease and insect control, contact your county Cooperative Extension Service.

Daniels and associates reported their findings in an issue of "Science in Agriculture," the quarterly magazine of the College of Agriculture at Penn State. Cooperating from the Department of Horticulture were Gerald D. Kuhn, Stephen H. Hampson, C. Marshall Ritter, and Celeste Miller. To get on a free mailing list for "Science in Agriculture," write to 229 Agricultural Administration Building, University Park, Pa. 16802.

The Penn State experiments measured other factors related to quality of frozen strawberries. For example, "soluble solids" is a

NEW FROM CENTURY
Spray Baby
The farm-quality sprayer for lawn and garden use.

For those spraying jobs around the yard and garden, and for spot treatments around the farm, Century introduces the Spray Baby.

It's built with the same kind of rugged construction and practical design of our farm sprayers.

Spray Baby is available in a 25- or 50-gallon model. The smaller model features a hand-pull tongue which can be converted to drawbar. Both are equipped with Hypro 2-piston pumps and three-horsepower Briggs & Stratton engines. Herbicides, fertilizer and insecticide may be applied with the hand gun or the 80-in. coverage spray boom.

See your Century dealer soon about the new Spray Baby. It's big enough for even the smallest jobs.

Both Spray Baby models may be skid-type units for use in pickup bed.

50-gallon Spray Baby features drawbar hitch for use with garden tractor High flotation tires

Century has the sprayer for every spraying job.

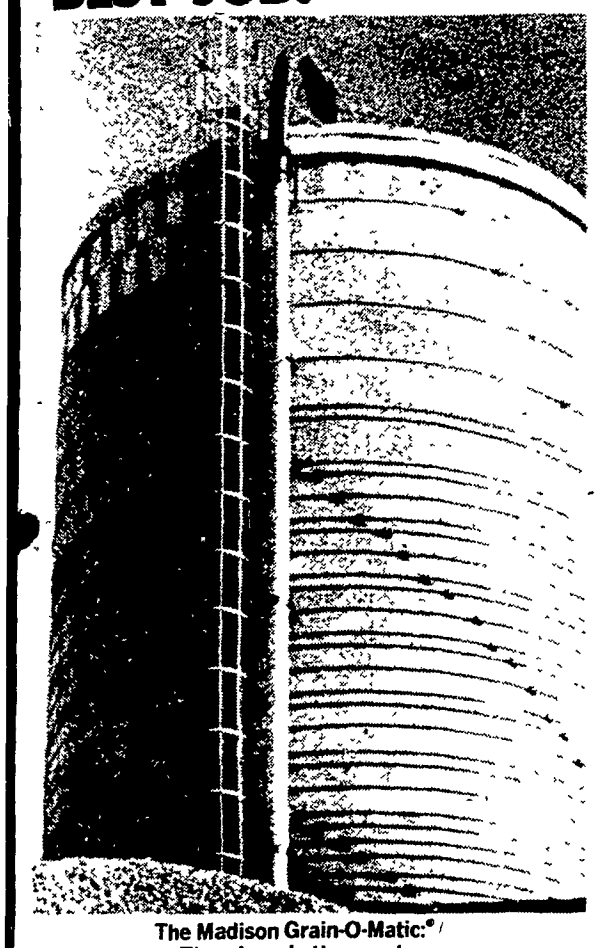
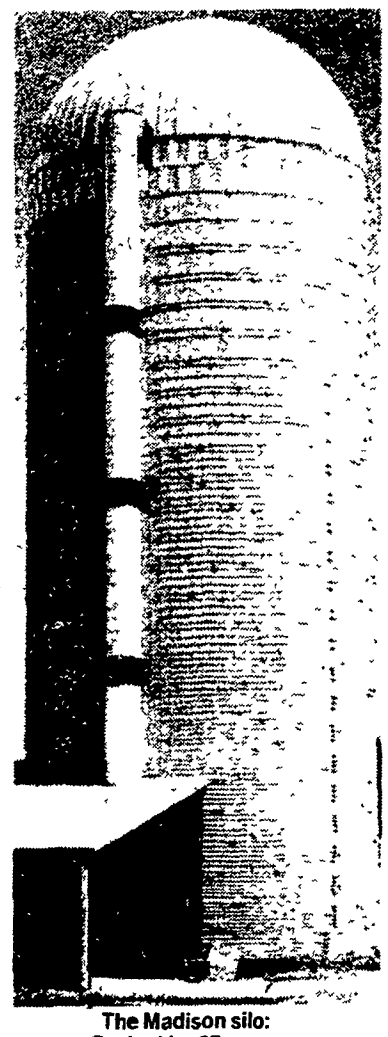
ONE AT A TIME OR ALL TOGETHER, MADISON STRUCTURES DO THE BEST JOB.



The Madison Grain-O-Matic:® There's no better way to handle high-moisture corn.



The Madison silo: Backed by 65 years of success and improvements To Handle Corn Silage

Setting Quality Standards Over 65 Years

Silo design is an engineering science. Silo construction is an art.

Madison Silos - more than most other silos resist cracking, leaking, leaching. Madison Silos builds its own accessories to resist rust and corrosion. And the Madison-built roof stands alone in ability to resist wind.

Madison Silos has the structure to meet your needs.

Our biggest silo is a 30'x100'... our smallest is a 12'x20'. Madison Silos make the sizes you want and need for your operation.

When you're ready to buy your next silo, consider its basic components; stave design and strength -durability; the manufacturer's reputation for care in building and willingness to provide service and repairs after the sale. All we ask is that you include us in your comparisons. We'll take it from there.

The Madison Way is the very Best way.

Strawberries

term for the amount of sugars which can contribute to sweetness. Percent of the soluble solids was highest — meaning best — in Vesper and Earliglow, and lowest in Darrow and Surecrop.

Another factor related to flavor is titratable acidity, which gives some estimate of a berry's tartness. Surecrop and Darrow had the highest ratings for titratable acidity, meaning they were the most tart. Jerseybelle was the least tart.

The Penn State fruit scientist said a strawberry's acidity or alkalinity, measured as pH, influences color. A pH of 3.39 or lower, a very acid condition, is reflected in strawberries with the best red color. In the tests, Vesper had the brightest berries and the lowest pH. In contrast, Delite had the highest pH and the lowest quality color.

Berries were similar in size among most of the seven varieties tested. Depth of color was least for Redchief, a variety usually having a white center.

Order No. 4 Proposes Change

Milk handlers and producer groups under the New York-New Jersey and Middle Atlantic Federal milk orders have requested that the Department of Agriculture hold a public hearing to consider proposals to extend Federal order regulation to areas of northeastern Pennsylvania which presently are not included in a Federal order marketing area.

Proposals to add the following 12 Pennsylvania counties to the Middle Atlantic marketing area were received: Berks, Carbon, Columbia, Lehigh, Luzerne, Monroe, Montour, Northampton, Northumberland, Schuylkill, Snyder, and Union.

A proposal was also received to expand the New York-New Jersey Federal order marketing area to include all of the above counties plus 11 others. The 23 Pennsylvania counties that would be added are: Berks, Bradford, Carbon, Clinton, Columbia, Lackawanna, Lehigh, Luzerne, Lycoming, Monroe, Montour, Northampton, Northumberland, Pike, Potter, Schuylkill, Snyder, Sullivan, Susquehanna, Tioga, Union, Wayne, and Wyoming.

Other proposals would add 20 of the same counties to the New York-New Jersey marketing area, leaving out Berks, Lehigh, and Northampton Counties.

The proposals have not yet been approved for inclusion in a notice of hearing. Before deciding whether these proposals should be considered at a public hearing, interested parties are invited to submit additional proposals for consideration at a possible hearing. Particular attention should be given to order changes, such as the applicable Class I prices for any newly regulated area, that may need to be made in each order if the marketing areas are expanded as proposed. Proposals should be stated in specific terms so that the hearing issues would be clearly set forth.

Four copies of the proposals should be mailed to: Deputy Administrator, Marketing Program Operations, Agricultural Marketing Service, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. 20250, by April 15, 1983.

Each proposal should be accompanied by a brief but comprehensive statement on the need for the proposal. The statement will be used in deciding whether the proposal should be considered at a hearing.

A hearing would be limited to the proposals included in a hearing notice. However, appropriate modifications of proposals included in the notice also may be considered at the hearing if the modifications would not enlarge the marketing area or regulate persons not now subject to the order. Any proposals that would extend regulation should be accompanied by the names and addresses of persons that would be affected by the proposed extension and an estimate of the number of additional dairy farmers involved.

In addition, proposals that would enlarge the marketing area should be accompanied by the following data and views with respect to each territory proposed to be added:

- 1. The approximate quantity of fluid milk products sold by proponent in each territory (county, town, city, or other locality) proposed to be added to the marketing area;
- 2. The approximate percentage that the sales in item 1 are of the proponent's total fluid milk product sales;
- 3. The names and addresses of all handlers (including own) selling fluid milk products in each territory proposed to be added to the marketing area, with an estimate of the proporation that each handler's sales are of the total sales in each proposed area;
- 4. The approximate number of dairy farmers associated with each area proposed to be added who would become producers if the marketing area were enlarged;
- 5. The name and address of each cooperative association having members associated with the territory proposed to be added to the marketing area; and
- 6. A brief but comprehensive statement in support of the proposal(s) to enlarge the marketing area.

If you have any questions concerning the filing of proposals or desire a copy of the present order, contact Joseph D. Shine, Federal Milk Market Administrator, P.O. Box 710, Alexandria, Va. 22313.

Farm vacation list available

HARRISBURG — The 1983 Pennsylvania Farm Vacation Directory is available, according to Sen. Noah Wenger.

The free guide lists 25 Pennsylvania family farms participating in the farm vacation program. It gives a brief description of each farm and includes information on location, rates, activities, meal and living arrangements and telephone numbers for each farm to make reservations or if additional information is needed, Wenger said.

The family farms offer several kinds of accommodations — cottages, stone farm houses, cabins and camping sites. Recreational activities include swimming, hiking, boating, horseback riding and much more, depending on the farm selection. Also, many of the farms are near areas that offer flea markets, state parks, fairs, historic sites and other tourist attractions. Wenger added all farms have been inspected and approved by the Pennsylvania Farm Vacation Association.

Wenger said the farm vacation gives families an opportunity to share a different kind of vacation that can be not only enjoyable, but educational as well.

To receive a copy of the farm vacation directory, send a postcard to the Bureau of Ag Development, 2301 North Cameron Street, Harrisburg, PA 17110, or call (717) 783-8460.

Two top Cumberland Co. dairy awards

BY BETH HEMMINGER
Staff Correspondent

NEWVILLE — Rebecca Dyarman and Anita Cornman topped the show bill of the 27th Annual Cumberland County 4-H Dairy Club Banquet winning the top awards at the Monday evening event.

Rebecca, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Dyarman, was selected as the Outstanding 4-H Dairy Member of 1982. She received the award for seven years of club work, along with carrying three projects with an average score of 95.

Last year, Rebecca also exhibited the 4-H Grand Champion and Reserve Champion Holstein at the 4-H Round-up. She brought home to Cumberland County, honors from the Southcentral 4-H District Dairy Show winning the award of 4-H Grand Champion Holstein. And, at the 1982 Carlisle Fair, Rebecca was selected as one of two Experienced Dairy Showmen.

Winning the award of Outstanding First-Year 4-H Dairy member was Anita Cornman, daughter of Clarence Cornman Jr. Anita won this outstanding award with a score of 96.5 on her project books, and was selected one of the top junior fitters and top junior showman of last year. Anita also won the Junior Dairy Judging contest at the 1982 Shippensburg Fair. She maintained a record of outstanding attendance at club meetings throughout 1982.

Kenneth Davis, Farm Credit, presented Rebecca Dyarman an award for being named outstanding 4-H dairy member. Rebecca received the award at the annual Cumberland County 4-H Dairy Banquet.

Sharon Cornman, 4-H dairy leader, right, presented Tedd Hoch and Lori Davidson with their 4-H dairy achievement awards for excellence in the dairy program and 4-H in Cumberland County. The award was presented at the Annual Dairy Club Banquet.

Two club members, Jennifer Reasner and Karis Greene, received honorable mention first-year-member awards for their outstanding first-year work in the 4-H Dairy Club.

Jennifer Reasner is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Reasner. Jennifer had one of the top project book scores of first-year members, was one of the top 4-H members in the Inexperienced Showman Division and attended all the club meetings.

Karis Greene, daughter of Mr. Haydee Greene, also winning an honorable mention first-year member award had one of the top project scores, was selected as top Junior Inexperienced Showman of the 1982 Carlisle Fair, participated in the Pretty Calf Contest at the Carlisle Fair and maintained outstanding attendance.

Members Lori Davidson and Tedd Hoch received the Cumberland County 4-H Dairy Achievement Award for their excellence in the overall dairy program for filling out records, giving demonstrations, judging and overall participation in dairy club activities.

Lori is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Davidson. She is a nine-year member and in 1982 completed four dairy projects and maintained outstanding attendance. During her nine years, she has participated in the 4-H Dairy Round-up, Carlisle Fair, Shippensburg Fair and the District Show. Also, in 1982, she was a member of the State Winning 4-H Horticulture Team.

Tedd is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hoch. Tedd is a fifth-year member, and in 1982, completed two dairy projects with an average record score of 91. He is an active member in the dairy club, as well as the 4-H Tractor Club. In 1982, he had a hundred percent attendance record.

The banquet ended with the announcement of new officers for the 1983 Club year. The new Cumberland County 4-H Dairy Club officers are president, David Masland; vice president, Coleene McGillvray; secretary, Michelle Cornman; treasurer, Darlene Coover; news reporter, Melissa Masland and Christine Young; social chairman, Neil Stamy; and county council delegates, Michelle Cornman and John Stamy IV; alternate, Tony Hock.

Raymond Shoemaker, Eastern Milk Producers, presented awards to the outstanding first-year member and the honorable mention members. These award winners were, from left, Jennifer Reasner and Karis Greene, both honorable mention first-year members and Anita Cornman, the outstanding first-year member.

Computer to find plants

WASHINGTON, D.C. — A computer network now being developed will do for plant scientists worldwide what seed catalogs do for gardeners – help then find the plants they are looking for.

More than 600,000 different plants from all corners of the world will be catalogued in the new computer-assisted GRIN, short for Germplasm Resources Information Network.

As fast as computers can punch out the words, scientists will be able to find among thousands of plants the specific ones needed for research or for breeding programs to cope with agricultural problems like droughts, blights or other emergencies.

Terry B. Kinney, Jr., administrator of USDA's Agricultural Research Service, which will operate the network, said it will mean that scientists can sort out and identify plants faster than ever before.

"One of the payoffs will be that scientists can search through plant species for specific beneficial traits," Kinney said, "and then go to work to put into farmers' hands plants that resist disease and other dangers."

Kinney said the computer network is being completed by the Laboratory for Information Science in Agriculture, Fort Collins, Colo., to service the National Plant Germplasm System.

Within that system is the nation's storehouse of plant germplasm – the genetic raw material scientists need to develop new and better crop varieties that ensure a stable and plentiful supply of food and fiber.

Pork producers increase ads

DES MOINES, Ia. — The National Pork Producers Council has scheduled the largest, most sustained advertising and promotion program in its history to reach consumers and support packers and retailers. The campaign will continue the theme "America, you're leaning on Pork", emphasizing the lean aspects of new pork along with its nutritional content and relatively low calories and cholesterol levels.

Television, network radio and magazines advertising will be nearly doubled — all concentrated on the target audience of women 18 to 49.

On TV, there are three 4-week series of commercials in 15 key markets, plus 132 additional markets on cable. Three major radio networks — NBC, CBS and Mutual — are carrying a 43-week long schedule, and this is supplemented with spot buys in selected markets. In magazines, four-color ads are appearing in Family Circle, Sunset, Southern Living and Bon Appetit and, newspapers advertising will also be used in conjunction with targeted retail promotion events.

BRING YOUR FLOCK INTO THE '80's

Through modern computer technology coupled with nutritional knowledge we can help increase your egg production at the least cost with the BAM Feed and Management System from Wayne® Feeds. We'll help you gather the necessary information, including age of birds; average body weight, daily weight gain, production, and egg weight; and average temperature in your laying house. Based upon the information you supply, our computer will design a specific feeding program that meets your flock's nutritional requirements and optimum egg-producing needs while saving you money. And, based upon the generated information, you can take advantage of the BAM System's cash flow management benefits, such as market forecasting, sales scheduling, return on investment, and income projections. So why be decades behind in your operation? Ask us for more information on how BAM can make production more efficient and profitable. We're here for the '80's.

Brockett's Ag Advice

By John E. Brockett
Farm Management Agent
Lewistown Extension Office

The last part of our financial management clinics has been "Let's Take a Look at Some Solutions." Some people have been disappointed that we did not get down to specific cures. The unfortunate thing in a room of 30 to 50 people is there is no uniform cure. One person's problem will not be cured by another person's solution. So our program has been based around (1) keep and use records, (2) analyze your farm business then understand what the analysis says, (3) make sound decisions based on facts not guesses, (4) plan your moves on paper before going ahead, (5) use all of the management tools available, and (6) remember you are the only one who can solve your own problems.

Farm Analysis

I have been doing farm analyses on my computer whenever I can grab a little time. I have also been reviewing other analyses. Some of the results I have been seeing are quite interesting.

Let's take a look at some average figures then compare them to the best money makers. Some key points:

Crop Summary

Net Return per crop acre:

Average managers based on profits had a return of $20 to $50 per acre.

Top crop managers had a return of $80 to $110 per acre.

Dairy Summary

All farm cash expenses per cwt. of milk (expenses do not include interest):

Average managers had a figure just under $10 per cwt. of milk.

Top managers had a farm cash expense of $8 or less per cwt. of milk.

Dairy expenses per cwt. of milk (in my analysis dairy expenses include inventory changes, accounts payable changes, cash expenses, depreciation, interest, and a market change for home raised feed).

Average managers had a cost of $12 to $13 per cwt.

Top managers kept their cost below $11 per cwt.

Feed efficiency was measured as dairy returns per $100 worth of feed fed (including home raised feed):

Average managers had a feed efficiency of $170 to $180.

Top managers had a feed efficiency of $200 to $225 coupled with a milk sold figure in excess of 14,500 lbs. per cow.

Capital Summary

Percent of cash receipts to pay operating expenses (all cash expenses except interest plus changes in accounts payable):

Average managers use 55 to 60 percent of cash receipts to pay these expenses.

Top managers use 45 to 50 percent.

Net accrual profit per cow (accrual profit includes all income and all expenses both cash and non cash):

Average managers have a net farm income per cow of $275 to $400.

Top managers have a net farm income per cow of $700 to $1100 dollars.

In the next few columns, I am going to discuss why some farmers seem to be able to run a more profitable operation than others.

Pond symposium slated April 9

AVONDALE — A symposium entitled "Ponds of Southeastern Pennsylvania: Construction, Maintenance, and Biological Management" will be sponsored by the White Clay Watershed Association on Saturday, April 9, at the Stroud Water Research Center near Avondale, Pa.

The symposium will be held from 9 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. and will feature slide shows and lectures by Elbert Wells, Soil Conservation Service, "Design, Construction and Maintenance of Small Ponds"; Robert Hesser, Pa. Fish Commission, "Algae and Weed Problems in Ponds/State Permits for Chemical Treatment of Ponds"; Russel Maurer, Pa. Bureau of State Parks, Dept. of Environmental Resources, "Herbicide treatment of aquatic plants"; and Terry Rader, Penn State, Forest Resources Extension, "Fish Management in Ponds".

Following the symposium, interested participants can tour the Stroud Water Research Center, which is a stream and river ecology laboratory of the Academy of Natural Sciences of Philadelphia. Directions to the Stroud Center: Rt. 1 to the Toughkennamon exit, 1.5 miles north on Newark Road, turn left on Spencer Road and 0.7 miles to Stroud Center on right side of road.

N.J. Holstein breeders honor Teets

STANTON, N.J. — William Teets, Petticoat Lane, Clinton Township, N.J., was honored recently by his Holstein breeder associates as "Breeder of the Year." A plaque so inscribed was presented to him by Bernard Beatty, Bethlehem Township, president of the Central Jersey Holstein Association at its annual meeting at Stanton Grange Hall on March 10.

Teets was cited for his many contributions to the local organization, the state Holstein Association, and to youth in 4-H and F.F.A. activities.

Bill Teets owns and operates Backacres Farm and is noted for his herd of registered Holstein cattle.

The Holstein group also recognized Arthur and James Sutton, North Branch, for having the highest scoring herd in type in the Central Jersey area. Arthur received the plaque for Riveaire Holsteins.

Elected to the Holstein association's board of directors for three-year terms were Teets and Tim Wasser, Rosemont.

Meeting with the Holstein group was the Central Jersey Dairy Herd Improvement Assn. The two farmer organizations traditionally meet in a joint annual dinner meeting. The DHIA business meeting was conducted by William Teets, president.

High production herd for the 1982 testing year was Windy Crest, owned by Howard Sutton and Son, Fairmount. The herd's 35 registered Holsteins averaged 18,659 lbs. of milk and 704 lbs. fat. A trophy was awarded.

The N.J. Experiment Station herd, New Brunswick, was second high with 17,606 lbs. milk, and 672 lbs. fat. Third high was Douglass' Linden Farm, Pittstown, with 16,932 lbs. milk and 670 lbs. fat on 91 cows.

A plaque for highest increase in milk yield for five years went to Joseph Piskorowski, Lawrenceville. The herd increased from 13,421 to 17,137 lbs. milk from 1978 to 1982.

Certificates were awarded to owners of high lifetime producers. "Elaine," a grade Holstein owned by Charles Rogers and Family, Raritan Township, had compiled a record of 222,206 lbs. milk and 7,618 lbs. of fat over eleven lactations.

Elected to the DHIA board were Tim Wasser; Floyd Schwab, East Amwell; and George Alles, Flemington.

Speaker for the evening was James Lee, Stewartsville, historian for the Morris Canal Assn. His talk included many pictures, slides of early photographs of boats and activities on the Morris Canal.

Fruit guide available

UNIVERSTIY PARK — Do you have questions about how to maintain your orchard for healthy tree fruit production?

If you do, the 1983 Tree Fruit Production Handbook is your first source for the latest information. James W. Travis, Extension plant pathology specialist at Penn State, is the overall coordinator of the handbook, which has been written by specialists in entomology, pomology, agricultural engineering, and wildlife from the College of Agriculture.

The handbook which is priced at $5.00, is designed to give fruit growers, county Extension agents, consultants, and commercial interests current information on fruit culture, orchard nutrition, spraying, pesticides, storage of tree fruit crops as well as the control of weeds, insects, diseases, and mice.

The first section of the handbook deals with general information on tree fruit crop production and postharvest fruit disorder control. Part two describes pesticide characteristics and explains their application in the orchard. Part three gives tree fruit program suggestions and spray schedules by crop including apples, pears, peaches, nectarines, apricots, cherries, plums, and prunes.

To get your copy of the Handbook, contact your county Cooperative Extension Service office or write to the College of Agriculture, Department 6000, University Park, Pa. 16802. Send a check or money order for $5.00 payable to The Pennsylvania State University with your request.

With BROCK, you get more. More long-life features, more convenience features, more safety features, and BROCK offers more handy accessories that add ve[illegible]y to your new bin.

LONG-LIFE features like High-ris[illegible]ibs and adjustable roof stiffener rings to protect yo[illegible]estment (and your grain) years longer.

CONVENIENCE featur[illegible] exclusive Cam-Lock door that needs no tools t[illegible], giant fill hole and positive-control lid hinges.

SAFETY fe[illegible] like real ladder tubing on the roof, not just angle[illegible] bars, bolted to the ribs. This eliminates sharp edg[illegible].

ACCESSORIES like the BROCK WELL-GARD™ Discharge Guard for positive bin unloading.

WET LIME SPREADER

SAVE: Farmers in some areas can get lime as much as $16 per ton cheaper if they spread it themselves.

LESS HEADACHES: Spread it when you want it spread.

— 24" wide bottom } to keep stockpile lime
— 53° sloped sides } from bridging.
— Rugged construction
— 5 & 8 Ton tractor drawn models
— Also spreads fertilizer, poultry waste, etc.
— Truck mounted or tractor drawn

SPREADERS ARE OUR BUSINESS
(Not a sideline)
WE'VE BEEN IN THE SPREADER BUSINESS FOR 35 YEARS.

SOWER SPREADER

Why Waste Fertilizer With Today's Prices?

No need to fertilize the fence rows or spread it unevenly. With a Stoltzfus Sower Spreader you put it where you want it.

— Excellent for dry, free-flowing materials such as: dry lime, rock phosphate, fertilizer
— Extremely accurate

BEFORE YOU BUY A DISC HARROW
COMPARE A KRAUSE

Krause Rockflex Discs are unequalled in the field.

COMPARE

TIE RODS AND SPOOLS

Alloy steel tie rods are 1¾" in diameter on heavy duty units (1½" on medium duty). There's a nut on both ends for easy servicing. Krause spools are ductile iron and weigh 20-30 lbs. each. Precision machined with large diameter bells to fit snug against disc blade. SPOOLS ARE KRAUSE MADE.

COMPARE

FRAMES
Engineered of super strength steel tubing with cross braces and gussets at major stress points.

WING HINGES
Krause uses big 1¾" diameter bolts on HD units (1½" on medium duty) with over 10" of wear surface area.

COMPARE
PERFORMANCE: "ROCKFLEX" BEARING ARMS

Krause invented the Rockflex" arm in 1965. This C-shaped arm flexes over obstacles. It helps protect disc blades and spools from breakage.

We have over 400 rockflex discs in the fields of PA, MD, NJ and DE. These Krause owners continue to prove daily that the Krause disc levels and cuts better than any other disc they've ever owned.

New: John Deere extends hay/forage Pick-A-Team rebates up to $1,600 through April, 1984

Purchase the new hay or forage tool you need for 1983 now and you qualify for an immediate John Deere money bonus in the amount indicated below for your first purchase. On top of that, you'll get a certificate from John Deere that qualifies you for the total Pick-A-Team Bonus shown below when you take delivery on a specified companion John Deere hay or forage tool ordered by April 30, 1984. (One of your purchases, to qualify for the Double Bonus on both, must be a new John Deere mower/conditioner.)

There's more: finance one or both of your team with John Deere now, before the 1983 offer is discontinued, and finance charges will be waived until the 1983 season of use in this area.*

See us for details on this offer, and get our good deal on a John Deere hay or forage tool that will lower your costs even more!

TORQUE AMPLIFIER, CLUTCH & TRANSMISSION PARTS & SERVICE

Complete TA assemblies for 706-1586 are priced at $595 and come with a Dana Co Heavy Duty Sprag instead of the usual IH sprag. The Dana sprag is guaranteed for 2 years against failure. Sprag kits (includes sprag gear, Dana sprag, and piston carrier) and all items for rebuilding your own TA are available to qualified persons. Ramps and carriers for the older style TA's (as in SMTA, 340, 560) are priced at $150 each and carry a 90 day guarantee. We have all the parts needed to rebuild your TA in stock at prices that will save you money. We also have a shop available for complete TA installation. Or, you may split your own tractor and bring the center housing to us, which we can rebuild while you wait (approx. 4-6 hrs.). We also stock New and Rebuilt Water Pumps, Dynlife Clutches, Pressure Plates, and PTO Drive Gears, (Spline-fit into pressure plates) for most IH tractors and combines.

— INTRODUCTORY LISTING OF NEW ACCESSORIES —

Easy-Shift Trans-Brake Control - fits 06, 56, 66, 86 and 2+2 tractors. Eliminates grinding, eases hard shifting, reduces wear, and installs easily in approx. ½ hour. Will work on tractors with or without TA. Was priced at $289 plus shipping, now selling for $189 shipping included.
New 3 pt. Hitch assemblies - Now available for SMTA, 400, 450, 560, 544-656, 666, Hydro 70, 706-806, 1206, 56, 66, 86 & 2+2 tractors. Also available for cat. II & III models. Prices start at $450.
Drawbars - O.E.M. replacement. Fits 06, 56, 66 & 86 tractors. Standard - $125, Telescoping - $200. Center extension available for $85.
Top-Link Anchor Bracket - With oil fill & dipstick. Eliminates pouring oil through cab & platform. Available for cat II & III tractors. Priced at $82 and $70.
Front Weight Brackets - For IH suitcase weights, fits 06, 56, 66 & 86 tractors. 10 wt. capacity - $90, 12 wt. - $100, 16 wt. - $125, spacer blocks - $18.

— USED PARTS —

IH SUPER SAVING TIME

SAVE 20% on IH No. 1 engine oil and up to 50% on oil change costs!

PARTS VALUE OF THE MONTH

Want to cut your oil change costs by up to 50%? Then switch to IH No. 1 diesel engine oil the next time you change your oil. Here's how:

IH No. 1 diesel engine oil extends oil change intervals to 200 hours in most International tractor engines. That's because special extenders and fortifiers help IH No. 1 diesel engine oil maintain exceptional lubricating qualities under the most abusive operating conditions for a longer period of time.

IH No. 1 diesel engine oil is on sale now at up to 20% off the regular IH suggested list price so you can save even more. First quality protection at terrific savings.

Why wait? Save once by extending oil change intervals to 200 hours... save again by getting quality IH No. 1 engine oil at up to 20% off regular IH suggested list price!

Make every bite right.

Combine Ensilmixer® feed mixer, with scales, and a Jamesway® TMR system.

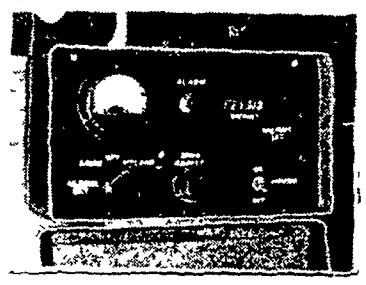
You can increase production. Reduce feed costs. And improve labor efficiency. All, when you use an Ensilmixer feed mixer, with scales, by Oswalt® to round out your Jamesway Total Mixed Ration (TMR) feeding system (including silage distributor-unloaders, conveyors and cattle feeders). Or, use it with any mechanized feeding system. Whether you prefer the stationary, trailer-mounted or truck-mounted model, it's a real profit-building management tool.

Unique mixing pattern blends feed thoroughly. Three augers move feed from front to back and side to side. Reverse flighting at both ends lets feed fall freely for recirculation or discharge by the bottom auger. Uniformly mixes even partial loads.

Precisely weighs ingredients. Accurate weighing means consistent, balanced rations; eliminates waste. Lets you calculate the amount of feed needed and mix that much. Weigh bar system is standard, electronic scales optional.



That's why the Ensilmixer feed mixer, with scales, and TMR feeding system are right for you as well as your cattle. And, can help make farming just a little bit better. Ask your Jamesway Power Choring dealer.

AG DAY MARCH 21, 1983

Millions of people are involved in the many steps and enterprises required to get food and fiber from our American farms to towns and cities across the nation. It's a chain of linked human cooperation. Each person contributes his or her expertise in the growing, processing, transporting and marketing until the final goal of feeding America is accomplished.

To honor this thought that "The food chain is a human chain," March 21 is set aside as Agriculture Day. One special day to recognize the links in this chain. Links that make this vital industry work so well for all of us every day. We invite you to join with us on March 21 as we say "Thank you" to the men and women who make American agriculture work so well.

Sealstor is a better buy top to bottom

Higher profile extra-capacity roof with space-saving breather system provides extra storage space for feed when filled to capacity

Continuous sweep unloader easily handles high moisture feeds

Consistent high volume unloading without the need for short arming

The Forage Distributor in the top of every forage unit helps assure a more even distribution of the feed resulting in up to 15% more product stored

The Sealstor ladder and cage are engineered for maximum security and safety

Heavy fin-necked bolts covered by a special nylon capped head help assure long life

GUNITE Silo Relining & Repairs

Extensive tests have been conducted on Gunite. Below are some of the properties of Gunite:

1. Excellent bonding
2. High Density
3. Extreme strength and hardness
4. High resistance to absorption

The excellent physical properties of the material are due to the water content being only the amount needed to satisfy chemical hydration.

Reseal and re-strengthen your silo with Gunite

The Tiller That's Really a Walk-Behind Tractor

BCS tillers do a lot more than till. Because the tiller unit can be replaced by a lot of other implements. Like the snow-blower. Or a lawn mower. Or a sickle-bar cutter. And it only takes a few minutes to make the change.

But you really have to see it to appreciate it. Come in and check out this mechanical masterpiece.

Ask to see the BCS in action. BCS

Platforms and Bulkheads

Ideal for lumberyards, contractors, utilities, oil field operations and fork lift applications involving heavy loading. The Omaha Standard platform is a full 96" wide and available in standard lengths from 12'6" to 26'6". Floor options include wood, steel or steel over wood. Heavy duty structural steel channel throughout, with 6" outrail and 4" cross sills. Stake pockets of 3/16" steel placed on 24" centers and sized to fit 2 x 4" stakes, with a steel banding rail welded to the outside of the stake pockets for securing the heaviest loads. Steel stake racks are also available.

The full clearance bulkhead is constructed with 4" channel stakes and 10 gauge steel and features a full width steel mesh window. Tackle the tough jobs, team up with Omaha Standard's Super Duty Platform and Bulkhead.

STARFIRE is a Starlite son with outstanding production and high dollar value. He comes from a family with four generations over 20,000 pounds milk as two year olds. Based on his linear evaluation, we would expect improvement in his PDT as more daughters are officially classified.

The Sire Power Programs are designed with your Herd's Profitability in mind. Our goal is to increase your income, by offering high predicted difference sires, reliably proven, at the lowest price possible.

The Top Holstein Milk Sires average +2023 P.D. Milk, .71% Repeatability, and +$218. They are all plus on type and the results of Sire Power's Young Sire Program, that utilizes random sampling in its design.

At Sire Power we know that a cow that lasts, is also as important as a cow that milks. We stress sound type, the dams of Sire Power sires are classified Very Good or Excellent, with special emphasis on snugly attached udders, and sound feet and legs. You can expect sound type from Sire Power.

9H625 Fivebrooks STARFIRE is an example of an outstanding production bull to graduate from the "GOLD" Young Sire Program at Sire Power.

The successful combination of an outstanding Young Sire Program and a progressive marketing program enables Sire Power to continue to provide a wide selection of genetically superior sires at reasonable prices.

Master Mix Multiphase™ concentrate.

The answer to today's efficiency questions.

Once again Master Mix® brings you the answer to the age-old question of how to boost the efficiency of the dairy cow.

Simple, flexible, and profit-making, the answer came just in time, because today more than ever you need a feeding program that squeezes more net profit from your cows...to cover operating expenses and pay yourself a good income.

Based on the concept of phase feeding, the program includes Master Mix Multiphase™ dairy concentrate and two Density Plus Nutrient Pacs — Silage Pac and Legume Pac.

This Master Mix Phase Feeding Program fits any type of operation. Use Multiphase as the foundation concentrate for the entire herd, then add the appropriate Density Plus Nutrient Pac when you need to boost the nutrient density of the grain ration.

Nothing could be simpler for phase feeding. Multiphase allows you to feed each cow for optimum production. This allows the cow to reach maximum milk production without the costly waste of overfeeding. That means more net profit from each cow every day of the year.

Master Mix

The Breakthrough People.

Phase 1

This is the early lactation period, lasting about 10 weeks. During this time, the cow usually cannot physically consume enough feed to support her peak production. Multiphase dairy concentrate and the appropriate Density Plus Nutrient Pac with the recommended levels of grain allows the cow to peak at the highest possible level. This is critical to profitability since each additional pound at peak equals 200 pounds over the course of the lactation.

Phase 2

During this phase, milk production begins to decline, feed intake peaks and the cow's body weight stabilizes. The cow is still producing at a high level and her nutritional needs remain high. Shorting her nutrient needs would cause her milk production to drop faster than the normal 10% per month. The appropriate Master Mix Density Plus Nutrient Pac along with Multiphase and grain will help maintain maximum milk production.

Phase 3

The cow continues her natural decline in production during the final 24 weeks of lactation. However, her appetite stays strong, and she can consume more feed than needed to maintain her lower production level. Feed cost can be cut by keeping feed intake in line with milk production. Density Plus Nutrient Pacs are not normally needed during this phase. Proper feeding during Phase III minimizes the amount of grain needed during the dry cow period.

Phase 4

Proper feeding during this eight week period reduces disorders such as overfat cows, off feed, displaced abomasum, calving difficulty, and retained placenta. For most cows, average or good quality roughage supplemented with the proper amount and balance of minerals is an adequate diet. Cows that are in poor body condition may need additional grain ration to build body reserves.

To prepare the dry cow for her next lactation, start feeding the milking ration two weeks before calving. Lead feeding allows the dry cow to adjust more easily to high levels of grain consumption at freshening. Do not exceed 1 percent of body weight before calving.

Eastern Lancaster County sweeps FFA poultry awards

York County's high team from Eastern with Bob Garland, Hubbard, includes, from the left, Glenn Burtner, James Hall and Peggy Kleindienst.

NEW HOLLAND — Eastern Lancaster County FFA'ers swept all of the top placings in the annual poultry judging competition held last Saturday.

Members of the Grassland FFA, Eastern Lancaster County, comprised the top three teams among Lancaster County participants, also made up the top team in the tri-county competition that included teams from York and Berks and placed seven of the top 10 individuals, including the top three.

Members of the first-place Grassland team were Kent Halsey, Nelson Horning and Mike Smoker, which was also the top tri-county team. Horning and Smoker were the top two scoring individuals, too.

The second-place Grassland team included Jim Weidman, Lisa Heft and Dave Fisher. The third-place Grassland team was made up of Wade Martin, Joan Feinour and Matt Seifrit.

The fourth-place Lancaster County team hailed from Cloister Chapter, Ephrata, and the fifth-place from Penn Manor. Also competing were contestants from Elizabethtown.

Individual placings behind Horning and Smoker in the top two spots included Jim Weidman, Grassland; Kent Halsey, Grassland; Greg Musser, Elizabethtown; Steve Fox, Ephrata; Wade Martin, Grassland; Matt Seifrit, Grassland; Dan Hartzler, Elizabethtown; and Dave Fisher, Grassland.

Among the Berks County competitors, Oley Valley had the top team and Twin Valley was second. Members of the top Oley Valley team were Courdlan Fisher, Kirk Fisher and Dean Willman.

Among the York County competitors the top team came from Eastern, including Glenn Burtner, James Hall and Peggy Kleindienst. Teams also took part from Dover and Red Lion.

Assisting with the judging were Jay Irwin, Lancaster County Extension Director; Jim Wolfe, of Wolfe Eggs; Bob Woodward, Pennfield; Hilma Mumma, of Longenecker's; Clay Mumma, DeKalb; Walt Mowrer, of the Lancaster County Poultry Association; Rick Meck, of Hy-Line; Bob Garland, of Hubbard; Shirley Fetters, of Wolfe Eggs; Eugene Hebert, USDA; Ralph Griffith, Weaver's Quality Eggs; Herb Jordan, Penn State; and Allan Tate, of Victor F. Weaver's.

A total of 48 FFA contestants from the three counties took part.

Extension offers manure program

UNIVERSITY PARK — Manure management and disposal to avoid environmental pollution has been one of the most difficult problems Pennsylvania's livestock industry has had to face.

Spiraling costs of manure storage facilities designed to eliminate daily spreading is making it more difficult for the family farm to stay in business. Most farmers are aware of the environmental pollution problems that improper manure management can create, but they need help in learning how to solve these problems, said Robert Graves, Extension agricultural engineer at Penn State.

With the adoption of uniform guidelines concerning manure management for environmental protection, Extension Service staff members are assisting farmers in developing a total waste management concept that will enable them to use their time and resources more efficiently.

County Extension agents and Penn State College of Agriculture specialists have been able to demonstrate that properly designed earth bank storages costing between $5,000 and $7,000 are just as satisfactory as concrete and steel structures priced at $20,000 and more.

"As a result, many farmers who could not afford the more expensive types are now building the less expensive structures," Graves noted. "This has made more capital available for other purposes, increase net farm income, and reduced some of the water pollution problems that were attributed to runoff from fields where the customary practice was to apply manure daily."

Although the true value of stored manure depends on many variables, farmers who follow Extension's recommendations experience a substantial savings in fertilizer costs.

A Washington County farmer who wanted to learn more about the value of stored manure asked Extension personnel to analyze the stored manure to determine nitrogen, phosphorus, and potassium content. He also had the cropland's soil tested to find out the fertilizer requirements for anticipated yields of certain crops. This farmer then applied manure on these fields at the rates necessary to satisfy the equivalent fertilizer requirements.

"His yield data show that stored manure retained a larger percentage of plant nutrients and that it was worth more in dollars than the manure spread every day," said Douglas Beegle, Penn State Extension agronomist.

This farmer's records indicated that the use of stored manure on 175 acres of corn and alfalfa saved him about $4,000 because he did not have to purchase an equivalent amount of plant food in commercial fertilizer.

The manure analysis pilot program, similar to the soil testing service, is designed to provide information farmers will use to develop and improve manure management programs.

It also enables farmers to calculate the amount of plant nutrients that is being applied with manure and how much supplemental fertilizer, based on soil test, will be required to produce a desired crop.

Hike seen in sow farrowings

DES MOINES, Ia. — Sow farrowings are expected to increase 4.7% in 1983, according to a survey released by the National Pork Producers Council.

The survey taken in late February was designed to determine farrowing intentions, anticipated increases in farrowing, and growth by type of operation.

(1) Farrowings can be anticipated to increase 4.7%.

(2) More than half of this 1983 growth can be traced to farrowing intentions of feeder pig producers.

(3) Among all types of operations, the major change will be seen in the number of sows farrowed. Two times in 1983 rather than only once as in 1982.

(4) The most dramatic increases in production (especially so for feeder pig operations) will be noted in sow herds of 100 or more that farrow two times in 1983.

(5) Decreases in 1983 production and farrowing are evident across the board among all pork producers with small herds.

(6) Production levels for 1983 in major pork producing states range from increases of 2.2% to 16.4%, to average a projected farrowing increase of 4.7%.

Farm toy auction

WILLOW STREET — Farm Toy Supply, a new wholesale distributor of farm toys manufactured by The Toy Farmer from Laumure, N.D. will sponsor a toy show specializing in farm toys.

This show will be made up of two types of activities. On April 8, at 7 p.m. there will be an auction in which quite a few older farm toys will put across public auction to local collectors. On April 9, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. there will be a show and sale.

This auction and show will be held at Willow Valley Farms Inn which is located just south of Lancaster on Route 222. The show will consist of a number of local collectors displaying their specialized collections, which will include John Deere, Farmall, Allis Chalmers, Case, and others.

Wilbur and Todd McMichael, who operate Farm Toy Supply, have enjoyed farm toy collecting for a number of years. Their collections include John Deere, Case and International. Special models that they enjoy are John Deere A, John Deere 430, many John Deere pieces of equipment, Case SD, Case-omatic, Black Night, Farmall M, Farmall 450 and International 1206. Toys in their collection include in excess of 200 tractors.

Big PIK signup is seen

MILWAUKEE, Wi. — Farmers were shifting toward even greater compliance with USDA's Payment-In-Kind (PIK) acreage reduction plan as the final hours before the March 11 sign-up deadline approached, according to the last of three electronic surveys conducted March 4-7 by AgriStar, an electronic business information and communications service for farmers, ranchers and agribusiness.

The results show more than 85 percent of the sample of large-acreage farmers are signing up for PIK acreage reductions — indicating a surprisingly large participation level.

Sixteen percent of the respondents to the final of three reports from the AgriStar survey sample said their participation level had changed in the past week — and all of the change was toward greater compliance. The changes included some farmers who were previously undecided, some who were increasing their level of participation and some who changed their minds from non-participation to compliance. Only 2 percent of the sample remained undecided in the final survey.

The USDA is scheduled to release PIK figures on Tuesday.

A spokesman for AgriDate Resources, Inc., the Milwaukee-based operator of AgriStar, said the weekly PIK survey was conducted through AgriStar's electronic mail system, StarGram, for three consecutive weeks.

In the initial AgriStar survey, 85 percent of the corn farmers said they would participate in acreage reduction programs, 10 percent said they would not, and 5 percent were undecided. Some 62 percent said they would participate at the full 50 percent level and 37 percent planned on entering whole base bids. Average corn base acreage of respondents was 551 compared to average Class 1A corn acreage of 372. Of the wheat farmers, 84 percent said they would participate in acreage reduction programs, 9 percent said they would not, and 4 percent were undecided. Some 38 percent said they would participate at the full 50 percent level and 38 percent planned on entering whole base bids. Average wheat base of respondents was 1110 as compared to average Class 1A wheat acreage of 437.

AgriStar results also show that nearly half of the farmers anticipate that PIK would reduce their production costs by 21 percent or more. About 20 percent said they would try to boost yields on the acres of wheat and corn they will plant this year. Of the respondents, 99 percent said PIK tax uncertainly had had no effect on their decisions.

Wolgemuth holds poultry meeting

Honored for their layer operation by Wolgemuth Bros. were Raymond and Peggy Frysinger, 320 Blantz Rd., Lititz; shown with Phil Nuss, service manager at right.

The Frysingers have 40,135 hens with a feed conversion of 3.36 lbs. per dozen eggs and 21.61 lbs. per 100 dozen eggs. Egg production per hen averaged 260 at an 86.3 percent livability.

Turkey production winners were among those honored at the annual Wolgemuth Bros., Inc. Florin Appreciation Poultry Meeting last week at the Harvest Drive Restaurant, Gordonville.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Stoltzfus' operation showed the best feed conversion for turkeys with 2.39 lbs. of feed per pound of weight gain; an average weight of 14.22 lbs. in 13 weeks and six days.

Mr. and Mrs. Gideon Stoltzfus' operation had the best rate of gain for turkeys with 14.83 lbs. of weight gained in 14.3 weeks at a conversion rate of 2.45 lbs. of feed per pound of gain.

Speakers at the Wolgemuth Bros. poultry meeting include, from the left, Mike Pretrosy, American Hoechst Corp., on the use of Bambermycins in Broiler and Turkey Feeds; Henry Correll, Ceva Laboratories, on the use of the Pesticide Larvicide, True Blue Grit; Noah Gehman, Master of Ceremonies, from Wolgemuth; Dr. Richard Boyd, Rocco Poultry Farms on solving chick and turkey starveout problems; and Bill Reed, sales manager for Wolgemuth. Dr. Roy Breister, of Nutrius, Inc., absent from the photo, spoke on the application of the cost of nutrition to egg production.

The Guy and Irene Wanner operation recorded a 98.5 percent livability rate with 76,000 Hy-Line.

THE BIGGER, TOUGHER SPREADERS.

Imagine spreading 10 tons of manure in a single trip! That's possible when you have the Avco New Idea Model 245 Spreader.

Built with a 375-bushel all-wood box, the 245 lets you make far fewer trips to the field. And the 244 is nearly as big, with 8.5 tons or 325 bushels. The 243, a 250-bushel spreader, is available with either a single or tandem axle. All have the same lifetime warranty on wood and full-year warranty on parts and workmanship as the rest of the Avco New Idea spreader line.

The big ones are available only from Avco New Idea. Stop in and see us for all the facts today.

Penn Nutrients cites LEB advantages

ROBESONIA – Penn Nutrients Inc., of Robesonia, has a suggestion for dairymen seeking to improve the milk production efficiency of their herds.

The suggestion is the supplementary feeding of LEB, Liquid Energy Blend, which includes vegetable oils, including hydrolyzed vegetable oils, fatty acids, lecithin and extracts of micro-protein, according to Penn Nutrients.

LEB, which has been on the market since 1976, is used by more than 200 dairymen in Maryland and Pennsylvania, Chuck Garrett, Penn Nutrients president, said.

One such dairyman is Bob Meredith, of Federalsburg, Md., whose herd has an average of 21,400 lbs. of milk and 853 lbs. of butterfat. Sixty-eight registered Holstein are in his milking choice.

He feeds corn silage and first-cutting alfalfa free choice.

"I prefer feeding first-cutting hay to the milkers because it has a higher ration of stems to leaves," he said.

"The extra-fiber is why the butterfat is so high."

Twice a day at milking the cows receive a 17-percent protein ration geared to production levels. Meredith top dresses the ration with three to four ounces of LEB at each milking. The higher producers receive the higher amounts. He does not feed LEB to cows producing below 55 lbs. of milk.

"This product really works," Meredith said. "I am getting 5 to 10 lbs. more milk production per cow using LEB. What's more the cows love it. They lick it up fast."

Garrett, of Penn Nutrients, explains that "there is no magic to this high energy product."

"Research on the use of various types of fats in dairy rations has been going on at the university level for years. Basically, this product enables the cow to take in more energy which she can utilize to produce more milk. If you try to increase energy intake by just increasing the corn in a cow's diet, you will have all kinds of problems including ketosis," said Garrett.

Ketosis is the reason Meredith started using LEB. His cows came down with Ketosis and the milk production dropped 40 to 50 lbs. per cow.

"I was willing to try anything," Meredith said, "so I bought LEB through Nagel Farm Supply. At first, the cows didn't seem to want to eat it. But once they tried it, they loved it. In a short time my herd had a 95 percent recovery from Ketosis." Garrett, of Penn Nutrients emphasizes that just feeling LEB will not insure success. LEB will not appreciably increase butterfat enough to maintain an existing percentage even though the milk increases. Total butterfat produced may go right up along with the increased milk production or it may not.

"The key is that the intake of fiber in the cow' diets has to be sufficient for insuring a good butterfat increase," he said. "That's why we offer, through out dealers or for those farmers who buy directly from us, advise on their feeding program so both butterfat and milk production increase. I would not suggest a dairyman feeding any high energy product such as LEB without consulting first with the manaufacturer."

D.L. Palmquist, of the Ohio Agricultural Research and Development Center in Wooster, has made studies using various high energy blends of fats and has found good results. His studies have demonstrated hydrolyzed fats consistently have given the best results. Unlike the hydrolyzed fats, tallow fed at high levels depressed milk production. Hydrolyzed fats continued to increase milk production. Likewise, his studies revealed that the high energy fats allowed some removal of starch from the diet without losing digestible energy intake. The fats replaced it. This in turn helps to reduce some of the detrimental effects associated with high starch (corn) intake. Feeding too much fat is not advised.

MORE FOR LESS.

The Storage System for the future. Here Now!

THE AG-BAG SYSTEM

MORE FEED. MORE STORAGE. MORE HIGH QUALITY TDN & PROTEIN.

Select from three models of AG-BAG Machines. Motorized, Hydraulic, and Gear-Driven. AG-BAG lets you match the machine to your job. Big or small. Whether you're DAIRY or BEEF AG-BAG will store More For Less. The AG-BAG System. Air-tight storage with more versatility than any other system. Just look at these AG-BAG ADVANTAGES:

1. UNLIMITED oxygen-limiting storage
2. Storage for ALL forages & grain
3. Transportable
4. Easy to use and little maintenance
5. NO dangerous silo gases
6. Silo fires WON'T occur
7. Higher moisture forage
8. NO unloader to break down
9. Extra income and potential from custom bagging
10. THE Forage System for the 80's

JUST LISTEN TO WHAT THESE AG-BAG BELIEVERS HAVE TO SAY:

Kenneth Popham of Floresville, Texas

Kenneth runs a 465 cow Dairy and said this about AG-BAG: "At today's interest rates you can't afford any other type of storage... Even with the yearly cost of bags it's still inexpensive storage... a whole lot cheaper than building barns and hiring help. I put up 13 bags last year and after seeing the results, I'll put up 25 bags this year. The bags are a good thing."

Don Carter of Parkdale, Oregon

"The best move I ever made"... says Don Carter in reference to his switch to bagging silage on his dairy near Parkdale, Oregon.

"I get 18% more feed from the same acreage and the feed lasts three times as long. I used to clean my bunks after three days, now I only need to clean them after 10 days."

Roland Rasmussen of Blair, Nebraska

"In addition to everything else, it's a management tool"... says rancher, Roland Rasmussen of Blair, Nebraska.

Roland farms 350 acres west of Blair, Nebraska, and fattens about 650 cattle from 600 lbs. to finish.

"By labeling every bag as to date and kind of feed, I can mix my feeds and eliminate the guess work in making a ration. I feed alfalfa silage, corn silage and ground ear corn stored exclusively in the bags, purchasing only my minerals and vitamin supplements."

"The AG-BAG system has enabled me to increase carrying capacity per acre at a reduced cost of gain."

Bert Anderson of Sceptre, Saskatchewan

"At least 30% more feed... I can guarantee at least that"... says rancher, Bert Anderson, of Sceptre, Saskatchewan.

"I've been able to cut my grain feeding costs in half since converting to the bagging. It's just like feeding grass. I've also eliminated the need for a liquid supplement that we always fed before going to the AG-BAG System..."

| HERE'S WHAT THE AG-BAG SYSTEM CAN DO FOR YOU | |
|---|---|
| 1 BAG | 150 TONS |
| 6 BAGS | 900 TONS |
| 12 BAGS | 1,800 TONS |
| 24 BAGS | 3,600 TONS |

PIK acres will need weed control

UNIVERSITY PARK — Farmers who participate in the government's Payment in Kind (PIK) program this season will be inclined to idle their less productive acres.

When making that decision, Nathan Hartwig, Extension weed control specialist at Penn State, says farmers can "improve their longterm profitability by diverting those areas most severely infested with problem perennial weeds.

"Several grassy weeds offer potential for reduction on diverted acres," says Dr. Hartwig. "These would include quackgrass, wirestem muhly, shattercane and johnsongrass. Broadleaf weeds that should be worked on include horsenettle, hemp dogbane, common milkweed and Canada thistle, which is on our noxious weed list."

Control weeds

Under PIK rules, a grower must control weeds on his idled acres. The rules state: "A farm operator shall, in a timely manner, use needed control measures for erosion, insects, weeds and rodents on the conservation use acreage." Failure to do so can result in a reduction or complete loss of program benefits. What are the control options? There are really only two: mechanical or chemical.

Mechanical weed control could include clipping or tillage. Clipping does not kill weeds but can prevent them from setting seed and increasing future weed control problems. In the case of perennial weeds, clipping will not control growth of underground rootstock.

Tillage poses a number of problems. First, it's expensive in terms of equipment, fuel and labor.

Second, it often compounds the problems by spreading the perennial's reproductive root systems and by turning up annual weed seeds so they can germinate.

Third, it enhances the opportunity for wind and water erosion, which must be controlled to comply with PIK regulations. A cover crop, which is required to protect the soil from erosion unless a farmer requests and receives ASCS permission to leave the ground as stubble from the previous crop, will not usually provide adequate supression of weed growth. Tillage as a means of weed control only serves to destroy the soil conservation benefits of the cover crop or stubble.

Chemical control

It should be a farmer's goal to keep expenses to a minimum on PIK-idled acres, according to the university weed control specialist. Complying with the erosion and weed control requirements of the program. will incur some costs, so examine each expense carefuly. While there's no return on tillage costs, an investment in chemical weed control can pay dividends for several years to come.

By diverting acres with severe weed problems and making a small investment in the sound herbicide program, growers can bring the weeds under control so the land can be returned to maximum production in future years. And since the land is idle, farmers have maximum flexibility in both herbicide choice and applicatin timing.

Plan program

While the treatment season is still months away, a grower needs to plan now to set aside those fields, or portions of fields, with

Ag Week TV special to be aired

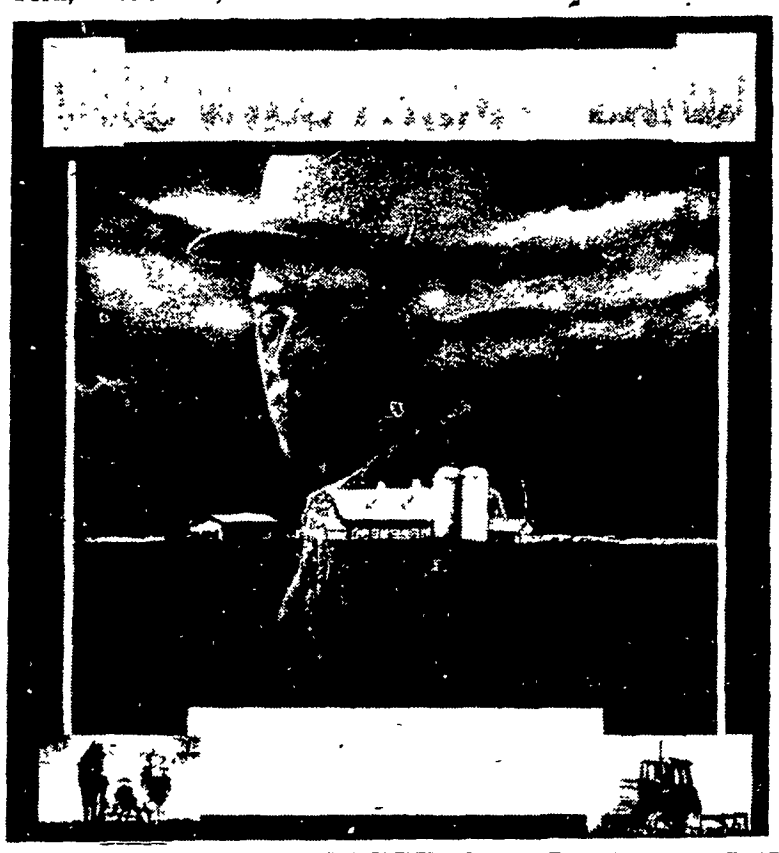
AG LAND, USA — "Who Will Farm The Land?", the National Agriculture Week television special, can be seen in Pennsylvania on:

Channel 15, WLYH - Harrisburg, York, Lancaster, Lebanon - tomorrow at noon.

Channel 10, WTAJ - Johnstown, Altoona - Monday at 7:30 p.m.

Channel 22 WPTT - Pittsburgh - Monday at 10 p.m.

Channel 28, WBRE - Wilkes Barre - Scranton - tomorrow at 5 p.m.



This special television presentation analyzes the current agricultural situation and examines the difficulties facing young people who want to farm.

This is the second year an Agriculture Week television special has been broadcast, presented by Elanco Products Company. Besides Elanco's Treflan and Surflan herbicides, it is co-sponsored by The American Bankers Association, Ford Motor Corporation (trucks) and Ford Tractor, FMC Corporation, Stauffer Chemical Company, Dekalb-Pfizer Genetics and Lava soap.

In addition to being seen in this area, "Who Will Farm The Land?" will air on about 140 other commercial television stations in 32 states.

The idea behind "Who Will Farm The Land?" was inspired by farmers themselves. After Elanco's first television special, "Prosperity In The Balance", aired for Agriculture Day 1982, research groups of some 50 farmers and spouses from across the country were interviewed.

"Prosperity In The Balance" met with an enthusiastic response; farmers said they wanted more agricultural programming, and suggested that for 1983 the program focus on the difficult times facing agriculture to show consumers what farming is "really like". The focus was narrowed to the difficulties facing young people whose dream it is to farm.

Three young farmers with interesting (and sometimes unusual) stories tell how they got started: Ken Smith, 31, Hartley, Ia.; Greg Krush, 21, Kershey, Colo.; and George Clemmer, 21, Mosheim, Tn. Krush and Clemmer were awarded the "star farmer" designation for their respective regions at the 1982 national FFA convention in Kansas City.

Expert insight into the question "Who Will Farm The Land?" is provided by: Alan Tubbs, president, First Central State Bank, DeWitt, Ia.; Hiram Drache, agricultural historian, author and professor at Concordia College, Moorhead, Mn. and Earl Ainsworth, managing editor, Farm Journal.

Besides relating to the deep-seated feelings about agriculture on the part of these dedicated young farmers, farm people are also likely to find themselves nodding in agreement during the program segment in which the experts comment on the tremendous value American consumers receive for their food dollar.

"We're proud to produce a television special for National Agriculture Week again this year," says Robert M. Book, group vice president, Elanco Products Company. "It's important to focus national attention on agriculture and build public support of our industry."

"Growers have a number of options for controlling these weeds on diverted acres, including many herbicide choices. But cost may be a deciding factor in some cases.

"We're recommending a program which we feel will do a good job of reducing weed populations, and is very cost effective," says Hartwig. "It involves using sudangrass or a sorghum-sudan hybrid as a 'smother crop'. A farmer should spray with Banvel or Banvel and 2,4-D in the spring to be sure the cover crop gets off to a good start.

"The sudan or sorghum-sudan needs to be drilled in. Then it should be mowed off when it reaches three to four feet tall — before it goes to seed. It'll need to be mowed off a second time in the fall to prevent seed set. The weeds won't grow through, so they'll be set back considerably.

"The cover can be plowed down or used as a no-till mulch next season," suggests Hartwig. If a grower has no perennial weeds, he suggests seeding hairy vetch or red clover.

We're proud of the way these winners did in the National Corn Growers Association Yield Contest. Congratulations.

Lampeter-Strasburg FFA honors top members

REFTON — Mike Mills and Don Welk were at the forefront of the award winners from Garden Spot FFA of Lampeter-Strasburg High School honored at the chapter's annual banquet on Thursday, March 10, at the Refton Fire Hall.

Mills was named Star Greenhand and the Star Chapter Farmer honors went to Don Welk, who was last year's Star Greenhand.

Other chapter members receiving the Greenhand Degree were Karen Shertzer, Mark Heiser, Steve Erb, Drew Herr, Dennis Guessford, John Shultz, Bob Sheafer, Albert Howe, Doug Rohrer, Mike Rohrer and Dwight Leaman.

Others receiving Chapter Farmer Degrees were Scott Winters, Dallas Metz, Joe Fisher, Carl Landis, Jim Evans, Michelle Dean, Connie Weaver and Barry Harnish.

In addition, Darrell Mills was honored for receiving his Keystone Farmer Degree and Red Rose Degree recipients honored were Jay Garber, Randy Houser and Joe Rohrer.

Chorus pins were presented to Michelle Dean and Connie Weaver and Don Welk was honored for his first-place records book in county competition, which received a ninth in state competition.

Freshman citrus sales awards went to Mike Mills, first; and Drew Herr, second. Among upperclassmen, Don Welk was first and Jay Garber was second.

West Lampeter Fair judging awards went to Mark Heiser and Karen Shertzer, dairy; and Darrel Mills, livestock.

An Honorary Chapter Award was presented to Joe Koehler, metal shop instructor and coach for the chapter's basketball team.

Speaking at the banquet was Mike Pflieger, County FFA Reporter, who has served for the past year as the youth representative on the Lancaster County Agricultural Preserve Board.

A slide show of the past year's activities of the chapter was presented by Donna Frey, last year's sweetheart and chapter vice president.

Chapter Sweetheart of 1983 for FFA'ers at Lampeter-Strasburg High is Donna Rohrer.

Solanco FFA honors 'stars,' other award winners

By Melissa Hess

QUARRYVILLE — State FFA President Michael Dillard spoke at Solanco's annual FFA Banquet and Awards Program on Thursday, March 10, attended by 270 members, parents and guests. Highlighting the program were the four star chapter member awards, Foundation awards and corn production awards.

Star Keystone Farmer Award went to Chapter president Ken Miller, Jr. The award is sponsored by Lancaster Bone Fertilizer, Inc. of Quarryville. Among other awards, Ken received the Ross H. Rohrer & Son Dairy Award. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Miller, R1 Christiana, and also serves as County sentinel.

Keystone Degrees were presented to Steve Aument, Craig Ewaka, Ken Scott, Jim Strawser, and Brian Trimble.

Star Red Rose Farmer is Jamie Frey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernie Frey, R2 Quarryville. In previous years, Jamie has been Solanco Star Greenhand and Star Chapter Farmer and presently serves as Chapter secretary. Her FFA projects include greenhouse production, steer and corn.

Also honored with Red Rose Degrees were Bruce Cantey, Thomas Guhl, William Rhine, Frank Towner and Mark Welk.

Kris Esbenshade was named Star Chapter Farmer. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Esbenshade, R2 Quarryville. Her projects include dairy calves and steer and she serves as Chapter reporter. Chapter degrees went ot 17 second-year members who completed the degree requirements.

Star Greenhand for 1982-83 was James Shank, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Shank Jr., R4 Quarryville. He was the high fruit salesman in the freshman class. The Greenhand Degree went to 37 first-year members.

Douglas Hershberger was honored for receiving a 1982 American Farmer Degree. He formerly served as State FFA president. His brother Dan received the degree in 1981. They are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hershberger, R4 Quarryville. In the past five years, six Solanco FFA members have received the national American Farmer Degree.

Michael Dillard, State FFA president, addresses Solanco FFA'ers at banquet.

Doug Hershberger, past state president and Solanco FFA member, left, receives plaque for attaining American Degree from Mike Pfautz, Cloister Chapter, State Eastern Regional Vice President.

Foundation awards were presented to Steve Phipps, Agricultural Mechanics; Thomas Herr, Beef Production; Kris Esbenshade, Dairy Production; Fritz Frey, Livestock Production; Ken Miller, Public Speaking and Crop Production; Frank Towner, Soil and Water Management; and Michelle Zink, Swine Production.

Honorary Chapter Farmer Degree was presented to James Kiscaden, principal of Solanco High School, for his dedication to the FFA program.

Other awards presented at the banquet were: Steve Aument, Lancaster County Bankers Award; Dale Milburn, Henry Wenger Life Insurance Award; Jim Strawser, Farm Women No. 20 Award; Ken Miller, Powl's Feed Service Corn Silage Award; A.L. Herr & Bros., Inc. Corn Grain Awards: 1st - Brian Trimble, 2nd - Ken Miller, and 3rd - Fritz Frey.

Awards were presented by Solanco FFA advisors; Ronald Althoff, Ms. MeeCee Baker, and Mark Wilde.

Deutz announces tractors, hay tools in spring line

ATLANTA, Ga. — Five new tractors and three new hay tools — including mid-hp tractors with state-of-the-art cabs and a high-capacity rectangular baler — are being introduced this spring to the North American farm equipment market by the Agricultural Equipment Division of Deutz Corporation, Atlanta, Ga.

The expanded line of Deutz-Fahr tractors and haymaking equipment is being previewed to Deutz-Fahr dealers at regional meetings at Plant City, Fl., Columbus, Ohio, and Dubuque, Iowa in March and Regina, Sask., Canada in April.

Frank J. Kaplan, vice president-marketing for the Agricultural Equipment Division, says the introductions emphasize Deutz Corporation's commitment to bring more and more of the world-wide Deutz-Fahr farm equipment line to farmers throughout an ever-growing North American market territory.

The Deutz-Fahr line now includes 12 models of tractors from 43 to 140 pto hp; 12 mowers, rakes and tedders; a baler and a new orchard rake, Kaplan says. All tractors are available with 2-wheel or mechanically powered all-wheel drive and are powered by direct aircooled diesel engines.

The new tractor models include the Deutz-Fahr D 6507C (60 pto hp), D 7007C (68 pto hp), and D 7807C (73 pto hp). Each "07C" model features state-of-the-art cab in which cab and tractor are designed as an integral unit.

In addition, new 60- and 68-pto hp non-cab models — the Deutz-Fahr D 6507 and D 7007 — are being introduced at this time. All five new tractor models are available with 2-wheel drive or mechanically powered all-wheel drive and all are powered by high-torque, 4-cylinder, naturally-aspirated engines.

New hay machine introductions include a 10-ft. Rotary Haymaker for use with Cat. I or II three-point hitches, and a Universal Haymaker that functions as both rotary rake and tedder.

The Deutz-Fahr HD 460 Baler is a twine-tie baler that produces 14 x 18-inch rectangular bales; bale length can be varied from 12 to 51 inches. Its plunger operates on 10 sealed roller bearings at 100 strokes a minute.

The Deutz-Fahr rotary orchard rake clears an 8-ft. swath of cuttings and prunings up to 5 inches in diameter in groves and orchards while operating at speeds of 1½ to 3 mph. Kaplan says the machine will clear in an hour as much as five men with hand rakes can clear in a day.

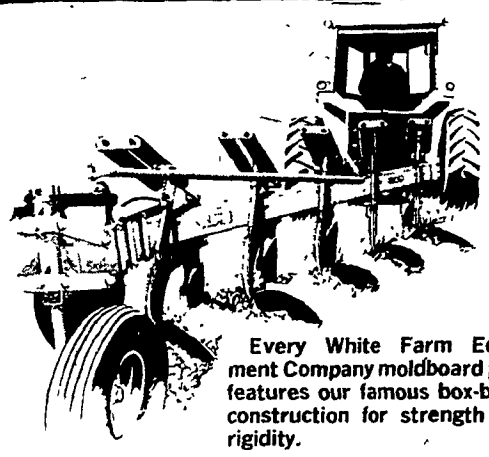
WHITE FARM EQUIPMENT

EYE OPENING DISCOUNTS for SPRINGTIME BUYERS



Every White Farm Equipment Company moldboard plow features our famous box-beam construction for strength and rigidity.

A great job of plowing starts with a great plow.

If you really take pride in plowing, stop into our dealership and see the full line of innovative plows from White Farm Equipment Company.

Strength for better plowing. Every White Farm moldboard plow starts with an extra-big box-beam main frame for more working weight and toughness. In fact, every component is designed with an extra measure of toughness.

A tradition of quality. Every plow bottom we build is polished by hand to insure faster scouring in the field. Every style is designed to work well in a variety of soil conditions. Our 125 year history of building plows demands this kind of care.

Choose from 10 models. There's a White Farm moldboard plow for you, whether pull-type, mounted, semi-mounted or flex-back. Ten models in all. From one bottom to twelve. So come on in and see our full line. You'll be glad you did.

Let us show you the difference in disks

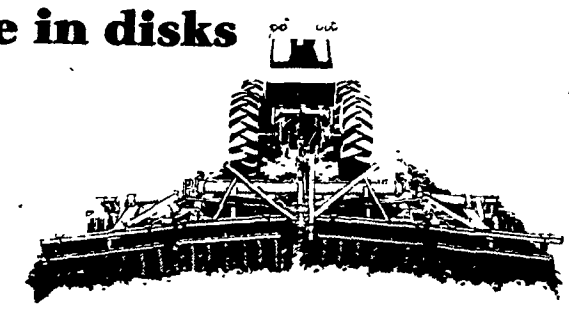
There's a big difference in disks. And if you've never taken the time to really study what makes one disk more productive than the next, drop into our dealership and let us point out a few facts using models from White Farm Equipment Company.

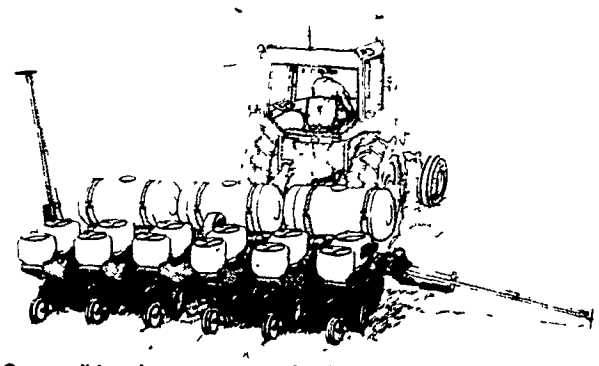
More weight means better disking. Not a revolutionary thought, but there are ways to spot built-in working weight without putting the implement on a scale. One example is massive box beams of high carbon steel used in all of our disks. More steel means more than durability and rigidity. It adds weight to keep disks in the ground.

Models for every need. Whatever type of disk you need, we've got a model for you. From our massive 281 Offset to the 270 series flex-wing tandem, to the 250 series semi-flexible frame, to the 264 rigid disk. Each offers specific features and attachments to make tillage easier and faster.

Come in and let us show you the difference in disks. And the difference in White Farm Equipment.



One hefty difference in disks is built-in working weight. You can see it in the massive main frame box beams of this 271 disk.



Our walking beam gauge wheels and refined air meter can provide the accuracy you demand. In conventional, minimum or no-till seedbeds — in almost any conceivable row crop.

If you can find a better planter, we'd like to see it.

There's a planter sitting on our lot right now that many farmers across the country — and right here in this county — believe to be the most accurate planter on the market today. The 5100 Seed Boss® planter from White Farm Equipment Company.

Accurate seed depth, even spacing. This planter uses our innovative walking beam dual gauge wheel system to put seeds consistently at the depth you select — even in rough ground or varying soil types. And that's especially important in today's reduced tillage seedbeds. Plus its gentle seed metering provides accurate seed spacing and population, not only in corn but also in other row-crops like soybeans, milo and cotton.

It doesn't cost anything to look. Drop by our dealership in the next few days and take a look at the Seed Boss. We'll point out its advantages. Answer any questions you have. If you're thinking about a new planter, you owe it to yourself to see the Seed Boss.

Pa. cow is No. 3 million in ABS program

DE FOREST, Wisc. — American Breeders Service recently processed its three millionth mating sire recommendation.

Kishvalle Supreme Arla, bred and owned by Irvin H. Fleming and sons, John and Fred, of Belleville, has the distinction of being the three millionth cow evaluated under the ABS Genetic Mating Service (GMS) Program.

Arla was evaluated for GMS by Paul Bauder. His scoring indicated that she has a long, well attached fore udder, strong center support, a wide rump, and above average stature. This information, along with Bauder's scoring for other traits, such as angularity and rear udder width, which need improvement, was fed into the computer back at ABS headquarters. The computer stores facts as to the breeding patterns of former and current ABS bulls. First choice for Arla's mating sire is 29 H3815 Milkmaster, with 29 H4000 Columbus, second choice.

Arla, a result of GMS mating herself, is officially classified Very Good by the Holstein Association.

She is sired by 29 H2465 Grand Supreme and has a production record of 22,134 lbs. of milk, testing 3.4% butterfat as a five-year-old. Arla has also produced a daughter for the Fleming herd. She too, is the result of a GMS mating and is sired by 29 H2669 Standout Star. Alys made 20,530M and 647BF when freshening at 3 years and 2 months of age. GMS recommendations will mate her to 29 H2960 Sexation, with 29 H3195 VIC as a second choice.

ABS' Genetic Mating Service has expanded rapidly since its start in 1968. To the point where over ½ million matings are made each year.

Says Irvin Fleming, "We think a breeding program like GMS helps us correct for weaknesses and helps the herd overall. We can tell by looking at our cattle... and financially, that they have improved over their dams". Currently, the Flemings have 107 cows on test - the majority of which are Registered.

With Arla, the three millionth cow under the GMS program of ABS, are from the left, Bill Flick, ABS district sales manager; Glenn Barr, ABS representative; Irving Fleming, of Belleville; and GMS evaluator Paul Bauder.

Farm Credit gives 1982 annual report

BALTIMORE, Md. — The Farm Credit Banks of Baltimore released its 1982 annual report today, showing modest growth over the past year and a low level of delinquencies and foreclosures.

Comprised of the Federal Land Bank (FLB), the Federal Intermediate Credit Bank (FICB), and the Bank for Cooperatives (BC), the Baltimore Banks had over $3 billion in outstanding loan value in 1982. The Banks provide credit services to farmers and agricultural cooperatives in the states of Delaware, Maryland, Pennsylvania, Virginia and West Virginia, and in the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico. Over 76,000 loans were serviced by the Banks in 1982.

At the end of 1982, the FLB had $2.2 billion in outstanding loans, an 8 percent increase over 1981. The FICB, with $751 million in loan volume, experienced only 1.1 percent growth over 1981, and the BC, with a loan volume of $152.1 million in 1982, had a substantial paydown in loans.

While low commodity prices, high interest rates, and rising production costs combined to create a year of adversity for farmers served by the Baltimore Banks, the rate of delinquencies and foreclosure sales remained low.

Agriculture in the Baltimore District is highly diversified and intense, specializing in commodities that generate higher cash receipts than U.S. agriculture as a whole. That fact, coupled with the Banks' policy of working with credit-worthy borrowers, has helped to hold delinquencies and foreclosures to their low level.

At the end, the FLB's affiliated Federal Land Bank Associations (FLBAs) delinquency rate was 5.5 percent of the total number of loans outstanding, compared to 4.9 percent in 1981.

The FICB's affiliated Production Credit Associations (PCAs) showed a decline in delinquencies during the last quarter of 1982 from the same period in 1981, from 4.9 percent of total loan numbers to 4.7 percent. Foreclosure sales for 1982 involved 52 FLB loans and 33 PCA loans. The FLB and FLBAs experienced $83,000 in losses in 1982, while the PCAs experienced $1,600,000 in loan losses.

WESTFALIA

FOR PROGRESS IN MILKING TECHNOLOGY

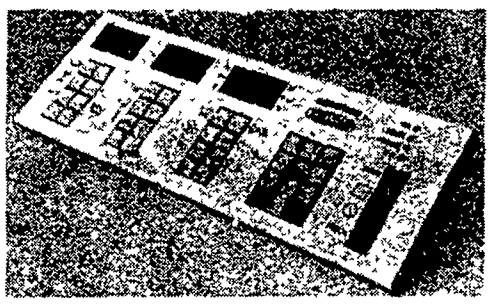
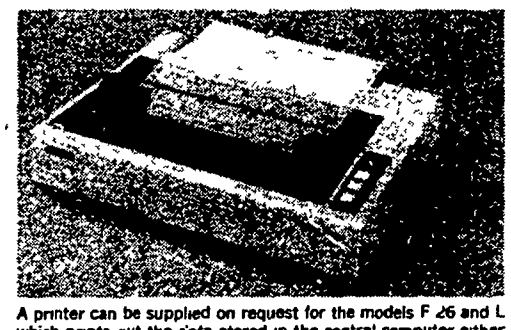
CODATRON— The Westfalia Feeding & Control System For All Dairy Herds



- Individual dispensing of concentrate feed in the slatted unit
- Choice of one or two types of feed
- Maximum ration limit at all intervals
- Savings in concentrate feed
- Higher milk yields
- Time-saving feeding
- Higher butterfat content in the milk
- Better physical condition of the cows
- Cow calendar
- Future milk metering with Westfalia Metatron (will be DHIA & public health approved)



A printer can be supplied on request for the models F 26 and L which prints out the data stored in the central computer either automatically or on request. The printer is a useful extension to the cow calendar and is practically indispensable for herd management. Uses standard 8½"x11" computerized paper - not an adding machine type paper.

MODEL L

- CODATRON feed program with 24-hour cycle (24 intervals)
- Input and readout of feed amounts in lbs.
- Maximum amount limit in each interval
- Simple checking of problem cows (more than 9% residual feed)
- Stored data preserved in the event of power failure
- Optional automatic or manual start of the feeding program
- Feeding program extensible to max. 560 cows
- Connections for up to 16 automatic feeders
- Printer connection
- Choice of one or two types of feed
- Additional reading of
  - contents of silo tank
  - daily consumption
  - daily consumption per feeding box (for all types of feed)
- A percental increase or reduction of the daily feed ration can be implemented for the whole herd (changes in the quality of the feed).
- Model L also includes Cow Calendar
  - input of calving date
  - heat date input
  - breeding date
  - determination of lactation stage
  - input of date of dry time
  - start of concentrate feeding before calving
- The control panel already has the functions for milking parlour operation (storage of the various data for each cow).

VISOTRON

A foolproof modern method of doing an old-fashioned job in stanchion barns.

Through constant upgrading and evaluation, Westfalia has developed the new Visotron Automatic Milker Control.

Westfalia ACR Detacher

Save Up To 50% In Man Hours
MORE FROM YOUR COWS
MORE FROM YOUR TIME
MORE FROM YOUR MONEY

Why settle for less when you can have the original?

- Precise automatic flow monitoring.
- New memory strip time.
- Positive vacuum shut-off.
- Gentle, delayed removal.
- Full flow non-plug design.
- Installs in any dairy.
- Operation is simple.

The satisfaction that comes from doing a good job of farming

Liming is one of the most important factors in keeping your soil in the highest productive range. By raising the pH from a level below 6.0 to 6 5 or higher, you can expect to harvest as much as 5 more bushels of corn per acre, with similar increases for all other forage and cash crops.

NEW! GEHL®

Full flotation - full conditioning

7'3" and 9'3" Cutting Widths

Now you can quickly change standing hay crops to conditioned, fast-drying windrows with the new 2130 and 2160 mower conditioners from Gehl

Choose from 7'3" or 9'3" cutting widths. Both machines feature full-width, non-intermeshing conditioning rolls to crack the crop stem, speeding drying while minimizing valuable leaf loss.

Improved header flotation provides ground-hugging cut control, quick response to changes in ground contours.

The 4-bat reel features adjustable speed and tine angle to sweep the crop into the conditioning rolls. Two additional bats are available. A single chain drive, with simplified drive, runs the conditioning rolls and the reel with fewer parts to service, reduced maintenance costs.

Quick adjust windrow shields can be moved by hand (2160 only). And because your crop isn't over-conditioned; windrows stand tall for free air movement. Or you can change to quick-drying swaths.

They're the first step in your haymaking operation -- new 2130 and 2160 mower conditioners from Gehl!

Weis honors growers

LEWISBURG — At a dinner meeting at the Country Cupboard Restaurant in Lewisburg, more than 100 Pennsylvania fruit and vegetable growers were honored by Weis Markets. The annual Grower-Distributor meeting is held to give recognition to the growers and show appreciation for the efforts and contributions they have made in furthering agriculture.

George Michalak, Vice President for Weis Markets, was joined by Pennsylvania officials and legislators in reviewing the efforts in agriculture during the past year. Michalak stated that the grower, distributor and consumer are all links in a chain that is symbolic of the food distribution system, a system that is the most sophisticated and efficient in the world.

Secretary of Agriculture Penrose Hallowell told the growers that, although he and his department are actively working to increase export of Pennsylvania farm fresh products, currently there exists greater potential for marketing local agricultural products within the Commonwealth. Hallowell presented a Commendation to Sigfried Weis, President of Weis Markets, for the chain's involvement and support of local agriculture.

Weis Markets commitment to agriculture in Pennsylania was pioneered by Sigfried Weis in an effort to benefit the local farming community and to provide Weis Markets customers with the freshest produce possible.

Other featured speakers included State Sen. Edward Helfrick, chairman of the Senate Agriculture and Rural Affairs Committee, and House Reps. Joseph Grieco, Merle Phillips, and John Showers, all members of the House Agriculture and Rural Affairs Committee.

Michalak concluded the meeting by discussing the "Continuing Challenge of the 80's" and was optimistic for local agriculture in 1983. The positive economic signs, but more importantly the continuing aggressive promotion of agriculture at all levels and the striving for excellence in quality of goods marketed, would provide for the continuance of agriculture as the Keystone of Pennsylvania's economy.

Farmers should explore Toxaphene alternatives

COLLEGE PARK, Md. — Despite a 1982 federal order banning its manufacture for sale in the United States, toxaphene will still be available to Mid-Atlantic area farmers during 1983 for its traditional labeled ues as a cheap, effective pesticide to control surface insects in no-till corn and army worm in small grain fields.

The Environmental Protection Agency has further ruled that toxaphene may continue to be available for emergency use in notill cornfields after 1986. But a University of Maryland Extension entomologist doubts that there will be any available through regular marketing channels after 1984.

J. Lee Hellman, Extension field crop insects specialist at the College Park campus, suggests that farmers start experimenting this year with alternatives to toxaphene--the last of the chlorinated hydrocarbons, which have now almost entirely been banned for general use. Predecessors on this list included DDT, chlordane and kepone.

Like its chemical cousins, toxaphene was the cheapest and most effective pesticide available for a particular purpose, and it had a long residual. But the residual effect caused it to be a hazard to wildlife and the environment in general. There was also an accumulation of scientific data indicating that toxaphene might cause health problems for humans.

Adjusting to the alternatives available for toxaphene may prove to be a good thing for everyone in the long-run--farmers and environmentalists alike, Hellman noted.

Since the costs of some alternative pesticides are much higher (up to $140 and $160 per gallon), farmers will have to learn to apply the new materials much more sparingly than in the past. They should also consider participation in a field scouting program which will tell them when to spray--or if they really need to spray at all.

Good alternatives to toxaphene can be found in three broad groups of agrichemicals, Hellman said. These are the organophosphate and carbamate compounds--including malathion, Sevin and diazinon--and a whole new group of synthetic pyrethrins which are very safe for the user.

In addition to being only slightly toxic for humans, the new synthetic pyrethrins are very effective against a number of insect pests. Pound for pound, they are 8-10 times more effective than some of the older insecticides, Hellman commented. And even more effective pyrethrins are on the way.

In preparation for the post-1983 era, Hellman recommends that farmers try some Pydrin or Lorsban to control cutworms in no-till corn. Application technique will be different, however, than it was for toxaphene.

For armyworm control in small grains, there is now whole list of alternative agrichemicals which may be used in the same way as toxaphene; i.e., application by aerial spraying.

After 1983, the only non-restricted allowable use for toxaphene applicable to Mid-Atlantic area farmers will be for controlling mange, a mite infestation on the skin of sheep and cattle. The only unrestricted crop use will be for growers of pineapples and bananas.

Any emergency use in no-till cornfields after 1986 would require special authorization from state departments of agriculture and the Environmental Protection Agency.

"THE PIG OF TOMORROW is at OUR PLACE TODAY"

31 years of planned breeding program
31 years of leadership in the swine industry
31 years of winners - SHOW RING - CARCASS - TEST STATION
It is not what we say - It is what the record of proof says.

THE PA SWINE TEST STATION IS 16 YEARS OLD.

OUR 16 years of TESTING at this station in competition with other breeders were good ones.
OUR pigs hold the all-time record for Ham-Loin % for pen average.
OUR pigs hold the all-time record for Loin-Eye Area for pen average.
OUR pigs hold the all-time record for Length of pig.
OUR pigs hold the all-time record for Most Superior Sires Tested.
OUR pigs hold the all-time record for the Most High Indexing Tested boar winners.
OUR records prove more pounds of gain from less feed per day.

THESE RECORDS ARE THE PROOF THAT WE PROFIT ON THE COST END AND ON THE SALES END (DOUBLE PROFIT)
THIS ALL SAYS:

ALTERNATIVES:

Soybean Meal and Corn with a vitamin/mineral premix

Many dairymen have switched from this ration. They've seen that it can't deliver all that their cows require for maximum milk production. Here's why:

Low Energy Limits Production

Look at the low energy level. Like the weakest link in a chain, a cow will perform up to the most limiting nutrient. With this ration, it's energy. The higher levels of proteins, vitamins and minerals can go to waste.

Soybean meal and corn

Some dairymen have gone to this ration. Many think they're saving money. Others want a high-energy ration. But watchout! Don't fall into this nutrient balance trap.

Low Levels of Vitamins and Minerals Limit Production

While a soybean meal and corn ration may provide additional energy, the limiting factor to production is inadequate vitamin and mineral levels.

Of course, a cow might produce more in the first few months of her first lactation on this type of ration. Trouble is, she's using up her vital body stores to provide needed vitamins and minerals. As those stores are used up, milk production will drop below normally expected levels. Health problems might develop. And, most important, she'll likely produce less during her next lactation.

Competitive Concentrate

COMPARE YOUR BOTTOM LINE....!

Purina High Octane® Cow Chow 36

Top milk production, lactation after lactation, depends on a balanced high-energy ration. Purina High Octane 36 delivers that high-energy without sacrificing the essential balance of vitamins and minerals.

Balanced, high-nutrient levels for maximum milk production

Purina research has found a way to provide high energy levels without sacrificing other essential nutrients.

It comes from an in-depth knowledge of what your cows need. And tough quality control standards that demand top-quality ingredients.

As an added bonus, your cows develop and keep good body condition. You should see fewer health problems. And, strong cows keep milking at top potential year after year.
